

shall file a bill against only one of you.' I do not think any court could complain of a patentee for taking the course I am suggesting" (f).

Where machines have been manufactured or articles made in infringement of patent rights, an injunction will be granted to prevent their use or sale even after the patent has expired (g).

The injunction falls with the expiration of the patent (h).

After trial and judgment, and upon application for a perpetual injunction, when the nature of the infringing matter will permit of it, an order will be made that the articles (machinery or otherwise) be delivered up to the plaintiff or destroyed (i). This was done in Plimpton v. Malcolmson (supra), the reference to this cause is M.R., 28th Jan., 1876, B. 381. An inquiry will, when necessary, be directed as to the articles manufactured which are in the defendant's possession, and that they be destroyed, Betts v. De Vitre, V.-C. W., 1865, A. 119. The defendant will also be ordered to make discovery upon oath of the articles or machinery which he may have in his possession, and which infringe the plaintiff's patent, so that they may be delivered up and destroyed; this was done in Tangye v. Scott, V.-C. W., 12th Feb., 1866, B. 461. The right of property in the articles which infringe the patent remain in the infringer, although the Court may order the articles to be destroyed (j).

These mandatory orders are never made except after trial, and when the plaintiff has fully established to the satisfaction of the Court the validity of his patent and the fact of the defendant's infringement.

DAMAGES.

In addition to an injunction, the defendant may be entitled, when there has been actual infringement as distinguished from an intention to infringe, to either damages or an account of sales and profits.

He is not entitled to both damages and an account, but he must elect which he will take (k). An account of sales and profits amounts to a condonation of the infringement (l).

The measure of damage is the loss which the plaintiff has actually sustained, irrespective of the costs of the action. The question of damages is not synonymous with an account of profits, the basis of calculation being entirely different. In calculating damages, the Court will not take into account any manufacturer's profit which the plaintiff might have made (m). But it is submitted that consideration should be had where the patentee is the manufacturer, and has granted no licenses, to the damage which he has sustained by reason of the commercial competition to which he has been subjected.

In estimating damages, the Court will inquire into the extent of infringement and the amount of goods manufactured by the defendant, care being taken to distinguish this inquiry from that as to sales and profits. In the one case the quantity of business is inquired into, in the other the amount of profit. It is evident that the smaller the price at which the articles have been sold, the greater the damage to the patentee by reason of the market depreciation of the profits to be made by his invention by reason of the competition.

In Betts v. De Vitre (n), Sir W. Page-Wood, V.-C., said: "I confess it appears to me that if the damages are to be assessed, it would be proper to take the identical course that was taken in Hills v. Evans, for this reason, that damages of this description, namely, damages for the infringement of a patent where there has been no license granted at any time for the use of that patent, can only be ascertained on those very vague and guess-like data which, it appears, juries have been obliged to act upon in ascertaining what the actual loss has been that has occurred to a patentee by the user by some wrongdoer of his patent right. The difficulty one sees must be very great where there are no licenses existing. Where there are licenses existing, the difficulty would be next to nothing, because you would simply ascertain the amount sold, and fix the wrongdoer with that amount."

In Penn v. Jack, licenses had been granted, and the same Vice-Chancellor fixed the amount of damage at the amount which would have been received had the defendant been working under a license.

Where licenses have been granted, no account will be taken of profits which have been lost by reason of competition (o).

Where bills to restrain the infringement of a patent have been filed against both the person who manufactures, and the person who uses the article, and issues of fact have been found for the plaintiff, it is the right of the plaintiff to have, not only an account against the manufacturer, but also damages against the person using the article, wherever it be found (p).

In aid of the inquiry as to damages, directed by the judgment for a perpetual injunction, the defendant must give full discovery, and will be required to set out the names and addresses of the persons to whom machines, made in infringement of the patent, have been sold; but not the names of the agents concerned in the transaction (q).

ACCOUNT OF SALES AND PROFITS.

In cases where it is deemed to the advantage of the plaintiff, he may elect, in lieu of damages, to take an account of sales and profits; that is, to condone the infringement upon the footing that the defendant has been acting as the plaintiff's agent in selling or using the invention.

The plaintiff will not, however, be allowed to claim an account if he has tacitly permitted the defendant to infringe his patent, relying upon an ultimate account of profits. In Crossley v. The Derby Gas Light Co. (r), Lord Brougham said: "It is a principle of equity, that a party who claims a right should not lie by, and by his silence or acquiescence induce another to go on spending his money and incurring risk, and afterwards, if profit has been made, come and claim a share in that profit without having ever been exposed to share in the losses which might have been sustained. Upon this the defendants rely; but it was to be considered, on the other hand, whether the plaintiff did not explain the delay which has taken place, and whether the conduct of the defendants has not been such as to lull the plaintiff's suspicions to sleep."

Prior to the Judicature Acts it was held a rule in Courts of Equity, that in consequence of the terms of (q) Murray v. Clayton, 15 Eq. 115. (r) 1 Web. P. C. 120.

21 & 22 Vict. c. 27, no relief could be awarded for damages or an account, unless an injunction could be granted at the same time. All other relief being merely incidental to the injunction (r). Thus, where a patent had expired after bill filed, but before an injunction could be granted, the Court declined to consider the question of damages (s). But now, in pursuance of sect. 24, subsect. 6, of the Judicature Act, 1873, a Court of Equity may give full relief; and so, wherever a court of law would, prior to the passing of the Act, have granted damages or an account, similar orders will be made by either branch of the High Court of Justice, irrespective of the question of injunction.

Where it appears at the trial that the defendant has made no profit, although the plaintiff may be entitled to damages, he will not be entitled to an account (t).

Where the defendant has acted in ignorance of the patent, and before action has offered to submit to an account and to pay to plaintiff the amount of profits, the Court should exercise its discretion in disallowing costs (u), although it may grant the injunction. In such a case the plaintiff will proceed to an account at his peril, running the risk of nothing being found due.

The practice of the Courts as to injunctions, damages, and accounts, will be dealt with hereafter under the head of "Practice."

CHAPTER XIV.

REVOCATION.

WE have seen that the patentee has his remedy in an action for infringement. The public has also a remedy by petition for revocation.

Sect. 26 of the Act of 1883 provides:—

“ (1) The proceeding by scire facias to repeal a patent is hereby abolished.

“ (2) Revocation of a patent may be obtained on petition to the Court.

“ (3) Every ground on which a patent might, at the commencement of this Act, be repealed by scire facias shall be available by way of defence to an action for infringement, and shall also be a ground of revocation.

“ (4) A petition for revocation of a patent may be presented by:—

“ (a) The Attorney-General in England or Ireland, or the Lord Advocate in Scotland.

“ (b) Any person authorized by the Attorney-General in England or Ireland, or the Lord Advocate in Scotland.

“ (c) Any person alleging that the patent was obtained in fraud of his rights, or of the rights of any person under or through whom he claims.

“ (d) Any person alleging that he, or any person under or through whom he claims, was the true inventor of any invention included in the claim of the patentee.

“(e) Any person alleging that he, or any person under or through whom he claims an interest in any trade, business, or manufacture, had publicly manufactured, used, or sold within this realm before the date of the patent anything claimed by the patentee as his invention.

“(5) The plaintiff must deliver with his petition particulars of the objections on which he means to rely, and no evidence shall, except by leave of the Court or a judge, be admitted in proof of any objection of which particulars are not so delivered.

“(6) Particulars delivered may be from time to time amended by leave of the Court or a judge.

“(7) The defendant shall be entitled to bring in and give evidence in support of the patent, and if the plaintiff gives evidence impeaching the validity of the patent the defendant shall be entitled to reply.

“(8) Where a patent has been revoked on the ground of fraud the comptroller may, on the application of the true inventor, made in accordance with the provisions of this Act, grant to him a patent in lieu of and bearing the same date as the date of revocation of the patent so revoked, but the patent so granted shall cease on the expiration of the term for which the revoked patent was granted.”

Practically speaking, scire facias had fallen into desuetude before the passing of this Act; other methods of disputing the validity of patents were found, or thought to be, more to the advantage of persons opposing them. It is presumed, however, that the new procedure will find more favour, being simpler, more speedy, and more similar to the ordinary action for infringement than the old action of scire facias.

The grounds upon which a patent may be revoked are similar to those upon which it might have been cancelled by scire facias (x). These are in the Fourth Institute said to be: “Firstly, when the king by his letters patent doth grant by several letters patent one and the self-same thing to several persons, the former patentee shall have a scire facias to repeal the second patent; secondly, when the king granteth anything that is grantable upon a false suggestion, the king by his prerogative jure regio may have a scire facias to repeal his own grant. When the king doth grant anything which by law he cannot grant, he jure regio (for the advancement of justice and right) may have a scire facias to repeal his own letters patents.”

And it was held in Sir Oliver Butler's case (y), that “where a patent is granted to the prejudice of the subject, the king, of right, is to permit him on his petition to use his name for the repeal of it in a scire facias at the king's suit, and to hinder multiplicity of actions upon the case.”

Thus it will be seen that formerly any person might, on behalf of the public, proceed by scire facias to repeal a patent, although security for costs was required. Subsect. 4 of sect. 26 has very considerably narrowed and limited this general right.

Practically speaking, any ground which may be set up as a defence to an action for infringement may be employed as a ground for revocation—such as that the person to whom the letters patent were granted was not the first and true inventor, or that the invention was not new or useful, or that it was not true that the invention had not been practised before, or that the said invention did not come within the meaning of the words “a new manufacture,” or that the specification was insufficient and did not disclose the nature of the invention.

The petition is to be presented to the High Court of Justice in England or in Ireland. By sect. 109 it is provided: (1) “Proceedings in Scotland for revocation of a patent shall be in the form of an action of reduction at the instance of the Lord Advocate, or at the instance of a party having interest with his concurrence, which concurrence may be given on just cause shown only." And in respect to Ireland we find that, by sect. 110, "All parties shall, notwithstanding anything in this Act, have in Ireland their remedies under or in respect of a patent as if the same had been granted to extend to Ireland only."

The general result of these sections seems to be that the proceeding for revocation may be taken in any part of the United Kingdom, and that the question may be dealt with by the Courts of either portion independently; so that it will be possible for letters patent to have been cancelled so far as England is concerned, and yet to continue in force for Scotland and Ireland, and vice versâ.

It will be observed that in sect. 26, sub-sect. 4 (d), "Any person alleging that he, &c. . . . may petition," and by sub-sect. (3), any ground which might be available for scire facias may form the ground for revocation. It is not quite clear whether this section requires the petitioner to prove that he was the real inventor, or that the patent was obtained in fraud of his rights, provided he shows some ground upon which the patent should be repealed. It will be observed that there is no provision that the petition should be supported by an affidavit verifying the same. It may be that a petitioner might bring himself within this section by alleging in the petition that he was the inventor or had used the patent prior to the date of the patent, and might then abandon this branch of his case and proceed to prove any one of the other grounds which sub-sect. 3 enables him to rely upon.

We have dealt with the several grounds of revocation in previous chapters, under the title of infringement, and it will be unnecessary to do more here than to refer the reader to them. In a subsequent chapter will be found the practice to be observed in the course of proceedings for revocation.

CHAPTER XV.

INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL ARRANGEMENTS.

SECTS. 103 and 104 of the Patents Act, 1883, gives power to the Crown to enter into arrangements with foreign and colonial governments with respect to the mutual protection of patent rights. And, in respect to any foreign State which has entered into such arrangements, any person who has applied for protection for any invention in any such State shall be entitled to a patent for his invention in priority to other applicants, and such patent shall have the same date as the date of the protection obtained in such foreign State, provided that the application for letters patent in this country is made within seven months from the date of the application for protection in such foreign State.

Then follows a provision that a patent granted under such circumstances shall not entitle the patentee to bring actions in respect of infringements which may have happened prior to the date of the acceptance of his final specification.

It will be dangerous for persons to adopt foreign discoveries or inventions before the expiration of the seven months from the date of the foreign application: for, in the event of a patent being applied for under this section, the whole of the capital invested in the adoption of such invention may be found to have been lost. Regard particularly being had to the fact that by sub-sect. 2 any use of the invention in this country within the seven months by any number of persons will in no way invalidate the patent rights subsequently obtained; and that the persons who have used the invention will not have obtained any vested rights to continue the use of the invention.

The application for a patent under this section must be made in the same manner as ordinary applications. The section only applies with respect to such foreign States with respect to which her Majesty shall from time to time, by Order in Council, declare them to be applicable, and so long only in the case of each State as the Order in Council shall continue in force with respect to that State.

Where it is made to appear to her Majesty that the legislature of any British possession has made satisfactory provision for the protection of inventions patented in this country, her Majesty may, by Order in Council, apply the provisions of the last preceding section, with such variations or additions, if any, as to her Majesty in Council may seem fit, to such British possession.

Orders in Council in pursuance of this section shall have the like effect as if the provisions they contain had been incorporated in the Act.

Practice.

CHAPTER I.

ACTION FOR INFRINGEMENT.

AN action for infringement is commenced by writ issued out of the High Court of Justice.

The writ may be endorsed merely for damages for infringement (a), or for an account of sales and profits (a), and it may be endorsed for an injunction claiming that the defendant may be restrained from continuing to infringe the patent (a), and for a mandatory order that the defendant may be ordered to deliver up to the plaintiff the articles made in infringement of the patent which are in his custody or power, or in the custody or power of his servants or agents, so that they may be broken up or destroyed (b). The plaintiff may not claim both an account of sales and profits and damages for infringement; the two claims being inconsistent, since, if an account is taken, the infringement is condoned (c).

CHAPTER II.

PARTIES.

THE parties to the writ may be—as plaintiffs, any person for the time being entitled to the benefit of the patent. An ordinary licensee cannot be plaintiff, as he is merely licensed to use, and not entitled to any monopoly; but an exclusive licensee may sue, using the name of the grantor of the licence in the action (a). An assignee may sue in his own name, even though he has acquired the right by assignment of two separate moieties, and the party sued is the original grantee (b). An assignee of a portion of a patent may be plaintiff (c); so, also, it is submitted, may an assignee for a place or part of the United Kingdom, under sect. 36 of the Act of 1883. Assignees or trustees under a bankruptcy petition may sue (d), and an assignee may maintain an action, although the assignment has not been registered (e). One of several joint owners may recover (f), and one of several co-owners of a patent has a right to sue alone for the recovery of profits due for the use of a patent; and an objection by a defendant that other persons should have been joined as plaintiffs should be made promptly under Rules of Court 1875, Ord. XVI. rules 13 and 14, and may not be postponed till the hearing, where no impediment exists to raising the objection at once (g).

