Internet Gambling: A Sketch of Legislative Proposals (With Appendix)

Background

The Senate passed the Internet Gambling Prohibition Act of 1998 (Senator Kyl) (S.Amdt. 3266) as an amendment to its Commerce, Justice, State appropriations bill (S.2260), 144 Cong.Rec. S8801-803 (daily ed. July 23, 1998)(text). Representative Stearns introduced the House companion, H.R. 4350 a week later. Representative McCollum, chair of the House Crime Subcommittee, offered a third measure (H.R. 4427) for himself and the sponsors of an earlier House proposal, Representatives Goodlatte and LoBiondo. Discussion here is limited to these three bills.¹

The legality and regulation of gambling is first and foremost a matter of state law that varies considerably from state to state. The role of federal law has been to guard against unwelcome intrusions of interstate or international gambling into states where the activity in question has been outlawed.

¹ Both Houses have held hearings this Congress on bills that outlaw Internet gambling, Internet Crimes Affecting Consumers: Hearing Before the Subcomm. on Technology, Terrorism and Government Information of the Senate Comm. on the Judiciary on S. 474, 105th Cong., 1st Sess. (1997)(Senate Hearing I); The Internet Gambling Act of 1997: Hearing Before the Subcomm. on Technology, Terrorism and Government Information of the Senate Comm. on the Judiciary on S. 474, 105th Cong., 1st Sess. (1997)(Senate Hearing II); Hearings of the Subcommittee on Crime of the House Committee on the Judiciary on H.R. 2380 (House Hearing) were held during the first week of February this year and have yet to be printed. H.R. 2380 was introduced by Representative Goodlatte for himself and Representative LoBiondo; S. 474 was introduced by Senator Kyl for himself and Senators Feinstein, Graham, Hutchinson, Grassley, Johnson, Lieberman, Gorton, Bryan, Reid, Ashcroft, and Bond; and reported out of committee without a written report. Amend. 3266 evolved from S. 474 and during debate was referred to as S. 474, although the amendment passed by the Senate is clearly distinct.

Several other bills have been introduced that in one way or another impact Internet gambling, e.g., H.R. 325 (to amend the Internal Revenue Code to provide that the unrelated business income tax shall apply to the gaming activities of Indian tribes); H.R. 334 (to amend the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act to require an individual participating in class II or class III Indian gambling be physically present at the authorized gaming activity, inter alia); S. 972 (to amend the Internal Revenue Code to prohibit any deduction for gambling losses); S. 1077 (to require those Indian gaming establishments not bound by the reporting requirements of a financial institution to adhere to 26 U.S.C. 6050I, an anti-money laundering provision which imposes reporting demands for transactions involving substantial amounts of cash).

For background information on existing law see, Internet Gambling: Overview of Federal Criminal Law, CRS REP. No. 97-619A (Feb. 2, 1998).

During congressional hearings witnesses argue that unregulated Internet gambling threatens the effectiveness of this approach.² Some contend that it fosters consumer fraud,³ gambling addiction,⁴ corruption of our young,⁵ and affords a possible avenue for money laundering.⁶ They urge that Internet service providers be used as an avenue of regulatory enforcement,⁷ that the Department of Justice be encouraged to prosecute more vigorously,⁸ and/or that every effort be made to secure international cooperation for enforcement.⁹

Others expressed reservations that adjustments in the Wire Act designed to confront the problem of Internet gambling might inadvertently unravel the existing protection and accommodating complexities of the Act¹⁰ and that locking up recreational gamblers would be ill-advised and unproductive.¹¹ They also suggested that Internet gambling should be regulated rather than outlawed¹² and that Congress should await the report and recommendations of the National Gambling Impact Study Commission.¹³

² Senate Hearing II at 1 (opening statement of Sen. Kyl); 8 (Wis. Att’y Gen. James E. Doyle); House Hearing (jt. statement of Reps. Goodlatte & LoBiondo).

S. 2260/H.R. 4350

S. 2260 (H.R. 4276 after substituting the language of S. 2260) as passed by the Senate and H.R. 4350 as introduced in the House:

- expressly outlaw Internet gambling even if lawful under applicable state law (violations are punishable by imprisonment for not more than 3 months and/or a fine of not more than the greater of 3 times the amount risked or $500)(18 U.S.C. 1085)
- expressly outlaw engaging in the Internet gambling business even if lawful under applicable state law (violations are punishable by imprisonment for not more than 4 years and/or a fine of not more than the greater of the amount risked or $20,000)(18 U.S.C. 1085)
- exempt from the Internet gambling prohibitions private computer network gambling involving state lotteries, racing or parimutuels or conducted entirely on Indian land (other than proxy betting) (18 U.S.C. 1085)
- amend the Wire Act (18 U.S.C. 1081) by adding a definition of "bets or wagers" (staking or risking something of value upon the outcome of a contest of others, sporting event of others, or of any game of chance) that would apply to both Internet gambling and other gambling by wire proscriptions of the Wire Act (this assumes that the term "bet or wager" used in the Internet gambling section (18 U.S.C. 1085) is intended to be include within the term "bets or wagers")

