

United States District Court,
D. Maryland.

YUYAMA MFG. CO., LTD,
Plaintiff.

v.

JVM CO., LTD,
Defendant.

Jan. 8, 2009.

Torsten M. Kracht, Michael A. O. Shea, Hunton and Williams LLP, Washington, DC, John D. Simmons, Panitch Schwarze Belisario & Nadel LLP, Philadelphia, PA, for Plaintiff.

Thomas O. Toole, Baroody and O Toole, Baltimore, MD, David Sean Poole, Poole and Shaffery LLP, Chong Hyun Roh, Howard L. Hoffenberg, James W. Ahn, John K. Park, Katherine Lien, Katherine Louise Quigley, Mark Leon Sutton, Michael N. Cohen, Michele Cobin Friedlander, Los Angeles, CA, for Defendant.

SECOND REVISED CLAIM CONSTRUCTION ORDER

MARVIN J. GARBIS, District Judge.

Pursuant to the Memorandum And Order Re: Patent Claim Construction [Document 81] as modified by the Memorandum and Order Re: Reconsideration of Claim Construction issued herewith; the Court concludes the following with regard to the construction of the claim terms at issue in the instant case:

1. The term "pockets" is construed to mean "regions capable of retaining tablets."
2. The term "partitions the pockets" is construed to mean "divides the pocket into partitions."
3. The term "upper and lower two divisions" is construed to mean "one region above and another region below the partitioning member."
4. The term "elastic bristles" is construed to mean "stiff structures resembling coarse natural hair that are capable of returning to their original shape after bending."
5. The term "formed into a comb shape" is construed to mean "formed into the shape of a comb although not necessarily formed into what is literally a comb."

SO ORDERED, on Monday, January 7, 2008.

D.Md.,2009.

Yuyama Mfg. Co., Ltd. v. JVM Co., Ltd.

Produced by Sans Paper, LLC.