A mere agent to introduce, sell, and grant licences for the use of a foreign patent in this country is not entitled to take proceedings to restrain infringement (h).

As defendants, all persons physically infringing, or threatening to infringe, the patent may be joined. An architect, specifying the use of a patent, should not be joined, but the contractor doing the work may (i). The directors of a company may be sued in their personal capacity for an infringement by the servants of the company (k). Where the principals are out of the jurisdiction, the court will restrain the manager or workmen (l).

CHAPTER III.

INTERLOCUTORY INJUNCTION.

An interlocutory injunction may be granted ex parte, after the issue of the writ, and before service. An ex parte injunction will only be granted when it can be shown that great injury will accrue to the plaintiff by delay, and when he can clearly establish his title and the fact of infringement (a). Interlocutory injunctions are always upon terms as to damages (b).

Notice of motion having been given, an interlocutory injunction will be granted after appearance, or with leave, upon notice of motion to be served with the writ.

By sect. 25 of the Judicature Act, 1873, sub-sect. 8 :
“A mandamus or an injunction may be granted, or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the Court, in all cases in which it shall appear to the Court to be just or convenient that such order should be made ; and any such order may be made either unconditionally or upon such terms and conditions as the Court shall think just ; and if an injunction is asked either before, or at, or after the hearing of any cause or matter to prevent any threatened or apprehended waste or trespass, such injunction may be granted if the Court shall think fit, whether the person against whom such injunction is sought is or is not in possession under any claim of title or otherwise, or (if out of possession) does or does not claim a right to do the act sought to be restrained under any colour of title; and whether the estates claimed by both or either of the parties are legal or equitable.”

Ord. L. rule 6, directs that: “An application for an order under sect. 25, sub-sect. 8, or under rules 2 or 3 of this order, may be made to the Court or a judge by any party. If the application be by the plaintiff for an order under the said sub-sect 8, it may be made either ex parte or with notice”

A master of the Queen’s Bench Division has no power to grant an injunction. Order LIV. Rule 12.

An interlocutory injunction will only be granted when there is a fair primâ facie case of validity. This may be made out by long undisturbed enjoyment, or by the question having been previously tried in a court of law (c), or where the defendant has admitted the validity of the patent (d), or is so placed in his relationship to the patentee as to be estopped from denying its validity (e).

The injunction may be refused upon terms that the defendant keep an account pendente lite (f). But it is open to the plaintiff to show that if he succeeds the defendant’s position is such that he will be unable to pay the damages or the amount of the account (g).

The evidence to be used upon an application for an interlocutory injunction is upon affidavit.

The affidavit should clearly point out in what the alleged infringement consists (h). If the plaintiff is the first inventor; he must distinctly swear to the fact, as also to the novelty and utility of the invention, and to the due filing of a sufficient specification (i). If the plaintiff is an assignee he must swear to the best of his belief (k). The affidavits in either case must state the facts as at the time of swearing, and it is not sufficient to swear that the invention was believed to be new when the patent was granted (l). An injunction granted prior to statement of claim will be dissolved if the statement of claim when delivered does not agree with the affidavits upon which the injunction was granted (m).

CHAPTER IV.

STATEMENT OF CLAIM.

THE Rules of Court of 1883 have rendered the form of pleadings of less importance than hitherto. Ord. XIX. rule 26, provides: "No technical objection shall be raised to any pleading on the ground of any alleged want of form;" but by rule 27 the power of the Court to strike out pleadings on the grounds that they are unnecessary, scandalous, or embarrassing, is preserved.

Ord. XIX. rule 4, requires all material facts to be pleaded, and prohibits the pleading of evidence. Rule 5 is as follows:—"The forms in Appendices (C., D., and E.), when applicable, and when they are not applicable forms of the like character, as near as may be, shall be used for all pleadings, and where such forms are applicable and sufficient, any longer forms shall be deemed prolix, and the costs occasioned by such prolixity shall be disallowed to or borne by the party so using the same, as the case may be."

The forms mentioned relate to pleadings in an action for the infringement of a patent, but there is no provision made for the case where infringement has only been threatened, nor for the case when a mandatory order or an account of sales and profits is required (a).

It will be observed that the statement of claim in patent cases, which is rendered obligatory by Ord. XIX. rule 5, contains no allegation as to the matters going to constitute the validity of the patent, nor does it give the date, time, or place of the infringement; but it refers to the particulars of breaches which are delivered "herewith."

CHAPTER V.

PARTICULARS OF BREACHES.

Particulars of breaches were required to be delivered in every action for the infringement of a patent by sect. 41 of the Patent Law Amendment Act, 1852; and now by sect. 29 (1) of the Act of 1883, it is provided:—
“In an action for infringement of a patent the plaintiff must deliver with his statement of claim, or by order of the Court or a judge at any subsequent time, particulars of the breaches complained of; (4) at the hearing no evidence shall, except by leave of the Court or a judge, be admitted in proof of any alleged infringement, or objection of which particulars are not so delivered; (5) particulars delivered may be from time to time amended by leave of the Court or a judge.”

Particulars of breaches are particulars of the times, places, occasions, and manner in which the plaintiff says the defendant has infringed his letters patent. The defendant must have full, fair, and distinct notice of the case to be made against him (a). In Batley v. Kynock (b), Sir James Bacon, V.-C., said: “All that is required and provided by the Patent Law Amendment Act, 1852, which has made no alteration in the practice to be observed in these cases, is that the defendants shall not be taken by surprise, and it is the duty of the judge to take care that by the particulars of breaches they shall have full and fair notice of the case that they will have to meet.”

It had undoubtedly prior to the passing of the Patent Law Amendment Act, 1852, been the practice of the Courts to compel plaintiffs to give particulars of breaches, and the cases which were then decided as to the sufficiency of particulars are applicable now; for then, as now, the object was that the defendant should be warned with reasonable certainty of the case that was to be made against him.

Particulars stated that "A particular improvement had been used by A. B. (giving names and addresses) and divers other people within this kingdom and elsewhere." The judges struck out the words "and divers other people" (c).

The words "carriage builders generally throughout Great Britain" does not sufficiently comply with the statute, nor do the words "used and applied by carriage builders generally;" and the words "in or near London, in or near Liverpool, &c., and in or near various other of the principal towns of Great Britain," are too general (d).

Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page-Wood said in Morgan v. Fuller (d): "An allegation of general user does not of course admit of being met precisely The real object is to secure to both parties a fair trial" (e).

"And the plaintiffs state these particular instances by way of example only, and not so as to preclude them from proving any of the infringements mentioned in the former particulars of breaches." This clause was ordered to be struck out of the amended particulars (f).

If the particulars delivered are too general the defendant should apply for further and better particulars.

If at the trial evidence is tendered which comes within the literal meaning of the particulars it will be admitted, notwithstanding that the particulars are too general, as the defendant should have objected to the particulars, and not wait until the trial to take his objection (g).

The plaintiff having delivered particulars of breaches specifying certain sales by the defendant of rollers, and in particular to Shaw and Smith, the defendant, in answer to interrogatories, admitted sales to Hirst. Fry, J., in giving judgment, said: "In this case I think I must admit the evidence tendered in respect of Hirst's case. It is said that in respect of those cases which are not mentioned by name in the particulars of breaches, the plaintiff cannot give evidence. It may be that the particulars were not sufficient, or tended to embarrass. But the defendant did not apply for amended particulars, according to the case of Hull v. Bolland. It appears to me I have to inquire what is the meaning of the particulars. I find the case of Hirst is within the literal meaning of the particulars. If I had found that the case of Hirst was likely to create surprise, or likely to introduce any point not raised by Smith's or Shaw's case, I should probably have given an opportunity to the defendant to bring fresh evidence. I have asked whether there is any witness not here whom the defendants would desire to bring in respect of Hirst's case, and have received no satisfactory answer on that point, and must assume there is no such witness (h)."

In Flower v. Lloyd (i), Field, J., said: "I cannot follow the cases which have been cited; we have advanced in our ideas since they were decided (k). If the defendants knew that their processes have been used by other persons in London and Birmingham, besides those specified, they must know the persons by whom they have been used, and must give more specific information. I do not say that they need give the name and address of every such person, but they must give fair information. If they can give no further information, the words in question are useless, and too indefinite, and must be struck out."

When the patent consists of two or more processes, or distinct and separable inventions, particulars of breaches should distinguish which of the processes it is alleged has been infringed, and should particularly indicate what parts of the defendant's machine or manufactured article is claimed to constitute an infringement; but when the process was one entire invention, the Court declined to compel the plaintiff to point out the particular parts of the specification which were alleged to be infringed. Jervis, C. J., said: "If the two processes described in the specification are wholly distinct from each other, and the defendant's process may be an infringement of the one and not of the other, he ought to have better particulars; but if the whole is substantially one process, he is not entitled to them . . . We must not make the particulars more complicated than the specification (l)."

Particulars of breaches, as we have seen, may also be ordered in actions which are not strictly actions for the infringement of patents; this is done under the ordinary jurisdiction of the Court (m). In an action charging that the defendant falsely and maliciously wrote and told persons who had bought certain machines of the plaintiffs that the machines were infringements of his, the defendant's patents, the defendant having pleaded not guilty, the Court ordered the defendant to deliver particulars, showing in what parts the plaintiff's machines were an infringement of the defendant's patents, and pointing out by reference to the page and line of the defendant's specifications, which part of the inventions therein described he alleged to have been infringed (n).

CHAPTER VI.

STATEMENT OF DEFENCE.

The statement of defence in patent actions is now, under the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, a very brief and concise document, giving no particulars or details whatever, and remitting the plaintiff to the particulars of objections, and the answers to the interrogatories for information as to the case which is to be made against him. Under Ord. XIX. rule 5, the form given in Appendix (D.) sect. VI. is rendered obligatory. That form merely gives headings of defence which is all that is to be allowed; for instance:—“(1) That the defendant did not infringe the patent; (2) The invention was not new; (3) The plaintiff was not the first and true inventor; (4) The invention was not useful; (5) The patent was not assigned to the plaintiff.” And to these might be added:—That the title did not disclose the nature of the invention (a); that the title, the provisional specification, and the complete specification, or any two of them, did not substantially refer to the same invention (b); that the specification was not sufficient (c); that the claim in the specification was not sufficient to distinguish what was new from what was old (d); that the patent was obtained in fraud of the defendant, as, for instance, when a person employed to carry out or assist in experiments, applies for letters patent himself, or where the patentee has obtained the invention from the confidence of the defendant.

It will be observed that any one of these defences will be sufficient to constitute a complete defence to the action; and that the greater portion of them are of a nature to require elaborate and costly evidence to prove or disprove them. Too much care cannot, therefore, be taken in preparing a statement of defence to avoid setting up defences which it is not expected will be satisfactorily proved at the trial, regard being had to the provisions of the Rules of 1883 as to costs; otherwise, even if the defendant succeeds in the action, he may be mulcted in heavy costs to the other side.

CHAPTER VII.

PARTICULARS OF OBJECTIONS.

SECT. 21, sub-sect. (2) of the Act of 1883, provides:—
“The defendant must deliver with his statement of defence, or by order of the Court, or a judge at any subsequent time, particulars of any objections on which he relies in support thereof; (3) If the defendant disputes the validity of the patent, the particulars, delivered by him, must state on what grounds he disputes it; and if one of those grounds is want of novelty, must state the time and place of the previous publication or user alleged by him; (4) At the hearing, no evidence shall, except by leave of the Court, or a judge, be admitted in proof of any alleged infringement or objection, of which particulars are not so delivered; (5) Particulars delivered, may be from time to time amended, by leave of the Court, or a judge; (6) On taxation of costs, regard shall be had to the particulars delivered by the plaintiff and by the defendant; and they respectively shall not be allowed any costs in respect of any particulars delivered by them, unless the same is certified by the Court or a judge to have been proven, or to have been reasonable and proper, without regard to the general costs of the case.”

This last sub-section will make it imperative upon the plaintiff or defendant, who has succeeded in an action, to obtain a certificate from the judge who has tried the case that each one of the particulars delivered by him has been proved or was reasonable and proper. It will be observed that the words of the section are “shall not be allowed any costs;” this leaves no discretion in the Court except as to certifying.

Ord. XIX. rule 6, of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, provides: “In all cases in which the party pleading relies on any misrepresentation, fraud, breach of trust, wilful default, or undue influence, and in all other cases in which particulars may be necessary beyond such as are exemplified in the forms aforesaid, particulars (with dates and items if necessary) shall be stated in the pleading: provided that if the particulars be of debt, expenses, or damages, and exceed three folios, the fact must be so stated, and a reference to full particulars already delivered or to be delivered with the pleading.”

It is not easy to reconcile the practice under this rule with the language of the 29th sect. of the Patent Act, or, indeed, with the form of defence given in the form to the rules quoted above. Ord. XIX. rule 6, provides that particulars shall be incorporated with the pleading; on the other hand, the form and the Patent Act seem to indicate a separate document. Hitherto the practice has been to deliver a separate document, and it is apprehended that when the balance of convenience is considered the Courts will hold that in respect of a patent action the practice has remained unchanged.

The particulars of objection may allege that the invention was not new at the date of the patent. We have on a previous occasion intimated that it is possible that sections of the Act of 1883 may be construed as admitting objections on the ground of want of novelty, on the ground of prior user, or publication in any portion of the world. Such a change would revolutionise the law of patents.