H.R. 4427

H.R. 4427, as introduced:

- amends the Wire Act's definition of communications facilities to include not only wire and cable transmissions but also radio, electromagnetic, photo-optical, photoelectric transmissions and receipts; establishes clear better liability
- increases the penalties for violations of the Wire Act and includes customers of gambling businesses (for gambling entrepreneurs, maximums of 4 years imprisonment (up from 2 years)/$250,000 for individuals, $500,000 for organizations; for bettors, 6 months/$5,000) (not previously prosecutable)
- exempts from Wire Act coverage (to the extent betting or wagering is lawful under applicable state law) transmission of information assisting placement of bets, or of parimutuel conducted by interactive computer service
- adds a definition of "bets or wagers" to the Wire Act that seems to exclude gambling decided other than predominantly by chance (e.g., gambles on contests or events decided by skill, strength, speed, size, training, experience, etc. are not bets or wagers)

- amend the Wire Act (18 U.S.C. 1081) by adding a definition of “information assisting in the placing of a bet or wager” (information intended to be used by one in the gambling business to place or accept a bet or wager) that would apply to both Internet gambling and the other gambling by wire proscriptions of the Wire Act
 - adds a relatively narrow definition of “information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers” to the Wire Act (includes necessary information but not information that is merely useful; includes information transmitted from the gambler to the bettor but not information transmitted to the gambler from a bettor or some third party)
 - expands the duty of communications common carriers to discontinue service being used for illegal gambling purposes; establishes procedures to enable federal and state officials to enforce provisions through court orders and other forms of injunctive relief
- provide federal and state officials access to federal injunctive relief for Internet gambling violations (under 18 U.S.C. 1085); establish special procedures when injunctive relief is sought against Internet service providers

CIVIL REMEDIES

(1) IN GENERAL.—

The district courts of the United States shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to prevent and restrain violations of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, by issuing appropriate orders.

(2) PROCEEDINGS.—

(A) INSTITUTION BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.—The United States may institute proceedings under this section. Upon application of the United States, the district court may enter a temporary restraining order or an injunction against any person to prevent a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, if the court determines, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing, that there is a substantial probability that such violation has occurred or will occur.

(B) INSTITUTION BY STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subclause (ii), the attorney general of a State (or other appropriate State official) in which a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, is alleged to have occurred, or may occur, after providing written notice to the United States, may institute proceedings under this subsection. Upon application of the attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of the affected State, the district court may enter a temporary restraining order or an injunction against any person to prevent a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, if the court determines, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing, that there is a substantial probability that such violation has occurred or will occur.

(ii) INDIAN LANDS.—With respect to a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, that is alleged to have occurred, or may occur, on Indian lands (as defined in section 4 of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (25 U.S.C. 2703)), the enforcement authority under clause (i) shall be limited to the remedies under the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (25 U.S.C. 2701 et seq.), including any applicable

Tribal-State compact negotiated under section 11 of that Act (25 U.S.C. 2710).

(C) ORDERS AND INJUNCTIONS AGAINST INTERNET SERVICE PROVIDERS.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A) or (B), the following rules shall apply in any proceeding instituted under this paragraph in which application is made for a temporary restraining order or an injunction against an interactive computer service:

(i) SCOPE OF RELIEF:

(I) If the violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, originates with a customer of the interactive computer service's system or network, the court may require the service to terminate the specified account or accounts of the customer, or of any readily identifiable successor in interest, who is using such service to place, receive or otherwise make a bet or wager, engage in a gambling business, or to initiate a transmission that violates such section 1085.

(II) Any other relief ordered by the court shall be technically feasible for the system or network in question under current conditions, reasonably effective in preventing a violation of section 1085, of title 18, United States Code, and shall not unreasonably interfere with access to lawful material at other online locations.

(III) No relief shall issue under clause (i)(II) if the interactive computer service demonstrates, after an opportunity to appear at a hearing, that such relief is not economically reasonable for the system or network in question under current conditions.

(ii) CONSIDERATIONS.—In the case of an application for relief under clause (i)(II), the court shall consider, in addition to all other factors that the court shall consider in the exercise of its equitable discretion, whether—

(I) such relief either singularly or in combination with such other injunctions issued against the same service under this paragraph, would seriously burden the operation of the service's system or network compared with other comparably effective means of preventing violations of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code;

(II) in the case of an application for a temporary restraining order or an injunction to prevent a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, by a gambling business (as is defined in such section 1085) located outside the United States, the relief is more burdensome to the service than taking comparably effective steps to block access to specific, identified sites used by the gambling business located outside the United States; and

(III) in the case of an application for a temporary restraining order or an injunction to prevent a violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, relating to material or activity located within the United States, whether less burdensome, but comparably effective means are available to block access by a customer of the service's system or network to information or activity that violates such section 1085.