Prior user.—The objection on the ground of prior user must state the time and place when such user occurred; but it will be observed that the persons by whom used is not mentioned in sub-sect. (3). The Act, however, does not direct that such particulars shall not be required. The Patent Law Amendment Act, 1852, sect. 41, required that the place of prior user should be given, and was silent as to times or persons. Notwithstanding this, in Palmer v. Cooper (a), Baron Alderson went even further than to require the names of the persons who had used the invention, and the present addresses of such persons were ordered to be given, "As otherwise the plaintiff would not know where to go for his evidence." The object of particulars is, in the words of Tindal, C. J. (b), "Not, indeed, to limit the defence, but to limit the expense of the parties, and more particularly to prevent the patentee from being upset by some unexpected turn of the evidence. Under the fifth section (5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 83), therefore, it was intended that the defendant should give an honest statement of the objections on which he means to rely." In Palmer v. Cooper (a), Parke, B., said: "The defendant's particulars ought to give the plaintiff such information as will enable him to make the necessary inquiries at the place named."

It will be evident, therefore, that there are cases where to omit giving the names and addresses of the persons who are alleged to have anticipated the invention would be to supply the plaintiff with objections which would be practically useless.

There are cases where the names and addresses have been refused. In Carpenter v. Smith (c), the objections stated that the invention had been used by "the defendant and divers persons." It was refused to order the defendant

(a) 9 Ex. 231. See also Bulnois v. Mackenzie, 4 Bing. N. C. 432; Galloway v. Bleaden, 1 Web. P. C. 268 (n.)

either to give the names and addresses of the "divers persons," or to have those words struck out.

It may be argued that the reason of such refusal was that a disclosure was required of the witnesses and case of the defendant. It is obvious that, although it is a recognized principle that one litigant shall not be permitted to inquire as to what witnesses the other is about to call at the trial, still that by far the more important principle is that neither party should be taken by surprise, and that the plaintiff should have a fair opportunity of critically examining every alleged anticipation which may be attempted to be established against him.

It does not of necessity follow that persons who have anticipated the invention should be the only and necessary witnesses of such anticipation. On the whole, therefore, it is submitted that names and addresses of such persons should be given in particulars of objections.

General words are inadmissible in particulars; for instance, expressions such as "and divers other people" (d), and "Inter alia at Sheffield, Birmingham, and London" (e). But in Bentley v. Keighley (f), Mr. Justice Maule, under special circumstances, allowed the words "and others" to be sufficient.

When the allegation of the defendant is that the patent is void by reason of a portion of the described invention being old, the particulars should clearly distinguish which part is alleged to be old, as well as the times and places of prior user (g).

Evidence will be admitted at the trial, provided the language of the particulars of objections is large enough to admit it; for instance, if the plaintiff has allowed such words as "and elsewhere" to stand until the trial, the defendant will be allowed to give evidence of prior user anywhere (h). The proper course for the plaintiff to take should the defendant deliver vague particulars is to issue a summons before a judge in chambers for further and better particulars, or, in the alternative, to have the objectionable words struck out (i).

In Sugg v. Silber (h), Mellish, L. J., said: "The authorities cited by Mr. Cave were cases where objections had been taken to the notices of objection at the time when they were delivered, and further and better particulars were asked for. In my opinion there is a very large difference between a case where a judge has been applied to and has ordered further particulars in order to state an objection more specifically, and a case where at the trial the plaintiff asserts that the defendant ought to be prevented from availing himself of an objection. It is perfectly obvious that, if Mr. Cave was right in saying that the two questions are the same, and that wherever the Court would order further particulars because the objection had not been particularly specified, it would also hold that the party was precluded from raising it at the trial. Nobody would be foolish enough to apply to a judge for further particulars."

Although the objections did not specifically point out that the invention consisted of several claims, yet the objection that the invention is not the subject-matter of a patent, is sufficient to open the objection that the whole, or some particular part of it, is not the subject-matter of a patent, and that consequently the patent is bad (l).

The defendant may, by leave of a Court or judge, from time to time, and upon such terms as under the circumstances of the case may be deemed equitable, amend the particulars which he has delivered; this is done by summons.

Page-Wood, V.-C., in Penn v. Bibby (m), permitted a defendant in his amended particulars, to preface his statement of the specific instances of alleged prior user, with the words "amongst other instances" in order to give him an opportunity to apply for leave to re-amend by inserting any further instances of prior user which he might discover.

The terms upon which amendment is permitted are, first, that the plaintiff should be at liberty, if he pleases, to discontinue the action, and to be in the same position as to costs, as if the proposed amended particulars had been delivered in the first instance (n), and, secondly, that the defendant should be put under such terms as to costs, as to the judge or Court seem just. The particulars of objections give notice to the plaintiff of the case which is to be made against him; thereupon he may discontinue or not, as he pleases, paying defendant's costs. The defendant should not be permitted to keep back his most salient objections, and so to entice the plaintiff to proceed and incur costs, and then to amend his particulars at the last moment.

Forms of order for further particulars will be found in the Appendix (o).

The defendant will not be allowed at the hearing of the action to introduce evidence of prior user, not disclosed in the particulars of objection, although such evidence may have only come to his knowledge since the delivery of the particulars of objection. His proper course is to obtain leave by summons or by serving short notice of motion for leave to amend, when an order will be made upon the terms mentioned above; and it is submitted with an added term to delay the trial should it appear just that the plaintiff should have time to investigate the new evidence (p).

Objections on the ground of prior publication stand very much upon the same footing as those on the ground of prior user.

If the prior publication is alleged to be in books or newspapers, the plaintiff is entitled to be told the name of the book or newspaper, and to give such details of the books or newspapers as will enable them to be found and identified by the plaintiff (q).

In Plimpton v. Spiller (r), the particulars were—"before the date of the alleged letters patent the alleged invention had been published in England in the 'Commissioners of Patents Journal,' of the 6th February, 1863, and in the 'Scientific American,' of the 24th January, 1863, and in drawings and sketches deposited in the Patent Office library, in July, 1865." Mr. Justice Field directed that the defendant should amend his particulars by stating the date of the American patent, and in whose name it had been granted. And also by giving the pages of the publications mentioned, but not the lines. And also by giving such written details as would enable the drawings mentioned to be identified, and to state whether the drawings were or were not contained in books, and what books. Notice of objections, on the ground that the grantee of the letters patent was not the first and true inventor, does not stand upon the same footing as objections on the ground of prior user or publication. Sect. 29, sub-sect. 3, does not require the defendant to state more than generally on what grounds he objects, and a statement that his objection is that the plaintiff was not the true inventor, that is, that the consideration did not move from him, will be sufficient, care being taken to distinguish this objection from that of prior user or publication.

When the objection is, that the grantee was not the true inventor, the Court will not require the defendant to say who was the true inventor(s). The fact upon which the objection is based, is the want of consideration, not the fact of some one having performed the invention before. The performance of the invention by some one else before the patent would not, of necessity, invalidate the patent. As, for instance, if it were done in secret; but if the invention was communicated to the grantee, the patent would be void for want of consideration. Now the foundation of the objection is, the fact of that communication, and the knowledge of this, and the time and place of it, might be within the patentee's knowledge only, and might not be extracted from him until in the witness box.

The objection that the specification is insufficient is enough without explaining in what way it is insufficient (t). A litigant could scarcely be required to argue his case on paper before he went into Court, and the sufficiency or insufficiency of a specification is to a great extent a matter of mere argument.

In Jones v. Berger (u), it was held that objections that the specification "did not sufficiently distinguish between what was old and what was new," and that the inventor "did not disclose the most beneficial method with which he was then acquainted of practising his said invention," were sufficient.

We have seen that Ord. XIX. rule 6, requires particulars in case of fraud to be delivered with the statement of defence.

Fraud is a valid objection to a patent. The practice of the Court is to require accurate and detailed particulars of any fraudulent acts alleged. The species of "fraud, covin, or misrepresentation" should be given (x).

CHAPTER VIII.

INTERROGATORIES.

ORD. XXXI. rule 1, of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, provides that either party to an action, with leave of the Court or a judge, may interrogate the other party.

Interrogatories must be relevant to the issue, and will not be allowed to be used for the purpose of cross-examination. Since it is not possible to say precisely what the issues between the parties are before the statement of defence is delivered, neither party, except under special circumstances, will be allowed to interrogate until that stage of the action has been reached (a).

Rule 26 provides that 5% should be brought into Court by the party desiring to interrogate before he shall be at liberty to do so.

The general rules as to interrogatories in ordinary actions apply equally to actions for infringement.

The plaintiff may interrogate the defendant, and the defendant must answer as to what infringement he has been guilty of; and he must disclose, if asked, the names and addresses of all persons, whether in England or abroad, from whom he may have received money for the use of articles alleged to be made in infringement of the patent (b).

Where a defendant alleged that his process was secret, he was bound to answer whether he used the materials mentioned in the specification, and whether he used any additional materials, but not to disclose the proportions in which he used the specified materials, or what the additional materials were (c).

When there is nothing to show that the defendant has infringed the patent, and he has denied on oath having infringed the patent, the plaintiff will not be permitted to interrogate as to the articles made and sold by the defendant, there being nothing to show that the articles sold infringe the patent. If Lea v. Saxby (d) be read, this proposition will be seen to follow.

Crossly v. Tomey (e) was an action to restrain infringement. The defendant in interrogatories was required to state whether he was not making articles in all respects identical with those of the plaintiff, and to set forth in what respects they differed, and by what process they were made. It was held that the defendant, who alleged prior user by himself and others, had sufficiently answered by stating that, save so far as the articles manufactured by him before the date of the patent were similar to those of the plaintiff, the articles he now made differed from those made by the plaintiff, but he could not show in what they differed without ocular demonstration. It was also held in this case, that when the defendant alleged prior user by other persons, he was bound to set forth the names of some of those persons. In the argument of this case, it appears that some confusion existed as to the necessary requirements of particulars of objections and answers to interrogatories. It must be remembered that the answers to interrogatories are on oath, and it can never have been intended by the legislature, when the stringent requirements of particulars of objections were created, that the defendant should be bound to swear to these particulars; the penalty upon a defendant giving particulars, which at the trial he is not prepared to prove, is that he is mulcted in costs. But it was never intended that he should be prohibited from giving particulars, which, although based upon mere suspicion, he may hope to prove at the trial, perhaps out of the plaintiff's own mouth (f).

(c) Renard v. Levinstein, 3 N. R. 665.

In Bovill v. Smith (g), the following interrogatory was disallowed, "Does not the defendant allege that the plaintiff's invention was publicly used within this realm before the date of the plaintiff's patent? Set forth particularly when, and in what place or places, and in what manner, does the defendant allege that the plaintiff's invention, or any or what part thereof, was publicly used within this realm before the date of the plaintiff's patent." Sir W. Page-Wood, V.-C., said that the plaintiff was not entitled to enquire generally into the way in which the defendant shaped his case in order to find out whether some of the persons alleged by him to have used the process before the date of the patent, were the persons against whom the plaintiff had succeeded in other suits, though he might have asked if the process was the same as that used by A. B., or any one person specifically named, who had been a defendant in some former suit.

A defendant who submits to answer must answer fully: he cannot, by denying the plaintiff's title, escape answering. Discovery of title deeds and of professional communications form an exception. The plaintiff and defendant had both patents for making gelatine; the plaintiff interrogated as to the article manufactured by the defendant, and as to the names and addresses of the customers, and as to prices and profits. The defendant denied all infringement. He said he had made his article according to his own, and not according to the plaintiff's, patent, and he declined to give an account of such article. Held, that notwithstanding his denial, he was bound to do so (h). It is doubtful whether this case would be followed now, for it is difficult to understand how the question could be relevant to the issue. It might be relevant after judgment, but before judgment the issue is, infringement or no infringement. The names of the customers could not bear upon this question.

After trial, and in pursuance of the terms of the judgment, if the plaintiff has been successful he is entitled to interrogate the defendant, or to require that the defendant "should make and file an affidavit stating what machines of the same construction as that supplied by him to A. or B., including such machines as are in his possession or power," see Seton, 4th ed., p. 352. The answer or affidavit of the defendant must be complete. In Murray v. Clayton (i), a patentee of improvements in brick-cutting machines, who was a manufacturer of the machines by an agent at the agents' works and not a licensor, having obtained a perpetual injunction against the defendants, (who were also manufacturers of brick cutting machines), from infringement, the defendants were ordered to file an affidavit stating the number of machines made by them since the date of the patent, and the names and addresses of the persons to whom the same had been sold, and of the agents concerned in the transactions. Upon motion to vary the order, it was held, that the plaintiff was entitled to have discovery of the names and addresses of the purchasers, but not of the agents concerned, there being nothing to show that any agents had been employed.

In answering interrogatories filed by a defendant for the examination of the plaintiff, the general rule applies that he who is bound to answer must answer fully (k).

Interrogatories for the examination of a plaintiff are on a different footing from those for the examination of a defendant in this respect, that a plaintiff is not entitled to discovery of the defendant's case, but a defendant may ask any questions tending to destroy the plaintiff's claim (l).

In determining whether a question is one of fact, and, therefore, to be answered, it makes no difference that it is asked with reference to a written document (l).

A defendant in a suit for infringement of a patent in order to prove that there was no novelty in the plaintiff's patent, interrogated the plaintiff as to the inventions described in the specifications of various patents, and asked him to show in what respects they differed from his. The plaintiff declined to answer these interrogatories on the ground that the questions were not questions of fact, and that they related to the plaintiff's case; the defendant excepted to the answer, and the exceptions were allowed (l).

A plaintiff in a patent suit was required by interrogatories to set out a correspondence between himself and a third party, and also to state the particulars of the infringement of his patent on which he relied. He refused to answer these questions on the ground that the defendant might obtain an order in chambers to inspect the correspondence: and that he had sufficiently set out the particulars of the infringement in his bill. These answers were held to be sufficient (l).

We have set out the effect of this case at length, because it is founded upon and exemplifies in many ways the principle upon which a defendant may examine a plaintiff. Lord Justice Giffard, in giving judgment, said, "As regards the case of Daw v. Eley (m), it must be always remembered that that was the case of a plaintiff exhibiting interrogatories to a defendant, and it was there held that the plaintiff could not call on the defendant to set forth the particulars of his defence. But when you come to the case of a defendant asking questions of a plaintiff, it is a very different thing. It is the defendant's business to destroy the plaintiff's case, and there the defendant has a right to ask all questions which are fairly calculated to show that the patent is not a good patent, or that what he alleges to be an infringement is not an infringement." Lord Justice Selwyn had said, "Our decision in this case will leave it entirely within the power of the learned Vice-Chancellor to order that all the costs occasioned by the interrogatories, the answer, the exceptions, the hearing the exceptions before him, and the hearing of this appeal, shall be dealt with as he, in his discretion, shall think fit; and if it shall appear that the power which the Court, for the purpose of justice and discovery, gives to the parties to administer interrogatories to each other has been abused, I have no doubt the learned Vice-Chancellor will take care that justice shall be done, and will make the party who is to blame pay all the costs of the improper exercise of this power."

CHAPTER IX.

INSPECTION.

SECT. 30 of the Patents, &c. Act of 1883, provides: "In an action for infringement of a patent, the Court or a judge may, on the application of either party, make such order for an injunction, inspection, or account, and impose such terms and give such directions respecting the same and the proceedings thereon, as the Court or a judge may see fit."

The power to order an inspection was always assumed by the Courts; in Bovill v. Moore (a), Lord Eldon said: "There is no use in this Court directing an action to be brought, if it does not possess the power to have the action properly tried. The plaintiff has a patent for a machine used in making bobbin lace. The defendant is a manufacturer of that article; and, as the plaintiff alleges, he is making it with a machine constructed upon the principle of the machine protected by the plaintiff's patent. Now the manufactory of the defendant is carried on in secret. The machine which the defendant uses to make bobbin lace, and which the plaintiff alleges to be a piracy of his invention, is in the defendant's own possession, and no one can have access to it without his permission. The evidence of the piracy, at present, is the bobbin lace made by the defendant. The witnesses say that this lace must have been manufactured by the plaintiff's machine, or by a machine similar to it in principle. This is obviously in a great measure conjecture. No Court can be content with evidence of this description. There must be an order that plaintiff's witnesses shall be permitted before the trial of the action to inspect the defendant's machine, and to see it work."

The object which the Court has in view in all cases where an inspection is permitted, is to ensure that the true facts of the case shall be carefully sifted; but at the same time the Court will take care that the process of the law is not abused, and that an action for infringement shall not be made a means and lever for the discovery of other person's secrets.

The Court requires before granting an order for inspection that a strong prima facie case shall be made out of infringement (b). And when the interests of justice requires, the inspection will be granted to scientific witnesses, who will be required to keep any secrets which they may have discovered, and which do not affect the question of infringement (c). And in Flower v. Lloyd (d) the Court of Appeal strictly limited the inspection to scientific men, and excluded the plaintiff from being present.

In Piggott v. The Anglo-American Telegraph Co. (e), it was alleged that an inspection would disclose important secrets. Giffard, V.-C., in refusing an order to inspect, said: "Of late years greater readiness has been shown by the Equity Courts to allow inspection in patent cases than by the Courts of Common Law. But it has never been considered as a matter of right, nor have the Equity Courts considered themselves as precluded from exercising a proper discretion in applications of this description. The Court ought to be satisfied of two things: that there really is a case to be tried at the hearing of the cause, and that the inspection asked for is of material importance to the plaintiff's case as made out by his evidence."

In Batley v. Kynock (f), Sir James Bacon, V.-C., said: "Upon the single point which is raised before me, there can be no doubt that the plaintiff in such a suit as this is entitled to an inspection of the means which the defendants employ in the manufacture of the articles alleged to be violations of the plaintiff's patent, when such inspection is essential for the purpose of enabling the plaintiff to prove his case; upon the materials before me that is not made out. There is no allegation by the plaintiff that he cannot make out his case without inspection. But there is on the part of the defendants a plain allegation that inspection is not necessary for the purposes of the suit; upon that only I must decide this question. I would rather not go into the other matters which have been referred to. The description in the specification and the allegation in the bill—but as I read both the description in the specification and the allegation in the bill—I find that the charge made by the plaintiff is that the cartridges, the right of manufacturing which is vested in him exclusively, have been imitated and copied by the defendant, and if that fact can be made out the plaintiff's case can be clearly established. The mode of making that out is by examination of the cartridges, the means by which they have been made, whether by a machine or hammer or a screw cannot signify in the least if the cartridges of the defendant when made are made upon the principle of the patent claimed by the plaintiff."

The Court, in the case of The Patent Type Founding Co. v. Walter (g), assumed the jurisdiction to order the defendant to deliver to the plaintiff a sample of the type made by him so that the plaintiff might have the same analysed, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the composition was similar to the plaintiff's patented composition.

In some cases where it is necessary, the Court will order the defendant and the plaintiff to give mutual inspection, and to show both the patented machine and the alleged infringement at work, and to permit either party to take away any of the work or samples of the work which has been done in their presence (h).

The application may be made on motion to the Court or by summons; it is usually made upon the application for an interim injunction, but it is immaterial at what stage of the proceedings the application is made. The evidence in support must be on affidavit, and a prima facie case of infringement must be made out, and that the inspection is material to the plaintiff's case.

Order L. of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, contains some provisions as to inspection which must be noticed.

Rule 3 provides for the inspection of property and the taking of samples, or for "any observations to be made or experiment to be tried which may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information or evidence." Rule 4: "It shall be lawful for any judge, by whom any cause or matter may be heard or tried with or without a jury, or before whom any cause or matter may be brought by way of appeal, to inspect any property or thing concerning which any question may arise therein.

This last mentioned rule was introduced by the Rules of 1883. Before, the parties must have consented to a view being had. In Jackson v. The Duke of Newcastle (i),

Lord Westbury said: "A judge is bound to pronounce his decision according to the evidence before him, but his inspection of the premises may bring him to a conclusion directly opposite to that which is established by the evidence."

CHAPTER X.

THE TRIAL.

The constitution of the Court which is to hear and determine patent actions is provided for by sect. 28, sub-sect. 1, of the Act of 1883. "In an action or proceeding for infringement or revocation of a patent, the Court may, if it thinks fit, and shall, on the request of either of the parties to the proceeding, call in the aid of an assessor, specially qualified, and hear and try the case wholly or partially, with his assistance; the action shall be tried without a jury, unless the Court shall otherwise direct."

This section is not very clear in its terms. Does it mean that in the event of an assessor being employed, that then the action shall be tried without a jury, or does it mean that all patent actions shall be tried without a jury, unless the Court otherwise directs?

Under the old statute, either party had an absolute right to have the questions of fact decided by a jury, and the Court had no power to deprive them of this right (a).

Under the 57th sect. of the Judicature Act, 1873, the Court had power, without the consent of the parties, "in any such cause or matter requiring any prolonged examination of documents or accounts, or any scientific or local investigation which cannot, in the opinion of the Court, or a judge, conveniently be made before a jury, or conducted by the Court through its other ordinary officers, the Court or a judge may at any time, on such terms as may be thought proper, order any question or issue of fact, or any question of account arising therein, to be tried either before an official referee, to be appointed as hereinafter provided, or before a special referee to be agreed on between the parties; and any such special referee so agreed on, shall have the same powers and duties, and proceed in the same manner as an official referee. All such trials before referees shall be conducted in such manner as may be prescribed by rules of court, and subject thereto in such manner as the Court or judge ordering the same shall direct."

In the case of Saxby v. The Gloucester Wagon Co. (b), Mr. Justice Hawkins was of opinion that a patent case was a case which required a "prolonged scientific examination," and consequently he remitted the action to the most proper tribunal for difficult scientific questions, "the official referee." We are inclined to think that sect. 28 of the Patent, &c., Act, does away with this option. The words appear to read, "The Court may employ an assessor, and shall do so on the application of either party, and shall try the case; and the action shall be tried without a jury, &c."

Ord. XXXVI. rule 5 of the Rules of the Supreme Court, provides, "The Court or a judge may direct the trial, without a jury, of any cause, matter, or issue, requiring any prolonged examination of documents or accounts, or any scientific or local examination which cannot, in their or his opinion, conveniently be made with a jury;" and rule 6: "In any other cause or matter, upon the application of any party thereto, for a trial with a jury of the cause or matter, or any issue of fact, an order shall be made for a trial with a jury." These rules, together with the provisions of sect. 28 of the Patent Act, would show that the better opinion probably is that, unless a judge or the Court otherwise orders, the constitution of the Court shall be a judge sitting without a jury, and with or without an assessor.

The grounds of application for a trial by jury would be that the evidence shows a conflict of testimony in material parts, or that grave questions of credibility are likely to arise, or that a charge of fraud is made against either party.

Mr. Hindmarch, at p. 291 of his celebrated work, says: "Few causes require so much care and industry in preparing for trial as patent actions, in which very nice points of law and difficult questions of fact must often be decided between the parties; and it will frequently happen that a party will succeed or fail in obtaining a verdict according to the industry with which he has got up his case for trial. Properly to understand the questions raised in such actions and prepare the necessary proofs, a competent knowledge not only of law, but also of science in general and the useful arts, are essentially requisite."

It is no ground for postponing the trial of an action for infringement that a petition has been presented by the defendant or any other person under sect. 26 to revoke the patent.

We have seen that proceedings for revocation are similar to, and for the same purpose as, scire facias prior to the Act of 1883. In Muntz v. Foster (c), it had been held that the fact of a writ of scire facias being pending was no ground for staying the action for infringement. Tindal, C. J., said: "As a general rule, a plaintiff has a right to have his cause go on for trial according to the ordinary course of business. Special circumstances may exist upon which the Court may see fit to interfere; but the present does not appear to us to be a case in which we ought to interfere by staying the proceedings in the action."

(c) 2 Web. P. C. 93 (n.), 1 Dowl. & Low. 942.

The ground of this decision was that the plaintiff in the action for infringement, being defendant in the proceedings by scire facias, had not the conduct of those proceedings, and that the defendant in the action for infringement might delay them; but where in Patteson v. Holland (d), an action for infringement had been tried, and a rule nisi for a new trial had been obtained and argued, and it appeared that another action was pending in that Court for another infringement of the same patent, and that a scire facias had been sued out to repeal the patent, the Court suspended their judgment upon the rule for a new trial, and ordered the trial of the other action to be postponed until after the trial of the scire facias.

And where a verdict had already gone for the Crown on scire facias, but a new trial was pending, the plaintiff was not permitted to proceed to trial with his action for infringement until the rule for the new trial in scire facias had been disposed of (e).

In an action for infringement the plaintiff has the right of beginning and of replying, notwithstanding that the burden of proof may really be on the defendant, as, for instance, where the case principally turns upon questions of prior user or prior publication, which are introduced by the defendant. It sometimes happened that this privilege, particularly in cases of conflicting evidence, was of great value, and for the purpose of snatching it from the plaintiff the defendant did not wait for the plaintiff to commence his action, but commenced proceedings himself by scire facias to repeal the patent, so as to place himself in the position of plaintiff. But, by sect. 26, sub-sect. 7, of the Act of 1883, it is provided that in cases where it is sought to revoke a patent, "The defendant shall be entitled to begin and give evidence in support of the patent, and if the plaintiff gives evidence impeaching the validity of the patent, the defendant shall be entitled to reply."

The plaintiff must give evidence of the issues, which he is bound to prove. It is for him to support his patent and to establish its validity. He must prove his patent if the grant be denied. This is done by producing the patent itself, with the great seal—or, under the Act of 1883, the seal of the Patent Office—attached to it; sect. 12, sub-sect. 2, provides that, "A patent so sealed shall have the same effect as if it were sealed with the great seal of the United Kingdom"; or, under sect. 89, if it be not convenient or possible to produce the original, "Printed or written copies or extracts, purporting to be certified by the comptroller and sealed with the seal of the Patent Office, of or from patents, specifications, disclaimers, and other documents in the Patent Office, and of or from registers and other books kept there, shall be admitted in evidence in all Courts in her Majesty's dominions, and in all proceedings, without further proof or production of the originals."

If the plaintiff sues as assignee, or under any derivative title, and his title is denied, the entry from the register of patents may be proved in the manner suggested by the 89th section.

Under the 96th section, "a certificate purporting to be under the hand of the comptroller as to any entry, matter or thing which he is authorized by this Act, or any general rules made thereunder, to make or do, shall be primâ facie evidence of the entry having been made, and of the contents thereof, and of the matter or thing having been done or left undone."

For instance, if an entry in the register is denied by the defendant, he may prove its omission by a certificate under the 96th section.

If the fact of infringement is denied, the plaintiff must be ready with evidence that the defendant has made, used or sold the article or process, and any one of these acts will satisfy the allegation of infringement, whether the infringement was intentional or not (f). Mere possession, unaccompanied by user, does not amount to infringement (g). Evidence that the defendant has sold articles made by a patented process, or by a patented machine, will be sufficient (h). If the defendant has imitated the plaintiff's process, or substituted chemical or mechanical equivalents, he will have infringed the patent (i), and the plaintiff must be ready with expert and other evidence to satisfy the Court that the defendant has substantially imitated his process or article. It is an infringement to import and use or sell a patented article; although it is no infringement to merely import and no more (k). If an article, by its appearance or properties, can be distinguished as having been made by a patented process, and the defendant will not permit the plaintiff to see how it is made, Lord Ellenborough held, that a primâ facie case had been made out, which it was for the defendant to rebut (l). But the mere fact that there is a similarity of appearance between an article made by the patented process and the alleged infringement, is not sufficient: there must be reasonably satisfactory evidence that a similar article could not be produced in any other manner; that, in fact, it carries the footprint of the invention with it (m). It will be observed, that when expert witnesses are called for the purpose of proving infringement in this manner, they must be asked whether there is a similarity between the patented article and the alleged infringement, and also whether there is any other process, except the patented process, which will produce that similarity; but they cannot be asked their opinion as to whether or not there has been infringement. That is a question for the jury, or the Court in the absence of a jury (n).

The Court will consider the circumstances of the case, the behaviour of the witnesses and their credibility, when considering the question of infringement or no infringement.