(iii) FINDINGS.—In any order issued by the court under this paragraph, the court shall set forth the reasons for its issuance, shall be specific in its terms, and shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the complaint or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained and the general steps to be taken to comply with the order.

(D) EXPIRATION.—Any temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction entered pursuant to this paragraph shall expire if, and as soon as, the United States, or the attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of the State, as applicable, notifies the court that issued the injunction that the United States or the State, as applicable, will not seek a permanent injunction.

(3) EXPEDITED PROCEEDINGS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In addition to proceedings under paragraph (2), a district court may enter a temporary restraining order against a person alleged to be in violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, upon application of the United States under paragraph (2)(A), or the attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of an affected State under paragraph (2)(B), without notice and the opportunity for a hearing, if the United States or the State, as applicable, demonstrates that there is probable cause to believe that the transmission at issue violates section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section.

(B) EXPIRATION.—A temporary restraining order entered under this paragraph shall expire on the earlier of—

(i) the expiration of the 30-day period beginning on the date on which the order is entered; or

(ii) the date on which a preliminary injunction is granted or denied.

(C) HEARINGS.—A hearing requested concerning an order entered under this paragraph shall be held at the earliest practicable time.

(4) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—

In the absence of fraud or bad faith, no interactive computer service (as defined in section 1085(a) of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section) shall be liable for any damages, penalty, or forfeiture, civil or criminal, for a reasonable course of action taken to comply with a court order issued under paragraph (2) or (3) of this subsection.

(5) PROTECTION OF PRIVACY.—

Nothing in this section or the amendments made by this section shall be construed to authorize an affirmative obligation on an interactive computer service—

(A) to monitor use of its service; or

(B) except as required by an order of a court, to access, remove or disable access to material where such material reveals conduct prohibited by this section and the amendments made by this section.

(6) NO EFFECT ON OTHER REMEDIES.—

Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to affect any remedy under section 1084 or 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as amended by this section, or under any other Federal or State law. The availability of relief under this subsection shall not depend on, or be affected by, the initiation or resolution of any action under section 1084 or 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as amended by this section, or under any other Federal or State law.

(7) CONTINUOUS JURISDICTION.—

The court shall have continuous jurisdiction under this subsection to enforce section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section.

(e) REPORT ON ENFORCEMENT.—

Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Attorney General shall submit a report to Congress that includes—

(1) an analysis of the problems, if any, associated with enforcing section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section;

(2) recommendations for the best use of the resources of the Department of Justice to enforce that section; and

(3) an estimate of the amount of activity and money being used to gamble on the Internet.

(f) REPORT ON COSTS.—

Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall submit a report to Congress that includes—

(1) an analysis of existing and potential methods or technologies for filtering or screening transmissions in violation of section 1085 of title 18, United States Code, as added by this section, that originate outside of the territorial boundaries of any State or the United States;

(2) a review of the effect, if any, on interactive computer services of any court ordered temporary restraining orders or injunctions imposed on those services under this section;

Whoever being engaged in the business of betting or wagering knowingly uses a wire communication facility for the transmission in interstate or foreign commerce of bets or wagers or information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers on any sporting event or contest, or for the transmission of a wire communication which entitles the recipient to receive money or credit as a result of bets or wagers, or for information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than two years, or both.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the transmission in interstate or foreign commerce of information for use in news reporting of sporting events or contests, or for the transmission of information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers on a sporting event or contest from a State or foreign country where betting on that sporting event or contest is legal into a State or foreign country in which such betting is legal.

(b) EXCEPTIONS-

(1) NEWS REPORTING; LEGAL BETS AND WAGERS- Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the transmission or receipt in interstate or foreign commerce of—

(D) advertising, promotion, or other communication by, or authorized by, anyone licensed to operate a gambling business in a State.

(2) INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICE- Subsection (a) does not impose liability on an interactive computer service provider whose facilities or services are used by another person to engage in activity prohibited by that subsection—

(A) arising out of the provider's provision of communications services, if—

(i) the communication was initiated by or at the direction of a person other than the provider;

(ii) the transmission, receipt, routing, or providing of connection is carried out through an automatic process without selection of the communicated information by the provider; and

(iii) the provider does not select the recipients of the information, except as an automatic response; or

(3) STATE LAW- Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt any State law.

Nothing contained in this section shall create immunity from criminal prosecution under any laws of any State.