In Clark v. Adie (e), Lord Blackburn said:—"Whenever a man knowing for the first time of an invention, either by seeing a machine at work or by reading a specification, proceeds to do what he never did before, and takes a part of the invention, it is always a very strong argumentum ad hominem to say: You are, by the very fact of taking this, making evidence against yourself that it was a new invention; otherwise, why did you take it? You are making evidence against yourself that at all events the part you took was new, or why did you take it? and whenever there is a case of theft or stealing knowingly, that observation ought to have some weight, although I think in practice it has more weight given to it than it ought to have. But where there is a case of an innocent infringement of property, by an unwitting use of this sort, that observation can have no weight against the party in the slightest degree, and I think it ought not to have any."

The burden of proving infringement is strictly on the plaintiff, and if he does not satisfactorily prove it there is no necessity of entering upon the defendant's case on other matters. The plaintiff must always give evidence, when the alleged infringement is the sale or use of an article, that it was not made by himself or his agents (p).

(n) Per Lord Wensleydale in Seed v. Higgins, 8 H. L. Cas. 550.

When the defendant alleges that there is a defect or insufficiency in the specification, the burden of proving that there is no such defect is on the plaintiff.

We have seen (q) that it is for the jury to say whether a specification is sufficient or intelligible or not; it is for the Court to place a construction upon the language used in the specification. The plaintiff must therefore be prepared with evidence of an expert character as to the sufficiency of the specification; and in selecting this evidence the plaintiff cannot be better guided than by the judgment of Sir George Jessel in Plimpton v. Malcolmson (r): he must not select eminent engineers or celebrated chemists as the persons to whom the specification must be intelligible, but he must choose "ordinary workmen" in the particular branch of trade to which the invention refers—"not a careless man, but a careful man, though not possessed of that great scientific knowledge or power of invention which would enable him by himself unaided to supplement a defective description or correct an erroneous description." He may, of course, call eminent engineers, but their evidence can only be, "placing myself in the position of an ordinary workman I think it would or would not be intelligible or sufficient to me." If the specification be not sufficiently clear to be understood by an ordinary workman (a witness for the plaintiff), witnesses will not be allowed to be called to explain the intention of the patentees, and the plaintiffs will be non-suited (s).

Experiments conducted for the express purpose of manufacturing evidence, with a view to litigation, are to be looked at with distrust (t).

The plaintiff must, if the matter be put in issue, prove that the title, provisional specification and complete specification, correspond and substantially describe the same invention (u).

If it is alleged by the defendant that the invention is illegal or useless, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff (x).

So the plaintiff must be prepared, if he intends to claim damages, and not an account, to prove the damage which he has sustained. If he has been in the habit of granting royalties, the amount of royalties to which he would have become entitled is the proper measure of his damages; as to the measure of damages in other cases, see ante, pp. 177 and 178.

When the defendant pleads that the grantee of the letters patent was not the true and first inventor, or that the invention was not new, it will be sufficient if the plaintiff gives some primâ facie evidence of novelty (y). It will be sufficient to call one or two persons acquainted practically with the trade to which the invention refers, to say that they never heard of it, or saw or heard of its having been put in practice or published before the date of the patent. Gibbs, C. J., said: "The first witness, a man of considerable experience, had never seen locks with the lips so perforated; primâ facie that is good evidence; but when the question is, whether this had existence previous to the patent, fifty witnesses proving that they never saw it before would be of no avail if one was called who had seen it and practised it" (z).

The plaintiff having given this primâ facie evidence, the burden of proof as to prior user or prior publication is shifted to the defendant, and if he would invalidate the patent he must prove his case.

We have previously discussed what amounts to prior user and prior publication (a). The evidence which the defendant brings must be complete and satisfactory, and the question is one of fact.

(z) Manton v. Manton, Davis, P. C. 350.

If the defendant has succeeded in establishing a case against the plaintiff, the latter will be permitted, before the defendant sums up, to adduce rebutting evidence. In Penn v. Jack and Others (b), Sir W. Page-Wood, V.-C., said: "I think the plaintiff is entitled to adduce evidence, in reply, for the purpose of rebutting the case set up by the defendants; and for this reason, that it is quite impossible for him to know what is the nature of the evidence which is to be produced. The defendants, who contest the validity of the invention, have in effect put in a plea denying the novelty of the plaintiff's patent; and the affirmative of the issue thus raised in reality rests with the defendants, who are not obliged to give the names of their witnesses. How can the plaintiff possibly meet such a case until he hears the evidence for the defence, and knows what their witnesses will prove? I should be very sorry to have to put the parties to all the expense and delay of a new trial, which I should have to direct, if this evidence were excluded. Besides which, the witnesses are at hand and ready, and the sensible and obvious course is to examine them now. The practice at common law is stated in Taylor on Evidence; and it appears that where, as here, several issues are joined, the plaintiff may content himself with adducing evidence in support of those issues which he is bound to prove, reserving the right of rebutting his adversary's proofs, in the event of the defendant establishing a prima facie case with respect to the issues which lie upon him. In support of this proposition, Shaw v. Beek (c) is cited, where Parke, B., used the following expression: 'But Abbott, C. J., laid down what appears to me to be a more reasonable rule, by holding that the defendant was bound to prove his plea, and that the plaintiff might answer it by additional evidence.' Other instances are also mentioned, all showing the wide discretion given to the judge in allowing evidence to be given by the plaintiff in reply. The plaintiff has put in his letters patent as formal evidence of his title. The defendants then plead want of novelty, and give, in proof of the issues thus raised by them, special evidence, which the plaintiff is entitled to rebut, by evidence, in reply. Regarding this case as one of an affirmative plea, the burden of proving which rests on the defendants, I feel bound to admit the evidence proposed to be given by the plaintiff in reply."

(a) Ante, pp. 34 and 41.

Although the plaintiff may, as of right, rebut the case made by the defendant, upon any issue which rests with the defendant, where the plaintiff has given such rebutting evidence, the defendant will not be allowed to strengthen the case which he had made by adducing further evidence; and this will apply with greater force when the defendant's counsel has summed up the evidence which has been offered (d).

At the hearing of the action, no objection will be allowed, either to the particulars of objections, or to the particulars of breaches, and any evidence will be received which they are wide enough to admit of. If there is any vagueness or insufficiency in the particulars, the party requiring further information must apply for it to a judge in chambers, within reasonable time before the trial of the action; but they will not be allowed to permit the opposite side to go to trial, and then to submit that, for want of sufficient particularity in the objection, the evidence is not admissible (e).

(e) Neilson v. Harford, 8 M. & W. 806; Hull v. Bolland, 1 H. & N. 134.

In Sykes v. Howarth (f), the plaintiff delivered particulars of breaches in May, 1878, which stated that the defendant had at divers times between the 29th of May, 1879, and the commencement of the action, infringed the plaintiff's patent by the manufacture, or sale, or use of fancy rollers, and in particular by fancy rollers manufactured and sold by or covered with cards, by the defendant, for Messrs. Shaw and Mr. Smith. In July, 1878, the statement of defence was delivered. It stated, "The defendant has made and sold to Messrs. Samuel Shaw and Co. and Mr. Charles Smith, in the particulars of breaches in this action respectively mentioned, and to other persons, certain cards (in all six sets), which were all $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in width;" and the defendant, in answer to interrogatories, disclosed the name of Hirst as one of the persons supplied with such sets of cards. Mr. Justice Fry admitted evidence in Hirst's case. He said: "The defendant did not apply for amended particulars, according to the case of Hull v. Bolland (supra). It appears to me I have to inquire what is the meaning of the particulars. I find that the case of Hirst is within the literal meaning of the particulars. If I had found that the case of Hirst was likely to create surprise, or likely to introduce any point not raised in Smith's or Shaw's case, I should probably have given an opportunity to the defendant to bring any fresh evidence." The learned judge would not have ruled that the plaintiff was prevented from giving the evidence in Hirst's case, but he would have allowed the defendant to rebut it.

These decisions must not be confused with a case where, for example, the particulars alleged infringement or prior user at London and Liverpool. In such a case no act of infringement or prior user would be admitted in evidence which did not occur at London or Liverpool, but if the words were London, Liverpool, or elsewhere, then the evidence might extend to any part of the country, because any evidence would come within the strict meaning of the objections.

Upon the trial no evidence will be received in support of any issue which is not raised in the pleadings. In Bovill v. Goodier (g) it was held that an objection to the validity of a patent on the ground of the expiration of a foreign patent for the same invention, cannot be taken at the hearing of a suit to restrain the infringement of a patent unless it has been raised by the answer.

CHAPTER XI.

QUESTIONS FOR COURT AND JURY.

WE have seen that as a rule actions for the infringement of letters patent are directed to be tried before the Court without a jury. Still, under special circumstances, the parties, or either of them, may obtain an order to try before a jury. Under these circumstances it will still be material to consider what are the questions which the Court should leave to the jury, and which are left to the decision of the Court.

As to the specification. The construction is for the Court (a); and the rules of construction are similar to those which govern the construction of other documents (b). In Hills v. Evans (c); Lord Westbury said: "It is undoubtedly true, as a proposition of law, that the construction of a specification, as the construction of all other written instruments, belongs to the Court; but a specification of an invention contains most generally, if not always, some technical terms, some phrases of art, some processes, and requires generally the aid of the light derived from what are called surrounding circumstances. It is, therefore, an admitted rule of law that the explanation of the words or technical terms of art, the phrases used in commerce, and the proofs and results of the processes which are described (and in a chemical patent the ascertainment of chemical equivalents), that all these are matters of fact upon which evidence may be given, contradictory testimony may be adduced, and upon which undoubtedly it is the province and the right of a jury to decide. But when these portions of a specification are abstracted and made the subject of evidence, and therefore brought within the province of the jury, the direction to be given to the jury with regard to the construction of the rest of the patent, which is conceived in ordinary language, must be a direction given only conditionally, that is to say, a direction as to the meaning of the patent upon the hypothesis or the basis of the jury arriving at a certain conclusion with regard to the meaning of those terms, the signification of those phrases, the truth of those processes, and the result of the technical procedure described in the specification. And so the rule is given by Parke, B., in delivering the judgment of the Court of Exchequer in the case, I think, of Neilson v. Harford (d). The language of the learned judge, which I adopt, is in these words: 'The construction of all written instruments belongs to the Court alone, whose duty it is to construe all such instruments as soon as the true meaning of the words in which they are couched and the surrounding circumstances, if any, have been ascertained as facts by the jury; and it is the duty of the jury to take the construction from the Court, either absolutely, if there be no words to be construed as words of art or phrases used in commerce, and no surrounding circumstances to be ascertained, or conditionally, when those words or circumstances are necessarily referred to them.' Now, adopting that as the rule in the comparison of two specifications, each of which is filled with terms of art and with the description of technical processes, the duty of the Court would be confined to this—to give the legal construction of such documents taken independently. But, after that duty is discharged, there would remain a most important function to be still performed, which is the comparison of the two instruments when they have received their legal exposition and interpretation; and as it is always a matter of evidence what external thing is indicated and denoted by any description, when the jury have been informed of the meaning of the description contained in each specification, the work of comparing the two, and ascertaining whether the words, as interpreted by the Court, contained in specification A, do or do not denote the same external matter as the words, as interpreted and explained by the Court, contained in specification B, is a matter of fact, and is, I conceive, a matter within the province of the jury, and not within the function of the Court."

(a) Hills v. Evans, 31 L. J., Ch. 456; Seed v. Higgins, 8 H. L. Cas. 561; Bovill v. Pimm, 11 Ex. 740.

Epitomising this elaborate judgment. When the language used is that which has an ordinary and legal meaning the question is, what has the man said? not what did he intend to say? and, therefore, the Court will place the legal meaning on his words. When the language used is that which has no ordinary legal meaning, or which under different circumstances may have two or more ordinary legal meanings, the question is, as a fact, with what meaning did the writer use the words or expressions which he has used? and that is a question which the Court should require the jury to solve. The matter could not be placed more lucidly than it is by Lord Westbury in the last dozen lines of the judgment which we have quoted.

It is for the jury to say whether the specification is intelligible (m) or not, and it is for the Court to direct the jury as to the class of persons to whom it must be intelligible (n).

It is for the jury to say whether the specification is sufficient or not, that is, whether it contains a sufficient description of the invention; but it is for the Court to inform the jury the degree of sufficiency which the law requires in specifications (o).

(m) Neilson v. Harford, 1 Web. P. C. 295.

(n) See cases cited at pp. 72 to 76 et seq.

The novelty of the invention is a question for the jury. Questions of prior user or prior publication are always questions of fact, and it is for the jury to compare what has been done before and what is set up as being new, and to say whether or not they are identical. And so any document which is said to amount to prior publication must be construed by the Court, but it is for the jury to compare it with the specification and to say whether the described matter is the same or not (p).

The utility of the invention is also for the jury, subject to the directions of the Court as to the degree of utility which the law requires for the purpose of supporting the validity of a patent (q).

The question of infringement is for the jury. In De la Rue v. Dickinson (r), Campbell, C. J., said: "There may well be a case where the judge may and ought to take upon himself to say that the plaintiff has offered no evidence to be left to the jury to prove infringement, as if there were a patent for a chemical composition, and the evidence was that the defendant had constructed and used a machine for combing wool. But, if the evidence has a tendency to show that the defendant has used substantially the same means to obtain the same result as specified by the plaintiff, and scientific witnesses have sworn that the defendant actually has used such means, the question becomes one of fact, mixed with law, which the judge is bound to submit to the jury.”

In Seed v. Higgins (s), Lord Chelmsford in the House of Lords said: “What the defendant had done in any case was of course a question of fact, but whether, on proof of certain acts having been done by a defendant, the plaintiff had any case to go to a jury, was a question for the judge” (t).

CERTIFICATES.

SECT. 31 of the Patents, &c., Act, 1883, is as follows:—

“In an action for infringement of a patent, the Court or a judge may certify that the validity of the patent came in question, and if the Court or a judge so certifies, then in any subsequent action for infringement, the plaintiff in that action, on obtaining a final order or judgment in his favour, shall have his full costs, charges and expenses as between solicitor and client, unless the Court or judge trying the action certifies that he ought not to have the same.”

Similar provisions were contained in 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 83, and also in the 43rd section of the Patent Law Amendment Act, 1883.

The object of these sections is to prevent patentees of important inventions being ruined by successive actions, which they are bound to bring to restrain infringements. Manufacturers banding themselves together to defeat a patentee's rights in this manner.

The Act of William IV. cited above gave the patentee a right to treble costs, but this was taken away by 5 & 6 Vict. c. 97, which gave him full costs; and now, as we have seen, costs as between solicitor and client are substituted for full costs.

To acquire the protection of the 31st section a certificate is requisite, and this should be applied for at the trial of the action, and the application must be made to the Court or judge who have tried the cause (a).

(a) Gillet v. Green, 7 M. & W. 347.

The Court have no power to order full costs upon the first trial in which the validity of the patent came in question, the words of the statute being "in any subsequent action for infringement" (b).

Where several simultaneous actions have been brought, and one of them has been made a test action and proceeded with to trial, upon a certificate being given in that action it will not operate upon the others (c).

An action was compromised at the trial by a verdict being entered for the plaintiff in the action for 40s. damages and costs, with all usual certificates. Subsequently, upon an ex parte application, the judge endorsed on the record a certificate that the record in a certain action, wherein Bovill was plaintiff and Keyworth was defendant, and the certificate thereon endorsed was given in evidence at the trial of this action (Bovill v. Hadley), it was held that this certificate was improperly granted, the record and certificate in the former action not having been given in evidence, and it not being under the circumstances a "usual certificate" within the contemplation of the parties (d). Upon the trial of the second action the record of the first action with the endorsement must be produced, but not before the verdict, in such a manner as to prejudice the second trial (e).

The certificate of the judge, which is granted for the purpose of affecting the costs in future cases, is one which cannot be given by consent. In obtaining this certificate the plaintiff and the country are the parties, not the defendant, and the judge is bound to protect the interests of the country and to see that the certificate is not given when the validity of the patent has not, in fact, been proved to the satisfaction of the Court; otherwise, there is nothing to prevent collusive actions being merely brought for the purpose of obtaining this valuable privilege—a privilege which can be used as an enormous lever, preventing persons from incurring the risk of a conflict with the patentee (f).

We have seen that the object of this section is to prevent the patentee from being repeatedly harassed by the validity of his patent being called in question in succession of actions. It does not appear ever to have been decided whether, when in a second action the validity of the patent is not called in question, but there is a mere denial of infringement, the section applies. It is submitted that such a case was not within the contemplation of the legislature, and that the judge should direct only party and party costs whenever the validity of the patent is not called in question.

Sect. 29 of the Act of 1883, after providing for the delivery of particulars of breaches and objections, enacts: “(6) On taxation of costs regard shall be had to the particulars delivered by the plaintiff and by the defendant, and they respectively shall not be allowed any costs in respect of any particular delivered by them unless the same is certified by the Court or a judge to have been proven, or to have been reasonable and proper without regard to the general costs of the case.”

The certificates granted under this section must not be confused with the certificate under sect. 31. The object of sect. 29 is to provide what costs shall be payable in the action itself, and the object of sect. 31 is to provide for the costs of future actions.

Care must be taken at the trial to ask the judge to certify as to each particular breach mentioned in the particulars of breaches, and as to each particular objection, and no costs of witnesses, or of, and incidental to, such breach or objection, as is not specially certified for, will be allowed (g).

If an action is not tried out, it is obvious that a difficulty may arise as to costs, since the parties have had no opportunity to prove or disprove their particulars. In Greaves v. The Eastern Counties Railway Co. (h) it was held that where the defendant had delivered particulars of objections, and just before trial the plaintiff had abandoned his action, thus giving the defendant no opportunity of proving or disproving his objections, the defendant was entitled to the costs of the objections and of the witnesses, for the act did not apply, except where the cause came on for trial. It will be observed, however, that there is a difference between the language of the 43rd sect. of the Patent Law Amendment Act, 1852, and the language of the 29th sect. sub-sect. (6) of the Patents, &c. Act, 1883. In the former case the words were: "Shall not be allowed any costs in respect of any particular unless certified by the judge before whom the trial was had to have been proved." Under the latter statute: "Shall not be allowed any costs in respect of any particular delivered by them, unless the same is certified by the Court or a judge to have been proven, or to have been reasonable and proper." It is submitted that the practice under the new act when the action has not been tried is to take out a summons before a judge at chambers for a certificate, on the ground that the particulars were reasonable and proper; such summons should be supported by an affidavit, alleging that the plaintiff or defendant had reasonable grounds for believing that he would at the trial have been able to prove the particulars in respect of which application is made; but a certificate so granted will not operate in a manner to entitle the plaintiff to costs as between solicitor and client in any subsequent action.

(g) Honiball v. Bloomer, 10 5 M. & W. 387.
Exch. 538. See also Losh v. Hague, (h) 1 E. & E. 961.

We have seen that since the Judicature Acts, the Common Law Division and the Chancery Division can either of them grant full relief in an action for the infringement of a patent, granting both an injunction and damages, or an account. In olden times the Common Law Courts merely inquired into damages, and if less than 40s. was recovered a question arose as to whether or not County Court costs should not alone be allowed; but now in every patent case an injunction may be granted, and this removes the case from the operation of 30 & 31 Vict. c. 142, s. 5.

The Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, provide for cases where the higher scale and lower scale of costs are to be allowed; and in future, notwithstanding that an injunction is granted, it will be necessary to ask the judge at the trial to certify for costs on the higher scale.

Order LXV. r. 8 provides: "In causes and matters commenced after these rules come into operation, solicitors shall be entitled to charge and be allowed the fees set forth in the column headed 'lower scale,' in Appendix N. in all causes and matters, and no higher fees shall be allowed in any case, except such as are by this order otherwise provided for; and in causes and matters pending at the time when these rules come into operation, to which the higher scale of costs previously in force was applicable, the same scale shall continue to be applied."

Rule 9.—"The fees set forth in the column headed 'higher scale' in Appendix N. may be allowed, either generally in any cause or matter, or as to the costs of any particular application made, or business done, in any cause or matter, if, on special grounds arising out of the nature and importance, or the difficulty or urgency of the case, the Court or a judge shall, at the trial or hearing, or further consideration of the cause or matter, or at the hearing of every application therein, whether the cause or matter shall or shall not be brought to trial or hearing, or to further consideration (as the case may be) so order; or if the taxing officer, under directions given to him for that purpose by the Court or a judge, shall think that such allowance ought to be made upon such special grounds as aforesaid."

Sect. 49 of the Judicature Act, 1873, provides that there shall be no appeal as to costs; but this was held not to apply where the costs were a matter of right, and not discretionary (i). Under the Rules of Court, which were in operation prior to the 24th October, 1883, the question of higher or lower scale was a matter of right (k). Hence, in Re Terrell (l), the Court of Appeal held that there was an appeal, but now it will be observed that the order is in the absolute discretion of the judge, and, therefore, it is submitted there is no appeal.

The directors of a limited company, whose servants have infringed a patent, may be ordered to pay costs personally. Sir W. Page-Wood, in Betts v. De Vitre (m), said: "Where there is a wilful act against the rights of a patentee, after he has obtained a verdict, and the certificate of a judge, that his title came in question, all the world must be taken to know that that was fairly and completely tried and disposed of, and, if they infringe the patent, they infringe it with a liability for costs." The reasoning of this decision is not quite clear, and it is submitted that, should the question arise again, the opinion of the Court of Appeal might be taken on the subject, regard being had to the case of Denley v. Blore (n).

Judgment having been recovered, minutes of judgment should be prepared. The minutes will be in accordance with one or other of the precedents given hereafter. We have drawn attention in previous pages to those points which should be attended to in preparing these minutes. Care should be exercised when an account is directed to be taken that provision be made for the payment of costs to the plaintiff up to and including the hearing, otherwise the payment of all costs will be delayed until the final account has been taken, which in some cases has been known to amount to a delay of years.

CHAPTER XIII.

PRACTICE ON PETITION FOR REVOCATION.

ALL persons are not empowered to petition for revocation of a patent.

The parties who may petition are specified in sect. 26, sub-sect. 4 of the Patents Act, 1883.

The petition must be presented to the High Court of Justice.

A form of petition, applicable to such a case, is given hereafter (a).

Sub-sect. (5.) “The plaintiff must deliver with his petition particulars of the objections on which he means to rely, and no evidence shall, except by leave of the Court or a judge, be admitted in proof of any objection of which particulars are not so delivered.”

The practice as to particulars is precisely similar to that in an action for infringement. It will, however, be observed that the judge has no power of certifying under sect. 31 that the validity of the patent came in question, nor will a certificate granted in a previous action for infringement affect the question of costs in proceedings for revocation, the words of sect. 31 being, “in any subsequent action for infringement.”

Sect. 100 of the Judicature Act, defines “Pleading” as including any petition or summons, and also as including the statements, in writing, of the claims or demand of any plaintiff, and of the defence of any defendant thereto, and of the reply of the plaintiff to any counter-claim of a defendant.

Ord. XXXI. r. 1, of the Rules of the Supreme Court, gives power to the Court, or a judge, to permit interrogatories "in any other cause or matter," to be delivered by either party to the other. It is presumed that leave will be given to the respondent (called defendant in the Patent Act, 1883) to deliver interrogatories to the petitioner, and circumstances may arise when it would be just to permit the petitioner to examine the respondent. The rules as to interrogatories will be similar to those in an action for infringement.

The respondent having entered an appearance to the petition, the same will be set down for trial.

There does not appear to be any provision that the petition should be verified by affidavit, or that the respondent should deliver an answer.

The respondent should be careful that the particulars of objections are sufficiently precise and accurate, otherwise he may be taken by surprise at the hearing (b). He may apply for further and better particulars in the same manner as in an action for infringement; and under sect. 26, sub-sect. (6), "Particulars delivered may be, from time to time, amended by leave of the Court or a judge."

Sect. 28, sub-sect. (1), provides that the mode of trial of a petition for revocation shall be similar to that of an action for infringement.

Sect. 26, sub-sect. 7. "The defendant shall be entitled to begin and give evidence in support of the patent, and if the plaintiff gives evidence impeaching the validity of the patent, the defendant shall be entitled to reply."

The evidence which will be required of the respondent (defendant), in the first instance, will be very slight, and will be similar to that which he would give as to the validity of the patent were he plaintiff in an action for infringement (c). The petitioner will then have to prove the case he alleges in his petition and particulars, and the respondent has the right of reply. It is merely to preserve this right to reply, that the respondent is made practically plaintiff at the trial.

(b) Ante, p. 204.

(c) Ante, p. 225.

It is very doubtful whether sect. 29, sub-sect. (6), will be held to apply to petitions for revocation. Sub-sect. (1) of the same section, limiting, apparently, the operation of that section to actions for infringement, as distinguished from sect. 28, which deals with both actions for infringement and petitions for revocation.

CHAPTER XIV.

ACTION FOR INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN THREATS.

SECT. 32 of the Patents Act, 1883, provides, “ Where any person claiming to be the patentee of an invention, by circulars, advertisements, or otherwise, threatens any other person with any legal proceedings, or liability in respect of any alleged manufacture in sale or purchase of the invention, any person or persons aggrieved thereby may bring an action against him, and may obtain an injunction against the continuance of such threats, and may recover such damage (if any) as may have been sustained thereby, if the alleged manufacture, use, sale, or purchase, to which the threats related, was not, in fact, an infringement of any legal rights of the person making such threats: Provided that this section shall not apply if the person making such threats, with due diligence, commences and prosecutes an action for infringement of his patent.”

This section gives the threatened party the power of testing the validity of the patent.

The words printed above in italics show that in defence to an action under the 32nd sect. the patentee may set up the validity of his patent and may choose to try the same as a defendant.

This is neither an action for infringement under sect. 29 nor a petition for revocation under sect. 26, and therefore the provisions as to particulars of objections do not apply. The provisions of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, as to particulars do not appear to be available for the obtaining of particulars of objections in such a case, it being remembered that the patentee is defendant; that the cause of action is not to establish the patent but to restrain threats, and that the patentee himself has to set up his valid patent by way of substantive defence. The patentee is at such disadvantage in such form of action that it is to his interest forthwith to commence an action for infringement, and to apply for a stay of the action brought against him.

Forms of indorsement to writ, &c., under this section, are given hereafter.

It has been deemed advisable to limit the remarks in this work to such points of practice as pertain particularly to the law of patents. The general practice of the Courts has not been dealt with, and the practitioner is referred to the ordinary books of practice for such general information as he may require.

FORMS.

INDORSEMENT ON WRIT.

1. Action for Infringement.

THE plaintiff's claim is:—

1. For an injunction to restrain the defendant from infringing the plaintiff's patent, No. ———, and dated ———. Injunction.

2. For damages for the infringement of the said patent, or alternatively that an account may be taken of all the machines made in infringement of the said patent which have been manufactured, or sold, or let for hire, or used by or by the order, or for the use and profit, of the defendant, and also of the gains and profits made by the defendant by reason of such manufacture, sale, or letting for hire or use, and that the defendant may by a day to be appointed by the Court be ordered to pay to the plaintiff the amount of such gains and profits. Damages.
Account.

3. That the defendant may be ordered upon oath to deliver up to the plaintiff, or break up, or otherwise render unfit for use, all machines or parts of machines made in infringement of the plaintiff's said patent, which are in the custody or power of the defendant, his servants, or agents. Order for destruction.

2. Action to restrain Threats.

THE plaintiff's claim is:—

1. For an injunction restraining the defendant from, by circulars, advertisements, or otherwise, threatening to take legal or other proceedings against persons manufacturing, using, or selling an alleged invention of the defendants, to wit, ———. The said threats being to the prejudice of the plaintiff. Injunction.

2. For damages in respect of the injury sustained by the plaintiff by reason of the circulars, advertisements, or other threats of the defendant to take legal or other proceedings against persons manufacturing, using, or selling the said alleged invention.

3. PETITION FOR THE REVOCATION OF A PATENT.

In the High Court of Justice,
Chancery [or Queen's Bench] Division.

In the matter of Letters Patent granted to _____, of _____, dated _____, and numbered _____, and in the matter of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, sect. 26.

To Her Majesty's High Court of Justice.