When any common carrier, subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, is notified in writing by a Federal, State, or local law enforcement agency, acting within its jurisdiction, that any facility furnished by it is being used or will be used for the purpose of transmitting or receiving gambling information in interstate or foreign commerce in violation of Federal, State or local law, it shall discontinue or refuse, the leasing, furnishing, or maintaining of such facility, after reasonable notice to the subscriber, but no damages, penalty or forfeiture, civil or criminal, shall be found against any common carrier for any act done in compliance with any notice received from a law enforcement agency. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prejudice the right of any person affected thereby to secure an appropriate determination, as otherwise provided by law, in a Federal court or in a State or local tribunal or agency, that such facility should not be discontinued or removed, or should be restored.

(c) DUTIES OF COMMON CARRIERS AND INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICE PROVIDERS—

(1) NOTICE TO COMMON CARRIERS- If any common carrier, subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, is notified in writing by a Federal, State, or local law enforcement agency, acting within its jurisdiction, that any facility furnished by it is being used or will be used for the purpose of transmitting or receiving gambling information in interstate or foreign commerce in violation of Federal, State, or local law, it shall discontinue or refuse, the leasing, furnishing, or maintaining of such facility, after reasonable notice to the subscriber, but no damages, penalty or forfeiture, civil or criminal, shall be found against any common carrier for any act done in compliance with any notice received from a law enforcement agency.

(2) NOTICE TO INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICE PROVIDERS- If any interactive computer service provider is notified by a Federal, State, or local law enforcement agency, acting within its jurisdiction, through receipt of written or electronic notice that a particular online site residing on the provider's system or network is being used or will be used for the purpose of engaging in the business of betting or wagering or for displaying information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers in interstate or foreign commerce in violation of Federal, State, or local law, the provider shall cease or refuse providing access to the material or information that allegedly violates this section residing at that online site, but no civil or criminal liability shall be found against any interactive computer service provider for any act done in compliance with any notice received from a law enforcement agency. Such notice shall identify the business or information that allegedly violates this section, and must—

(A) be supplied to a service provider's agent if one is designated under this section and information regarding such designation is readily available to the public; and

(B) provide information reasonably sufficient to permit the provider to locate such material or information.

(3) INJUNCTIVE RELIEF- Except as provided in paragraph (4), any State or local law enforcement agency acting within its jurisdiction, may, following the issuance of a notice under this subsection, in a civil action, obtain an injunction or other appropriate relief preventing the use of the common carrier or interactive computer service provider for the purpose of transmitting or receiving gambling information in interstate or foreign commerce in violation of State or local law.

(4) LIMITATION ON INJUNCTIVE RELIEF AGAINST AN INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICE PROVIDER- In the case of any application for an injunction against an interactive computer service provider to prevent a violation by another person of this section—

(A) arising out of the provider's transmitting, routing, or providing connections for an activity or information that is prohibited by this section, or performing the intermediate and transient storage of such material or activity in the course of such transmitting, routing, or providing connections, the injunctive relief is limited to—

(i) an order restraining the provider from providing access to an identified subscriber of the interactive computer service provider's system or network, who is using that access to violate this section by terminating the specified accounts of such subscriber; and

(ii) an order restraining the provider from providing access, by taking reasonable steps specified in the order to block access to a specific, identified, foreign online location.

(B) with respect to conduct other than that which qualifies for the limitation on remedies set forth in subparagraph (A), the injunctive relief is limited to—

(i) an order restraining the provider from providing access to information or material that violates this section residing at a particular online site on the provider's system or network;

(ii) an order restraining the provider from providing access to a subscriber of the interactive computer service's system or network, who is identified in the order and who is using such service to engage in a gambling business or to initiate a transmission that violates this section by terminating the specified accounts of such subscriber; or

(iii) such other injunctive remedies as the court considers necessary to prevent or restrain specified activity or information that is prohibited by this section at a particular online location that are the least burdensome to the provider that are comparably effective for that purpose.

(C) CONSIDERATIONS- The court, in determining appropriate injunctive relief, shall consider—

(i) whether such an injunction, either alone or in combination with other such injunctions issued against the same provider, would significantly burden either the provider or the operation of the provider's system or network;

(ii) the magnitude of the harm likely to be realized by law enforcement if the injunction is not granted;

(iii) whether implementation of such an injunction would be technically feasible and effective, and would not interfere with access to lawful material at other online locations;

(iv) whether other less burdensome and comparably effective means of preventing or restraining access to the illegal activity are available; and

(v) the magnitude of the harm likely to be suffered by the community through the accessibility of illegal activity.

(D) NOTICE AND EX PARTE ORDERS- Injunctive relief under this subsection shall not be available without notice to the service provider and an opportunity for such provider to appear before the court, except for orders ensuring the preservation of evidence or other orders having no material adverse effect on the operation of the service provider's communications network.

(d) DEFINITIONS.- As used in this section, the term "State" means a State of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a commonwealth, territory or possession of the United States.