The humble petition of Sir _____, Her Majesty's Attorney-General in England (or Ireland, or Lord Advocate in Scotland) (or other person authorized to petition by sect. 26, sub-sect. 4 of the Patents, &c. Act, 1883) (a),

Sheweth as follows:—

Grant.

1. Letters patent, dated the _____, 18—, have been granted to _____, for [title of invention]. The said letters patent were sealed on the _____.

Not first inventor.

2. On the said [date of letters patent], the said [name of grantee] was not the true and first inventor of the said invention.

Obtained in fraud of petitioner.

3. The said letters patent were obtained by the said [name of grantee], in fraud of the rights of your petitioner, who was the true and first inventor of such invention, [or, in fraud of the rights of J_____ S_____, who was the true and first inventor of the said invention. The said J_____ S_____ died on the _____ day of _____, intestate, and letters of administration of his estate were granted to your petitioner out of the Probate Division of this Honorable Court, on the _____ day of _____].

Invention not new.

4. The said invention was not at the time of the date of the said letters patent a new invention as to the public use and exercise thereof within this realm.

Had been used by petitioner.

5. Your petitioner (or person under or through whom he claims an interest in any trade, business, or manufacture) had prior to the date of the said letters patent publicly manufactured, used, or sold within this realm the alleged invention (or a part of the alleged invention, to wit, such part as relates to, &c., &c.), in respect of which such letters patent were granted as aforesaid.

Not subject matter for patent.

6. The said alleged invention was not any manner of new manufacture, the subject of letters patent and grant of privilege within sect. 6 of the Statute of Monopolies.

(a) If the petition be presented by any person under sect. 26, sub-sect. 4 (c), (d), or (e), the name and address, and description of petitioner must appear; if under (b), the fact of the authority of the Attorney-General must be stated. Glazbrook v. Gillatt, 9 Beav. 492.

Your petitioner humbly prays that the said letters patent may be revoked, or that such other order may be made in the premises as to this Honorable Court shall seem meet.

And your petitioner will ever pray.

It is intended to serve this petition on (b) _____, _____.

4. NOTICE OF MOTION FOR INTERLOCUTORY INJUNCTION.

In the High Court of Justice.

Chancery [or Queen's Bench] Division.

Between A. B. - - - - - Plaintiff,
C. D. - - - - - Defendant.

Take notice that this Honorable Court will be moved [if short notice of motion, by leave granted] on the _____ day of _____, or so soon thereafter as counsel can be heard by Mr. _____, of counsel for the above-named plaintiff, that an injunction may be awarded against the defendant to restrain the said defendant, his servants or agents until the trial of this action or further order from either directly or indirectly making, using, or putting in practice the invention described in the specification and drawings filed under the letters patent granted to the plaintiff [or assignor, or other predecessor in title of plaintiff], and numbered _____, or that such further order may be made in the premises as to the Court may seem meet.

5. AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF NOTICE OF MOTION.

I, _____ of _____, the above-named plaintiff, make oath and say,

1. Letters patent dated [_____] were granted to me under Grant. the seal of the Patent Office for an invention entitled "improvements, &c., &c.," for a period of fourteen years from the _____ day of _____.

2. At the time when the said letters patent were granted to Novelty. me the said invention was new as to the public use and exercise thereof within this realm.

(b) Here insert the names and addresses of all persons who, either as original grantees or by assignment, are registered under sect. 23 of the Patent, &c. Act, 1883, as interested on the patent.

A copy of the petition must be served personally, unless an order has been obtained for substituted service. The original must be shown if demanded. An order may be obtained for service out of the jurisdiction; see Daniell's Chancery Practice.

First inventor.

3. I am the true and first inventor of the said invention [or John Smith or other predecessor in title of the plaintiff, was the true and first inventor of the said invention].

Utility.

4. The said invention is of great public utility.

5. [State any particular facts, such as a previous action or long user, which have a tendency to cause a presumption of the validity of the patent.]

ment.

6. On the _____ day of _____ the defendant infringed the plaintiff's said patent by manufacturing [selling or using], etc. (c).

7. [The articles sold by the defendant were not manufactured by me or by my licensees or agents.]

8. I believe that the defendant intends to continue the infringement of the said letters patent, whereby my trade is greatly injured; persons refusing to purchase the patented articles from me [or I am unable to grant licences, or state any other grounds of special damage arising by reason of the continued infringement].

6. INTERLOCUTORY ORDER TO RESTRAIN INFRINGEMENT OF PATENT.

Form 1.

injunction.

Upon motion, &c. by counsel for the plaintiff, and upon hearing counsel for the defendant [or reading an affidavit of service of notice of this motion on the defendant; or, if moved ex parte before the defendant has appeared, the writ of summons issued in this action on the _____ day of _____] [enter affidavits in support and in opposition, if any], and the plaintiff, by his counsel, undertaking to abide by any order this Court may make as to damages, in case this Court should hereafter be of opinion that the defendant shall have sustained any, by reason of this order, which the plaintiff ought to pay [if so, and also undertaking to accept short notice of motion to dissolve the injunction hereby awarded], let an injunction be awarded to restrain the defendant T., until further order, from manufacturing any tube expanders similar to the tube expander which has been purchased by the defendant B., as in the plaintiff's writ mentioned, or otherwise constructed so as to imitate or resemble the roller expanding tool described in the specification in the plaintiff's letters patent in the said writ mentioned, and to restrain the defendants T. and B., their agents, &c., from selling or offering for sale, or otherwise parting with the custody

(c) Evidence should be adduced by supporting affidavits in case it is deemed that the defendant has infringed the patent. In Moore v. Bennett, 1880, M., No. 94, the evidence adduced was that of several of any tube expanders, or parts of any tube expanders, which have been so manufactured by the said defendant T. Liberty to either party to apply to expedite the hearing (d).

Form 2.

On usual undertaking as to damages, let an injunction be awarded against the defendants S. and C., to restrain the said defendants, their servants, &c., until the trial of this action or further order, from either directly or indirectly making, using, or putting in practice the invention described in the specification and drawings filed under the letters patent, granted to N., dated the, &c., and numbered 2190, and now vested by assignment in the plaintiff, or any part thereof, except as to any skates made by the plaintiff, or his agents or agent (e).

The same on terms.

7. INTERLOCUTORY INJUNCTION FOR INFRINGEMENT REFUSED ON TERMS.

Upon motion, &c. for injunction to restrain, &c., and the defendant, by his counsel, undertaking to keep an account of all moneys received or to be received by him, by reason of the sale or use of the parlour or roller skates in the writ mentioned, this Court does not think fit to make any order upon the said motion, but does order that the costs of the said motion be costs in the cause (f).

Refusal on terms.

8. INSPECTION, NOTICE OF MOTION FOR.

[Title as before.]

Take notice, that this honourable Court will be moved [if in the Chancery Division, before his lordship, Mr. Justice ———], on the part of the plaintiff, that the plaintiff, his solicitors and agents, ^{and}/_{or} two scientific witnesses, to be named in the notice hereinafter mentioned, may be at liberty at all seasonable times, and as often as may be requisite, upon giving three days' previous notice in writing to the defendants' solicitors, to enter into and upon the business premises of the defendants, where the process of decorating or printing tin or metal plates is carried on by the defendants, as stated in the plaintiff's statement of claim in this action, and to inspect and examine there the whole of the process by which such printed and decorated tin and metal plates are manufactured by the defendants; and to take, on pay-price for the same, and that the costs of this application may be costs in the action (h).

11. ORDER FOR INSPECTION OF DEFENDANTS' PROCESS BY EXPERTS.

Let I. and C., of, &c. be at liberty at all seasonable times, and as often as requisite, on giving three days' notice to the defendants, to enter into the business premises of the defendants where the process of decorating or printing tin and metal plates is carried on by the defendants, as stated in the plaintiff's statement of claim, and mentioned in the said affidavits, or some of them, and to inspect and examine there the whole of the process by which such printed and decorated tin (i) and metal plates are manufactured by the defendants, and to take, on paying the reasonable charges of the defendants for the same, samples of such plates, and upon and during such inspection to make such observations as may be necessary and expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information and evidence of the mode by which such plates are manufactured by the defendants (k).

(h) This was the notice of motion in The Patent Type Founding Co. v. Walter, reported at 5 H. & N. 192; 29 L. J., Ex. 207; 6 Jur., N. S. 103; 1 L. T. Rep., N. S. 382. The samples of type in this case were required for the purpose of analysis.

Notice of motion for inspection must be supported by affidavit; a fair prima facie case of validity and infringement must be made out. The order for inspection is frequently made upon the application for interlocutory injunction, and is sometimes made to include a cross order that the plaintiff shall permit the defendant to see and inspect the patented machine at work, and also to take samples. Ames v. Keasey, 22 L. J., Q. B. 84. The affidavit should show that there is such property or machinery as is required to be inspected, that the inspection is necessary for the purpose of the action. Shaw v. Bank of England, 22 L. J., Ex. 26. It should also show what the patent is for, so that the Court or judge may see that there is necessity for the inspection. The order will not be granted on the plaintiff's application, unless the Court is satisfied that it is essential to enable him to prove his case. Batley v. Kynock, L. R., 19 Eq. 90; Meadows v. Kirkmann, 29 L. J., Ex. 205. In The Singer Manufacturing Company v. Wilson, 13 W. R. 560, the Court refused to give the plaintiff inspection of the defendant's stock before judgment, but ordered the defendant to verify by affidavit all the different kinds of sewing machines which he had sold since the last disclaimer entered by the plaintiff, and to produce one of each sort for inspection.

(i) No order will be made on this application for the inspection of books, for which a separate order must be obtained. Vidi v. Smith, 3 E. & B. 969.

This action, coming on for trial the 11th and 12th days of April, 1877, and this day before this Court, in the presence of counsel for the plaintiff and the defendants, upon hearing an order, dated the 4th August, 1876, an affidavit of A. F. S., filed the 15th March, 1876; an affidavit of J. L., filed the 16th February, 1877, the bill, answers, orders, record for trial, and the certificate of the Master of the Rolls, the judge before whom the questions of fact were tried, that the validity of the letters patent of the 25th day of August, 1865, granted to A. V. N., and numbered 2190, hereinafter mentioned, came in question in the cause of P. v. M., 1875, P. 39, and upon hearing the said letters patent, and a certified printed copy of the specifications and drawings, filed under the said letters patent, and the indenture of assignment, dated the 10th day of January, 1866, and made between the said A. V. N., therein described, of the one part, and the plaintiff, J. L. P., of the other part, and registered in the Great Seal Patent Office on the day of the date thereof, the printed shorthand note of the evidence taken orally before this Court, on the trial of the said action of P. v. M., 1875, P. 39; of A. V. N., F. J. B., J. I., J. L. P., E. A. C., R. C. M., W. W. H. and E. J. C. W. and the exhibits marked 1, 2, and 4, then produced; the examination of H. J. A., W. B. P., W. G. Court of Bankruptcy of an assignment, dated the 11th August, 1865, by W. S. M., for the benefit of his creditors, and of a composition deed by the said W. S. M., in the year 1869, and what was alleged by counsel on both sides, and this Court being of opinion that the plaintiff has proved the breaches complained of, in the particulars of breaches delivered by him in this action, doth order that an injunction be awarded to restrain the defendants, their servants, agents, and workmen during the continuance of the letters patent, granted to A. V. N., dated the 25th day of August, 1865, and numbered 2190, and any extension of the term thereof, from using, or exercising, or causing or permitting to be used or exercised, the invention described in the hereinbefore mentioned specification and drawings, filed under the said letters patent, and from selling, letting for hire, or making any profitable use, or permitting the sale, letting for hire, or profitable use of any roller or runner skates not made by the plaintiff, or his licensees, and having applied thereto rollers or runners in manner described, and for the purposes mentioned in the said specification, or fitted with any apparatus for causing the skate to run in curved line, in the manner described in the said specification and drawings, or differing therefrom only colourably, and by the substitution of mere mechanical equivalents, and it is ordered that it be referred to the official referee in rotation, to inquire what sum of money is fit to be awarded to the plaintiff, to be paid by the defendants in respect of any damage sustained by the plaintiff up to the day of the date of this order, from the manufacture, sale, or letting for hire, of skates, being the same as the "Spiller" Skates, and "Wilson" Skates, in the pleadings in this action, and in the said order dated the 4th August, 1876, mentioned, or of any other skates made in infringement of the said letters patent, or otherwise from the sale, or use by the defendants of the said invention, or any apparatus in imitation of, or being only a colourable deviation from the said invention. And it is ordered, that the defendants, A. F. S. and T. C., do pay to the plaintiff, J. L. P., such sum of money as upon such inquiry shall be found fit, to be awarded to the plaintiff for such compensation as aforesaid, within twenty-one days after service of the official referee's report of the result of the said inquiry. And it is ordered, that the defendants, A. F. S. and T. C., do deliver up on oath to the plaintiff, or break up, or otherwise render unfit for use, all roller skates, or parts of roller skates so manufactured, or let for hire by, or by the order, or for the use of the defendants in infringements of the said letters patent as aforesaid, which are in the possession, custody, or power of the defendants, or either of them, or their, or either of their, servants or agents. And it is ordered that the defendant, O., do, within one month after the date of the chief clerk's certificate, pay unto the plaintiffs, N. and C., what shall be certified to be the amount of such profits. Direction for certificate that the validity of the plaintiff's patent came in question. And it is ordered that the defendant, O., pay to the plaintiffs their costs of this cause up to and including this hearing, and their costs of the trial by jury of the questions of fact directed to be tried by the said order, dated, &c., including the costs of a special jury; such costs to be taxed, &c. Liberty to apply in chambers touching subsequent costs, and otherwise to apply as advised (s).

25. JUDGMENT FOR THE DEFENDANT.

[Formal parts as above.]

The action having on the _____ day of _____ been tried before Mr. Justice _____ [and a common or special jury of the county of _____, and the jury having found a verdict for the defendant on the issues] and the said Mr. Justice _____ having ordered that judgment be entered for the defendant on the issues [certificate as to particulars of objections as in form]: therefore it is adjudged that the plaintiff recover nothing against the defendant, and that the defendant recover against the plaintiff £_____, for his costs of defence.

26. CERTIFICATES NECESSARY UNDER SECT. 29, SUB-SECT. 6, OF THE PATENTS, &C. ACT, 1883.

[Form of judgment for perpetual injunction, accounts of profits and damages as above.]

It is certified that the plaintiff has proved to the satisfaction of the Court the breaches mentioned in the particulars of breaches delivered by him, and numbered respectively 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, and that the particulars numbered 6 and 7, were, under the circumstances of the case, reasonable and proper.

[Form of judgment for defendant as above.]

It is certified that the defendant has proved to the satisfaction of the Court the objections mentioned in the particulars of objections delivered by him, and numbered respectively 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, and that the objections numbered 6 and 7 were, under the circumstances, reasonable and proper.

APPENDIX.

PATENTS, DESIGNS AND TRADE MARKS ACT, 1883.

46 & 47 VICT. c. 57.

An Act to amend and consolidate the Law relating to Patents for Inventions, Registration of Designs, and of Trade Marks.

[25th August, 1883.]

BE IT ENACTED by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

PART I.—PRELIMINARY.

1. This act may be cited as the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Short title Act, 1883.

2. This act is divided into parts, as follows:—

PART II.—Patents.

PART III.—Designs.

PART IV.—Trade Marks.

PART V.—General.

Division of act into parts.

3. This act, except where it is otherwise expressed, shall commence from and immediately after the 31st day of December, 1883.

Commencement of act.

PART II.—PATENTS.

Application for and Grant of Patent.

4. (1) Any person, whether a British subject or not, may make an application for a patent. [page 5]

Persons entitled to apply for patent.

(2) Two or more persons may make a joint application for a patent, and a patent may be granted to them jointly. [page 5]

Joint application.

5. (1) An application for a patent must be made in the form set forth in the first schedule to this act, or in such other form as may be from time to time prescribed; and must be left at, or sent by post to, the patent office in the prescribed manner. [pages 5, 12, 52]

Application and specification.

(2) An application must contain a declaration to the effect that the applicant is in possession of an invention, whereof he, or in the case of a joint application, one or more of the applicants, claims or claim to be the true and first inventor or inventors, and for which he or they desires or desire to obtain a patent; and must be accompanied by either a provisional or complete specification. [pages 5, 52]

Provisional specification.

(3) A provisional specification must describe the nature of the invention, and be accompanied by drawings, if required. [pages 52, 59]

Complete specification.

(4) A complete specification, whether left on application or subsequently, must particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention, and in what manner it is to be performed, and must be accompanied by drawings, if required. [pages 53, 64 et seq.]

Necessary contents of specification.

(5) A specification, whether provisional or complete, must commence with the title, and in the case of a complete specification must end with a distinct statement of the invention claimed. [pages 53, 83]

Reference of application to examiner.

6. The comptroller shall refer every application to an examiner, who shall ascertain and report to the comptroller whether the nature of the invention has been fairly described, and the application, specification, and drawings (if any) have been prepared in the prescribed manner, and the title sufficiently indicates the subject matter of the invention. [pages 53, 59]

Power for comptroller to refuse application or require amendment.

7. (1) If the examiner reports that the nature of the invention is not fairly described, or that the application, specification, or drawings has not or have not been prepared in the prescribed manner, or that the title does not sufficiently indicate the subject matter of the invention, the comptroller may require that the application, specification, or drawings be amended before he proceeds with the application. [pages 53, 90]

Appeal from comptroller.

(2) Where the comptroller requires an amendment, the applicant may appeal from his decision to the law officer.

Law officer may make order.

(3) The law officer shall, if required, hear the applicant and the comptroller, and may make an order determining whether and subject to what conditions, if any, the application shall be accepted.

Notice to be given to applicant.

(4) The comptroller shall, when an application has been accepted, give notice thereof to the applicant.

Where subsequent application before first sealed bears similar title, examiner to report to comptroller and give notice to applicants.

(5) If after an application has been made, but before a patent has been sealed, an application is made, accompanied by a specification bearing the same or a similar title, it shall be the duty of the examiner to report to the comptroller whether the specification appears to him to comprise the same invention; and, if he reports in the affirmative, the comptroller shall give notice to the applicants that he has so reported.

Comptroller determines whether applications are similar, and may refuse to seal second patent.

(6) Where the examiner reports in the affirmative, the comptroller may determine, subject to an appeal to the law officer, whether the invention comprised in both applications is the same, and if so he may refuse to seal a patent on the application of the second applicant.

Time for leaving complete specification.

8. (1) If the applicant does not leave a complete specification with his application, he may leave it at any subsequent time within nine months from the date of application. [pages 53, 59]

When specification deemed abandoned.

(2) Unless a complete specification is left within that time the application shall be deemed to be abandoned.

Comparison of provisional and complete specification.

9. (1) Where a complete specification is left after a provisional specification, the comptroller shall refer both specifications to an examiner for the purpose of ascertaining whether the complete specification has been prepared in the prescribed manner, and whether the invention particularly described in the complete specification is substantially the same as that which is described in the provisional specification. [pages 90, 92]

(2) If the examiner reports that the conditions hereinbefore contained have not been complied with, the comptroller may refuse to accept the complete specification unless and until the same shall have been amended to his satisfaction; but any such refusal shall be subject to appeal to the law officer. [page 53]

Power of comptroller to refuse until amended.

(3) The law officer shall, if required, hear the applicant and the comptroller, and may make an order determining whether and subject to what conditions, if any, the complete specification shall be accepted. [pages 53, 90]

Power of law officer.

(4) Unless a complete specification is accepted within twelve months from the date of application, then (save in the case of an appeal having been lodged against the refusal to accept) the application shall, at the expiration of those twelve months, become void.

When specification void.

(5) Reports of examiners shall not in any case be published or be open to public inspection, and shall not be liable to production or inspection in any legal proceeding, other than an appeal to the law officer under this act, unless the court or officer having power to order discovery in such legal proceeding shall certify that such production or inspection is desirable in the interests of justice, and ought to be allowed.

Reports of examiners to be private.

10. On the acceptance of the complete specification the comptroller shall advertise the acceptance; and the application and specification or specifications with the drawings (if any) shall be open to public inspection. [pages 54, 99]

Advertisement on acceptance of complete specification.

11. (1) Any person may at any time within two months from the date of the advertisement of the acceptance of a complete specification give notice at the patent office of opposition to the grant of the patent on the ground of the applicant having obtained the invention from him, or from a person of whom he is the legal representative, or on the ground that the invention has been patented in this country on an application of prior date, or on the ground of an examiner having reported to the comptroller that the specification appears to him to comprise the same invention as is comprised in a specification bearing the same or a similar title and accompanying a previous application, but on no other ground. [page 99]

Opposition to grant of patent.
Time and grounds for.

(2) Where such notice is given the comptroller shall give notice of the opposition to the applicant, and shall, on the expiration of those two months, after hearing the applicant and the person so giving notice, if desirous of being heard, decide on the case, but subject to appeal to the law officer.

After notice comptroller to decide.

(3) The law officer shall, if required, hear the applicant and any person so giving notice and being, in the opinion of the law officer, entitled to be heard in opposition to the grant, and shall determine whether the grant ought or ought not to be made.

Or on appeal, law officer.

(4) The law officer may, if he thinks fit, obtain the assistance of an expert, who shall be paid such remuneration as the law officer, with the consent of the treasury, shall appoint.

Who may obtain expert's assistance.

12. (1) If there is no opposition, or, in case of opposition, if the determination is in favour of the grant of a patent, the comptroller shall cause a patent to be sealed with the seal of the patent office. [pages 101, 102]

Sealing of patent.
When sealed.

- Great seal abolished for patents.
Time for sealing.
Exceptions to limit.
(a) For legal proceedings.
(b) When applicant dead.
- (2) A patent so sealed shall have the same effect as if it were sealed with the great seal of the united kingdom. [page 225]
- (3) A patent shall be sealed as soon as may be, and not after the expiration of fifteen months from the date of application, except in the cases hereinafter mentioned, that is to say—
- (a) Where the sealing is delayed by an appeal to the law officer, or by opposition to the grant of the patent, the patent may be sealed at such time as the law officer may direct.
- (b) If the person making the application dies before the expiration of the fifteen months aforesaid, the patent may be granted to his legal representative and sealed at any time within twelve months after the death of the applicant.
- Date of patent. 13. Every patent shall be dated and sealed as of the day of the application: provided that no proceedings shall be taken in respect of an infringement committed before the publication of the complete specification: provided also, that in case of more than one application for a patent for the same invention, the sealing of a patent on one of those applications shall not prevent the sealing of a patent on an earlier application.

Provisional Protection.

- Provisional protection. 14. Where an application for a patent in respect of an invention has been accepted, the invention may during the period between the date of the application and the date of sealing such patent be used and published without prejudice to the patent to be granted for the same; and such protection from the consequences of use and publication is in this act referred to as provisional protection. [page 17]

Protection by Complete Specification.

- Effect of acceptance of complete specification. 15. After the acceptance of a complete specification and until the date of sealing a patent in respect thereof, or the expiration of the time for sealing, the applicant shall have the like privileges and rights as if a patent for the invention had been sealed on the date of the acceptance of the complete specification: provided that an applicant shall not be entitled to institute any proceeding for infringement unless and until a patent for the invention has been granted to him. [pages 64 et seq.]

Patent.

- Extent of patent. 16. Every patent when sealed shall have effect throughout the united kingdom and the Isle of Man. [pages 102 et seq.]
- Term of patent. 17.—(1) The term limited in every patent for the duration thereof shall be fourteen years from its date.
- Ceases on failure of payments. (2) But every patent shall, notwithstanding anything therein or in this act, cease if the patentee fails to make the prescribed payments within the prescribed times.
- Exception by application to comptroller. (3) If, nevertheless, in any case, by accident, mistake or inadvertence, a patentee fails to make any prescribed payment within the prescribed time, he may apply to the comptroller for an enlargement of the time for making that payment.
- Extension of time for (4) Thereupon the comptroller shall, if satisfied that the failure has arisen from any of the above-mentioned causes, on receipt of the prescribed fee for enlargement, not exceeding ten pounds, enlarge the time accordingly, subject to the following conditions:

- (a) The time for making any payment shall not in any case be enlarged for more than three months.
- (b) If any proceeding shall be taken in respect of an infringement of the patent committed after a failure to make any payment within the prescribed time, and before the enlargement thereof, the court before which the proceeding is proposed to be taken may, if it shall think fit, refuse to award or give any damages in respect of such infringement.

payment upon terms.

(a) Period of extension.

(b) Damages for infringement in the interval.

Amendment of Specification.

18.—(1) An applicant or a patentee may, from time to time, by request in writing left at the patent office, seek leave to amend his specification, including drawings forming part thereof, by way of disclaimer, correction, or explanation, stating the nature of such amendment and his reasons for the same. [pages 54, 92, 93, 101]

Amendment of specification.

(2) The request and the nature of such proposed amendment shall be advertised in the prescribed manner, and at any time within one month from its first advertisement any person may give notice at the patent office of opposition to the amendment.

Advertisement of amendment and notice of opposition to be given.

(3) Where such notice is given the comptroller shall give notice of the opposition to the person making the request, and shall hear and decide the case subject to an appeal to the law officer.

Where notice given comptroller decides.

(4) The law officer shall, if required, hear the person making the request and the person so giving notice, and being in the opinion of the law officer entitled to be heard in opposition to the request, and shall determine whether and subject to what conditions, if any, the amendment ought to be allowed.

Appeal to law officer.

(5) Where no notice of opposition is given, or the person so giving notice does not appear, the comptroller shall determine whether and subject to what conditions, if any, the amendment ought to be allowed.

Where no notice comptroller determines conditions of amendment.

(6) When leave to amend is refused by the comptroller, the person making the request may appeal from his decision to the law officer.

Appeal to law officer.

(7) The law officer shall, if required, hear the person making the request and the comptroller, and may make an order determining whether, and subject to what conditions, if any, the amendment ought to be allowed.

(8) No amendment shall be allowed that would make the specification, as amended, claim an invention substantially larger than or substantially different from the invention claimed by the specification as it stood before amendment.

No amendment allowed so as to enlarge or alter materially specification.

(9) Leave to amend shall be conclusive as to the right of the party to make the amendment allowed, except in case of fraud; and the amendment shall in all courts and for all purposes be deemed to form part of the specification.

Leave conclusive except in case of fraud; amendment forms part of specification.

(10) The foregoing provisions of this section do not apply when and so long as any action for infringement or other legal proceeding in relation to a patent is pending. [page 97]

19.—(1) In an action for infringement of a patent, and in a proceeding for revocation of a patent, the court or a judge may at any time order that the patentee shall, subject to such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Power to disclaim part of invention during action, &c.

court or a judge may impose, be at liberty to apply at the patent office for leave to amend his specification by way of disclaimer, and may direct that in the meantime the trial or hearing of the action shall be postponed. [pages 94, 97]

Restriction on recovery of damages.

20. Where an amendment by way of disclaimer, correction, or explanation, has been allowed under this act, no damages shall be given in any action in respect of the use of the invention before the disclaimer, correction or explanation, unless the patentee establishes to the satisfaction of the court, that his original claim was framed in good faith and with reasonable skill and knowledge. [pages 94, 98]

Advertisement of amendment.

21. Every amendment of a specification shall be advertised in the prescribed manner.

Compulsory Licenses.

Power for board of trade to order grant of licenses.

22. If on the petition of any person interested it is proved to the board of trade that by reason of the default of a patentee to grant licenses on reasonable terms— [page 118]

(a) The patent is not being worked in the united kingdom; or

(b) The reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the invention cannot be supplied; or

(c) Any person is prevented from working or using to the best advantage an invention of which he is possessed, the board may order the patentee to grant licenses on such terms as to the amount of royalties, security for payment, or otherwise, as the board, having regard to the nature of the invention and the circumstances of the case, may deem just, and any such order may be enforced by mandamus.

Register of Patents.

Register of patents. Where to be kept and contents.

23.—(1) There shall be kept at the patent office a book called the Register of Patents, wherein shall be entered the names and addresses of grantees of patents, notifications of assignments and of transmissions of patents, of licenses under patents, and of amendments, extensions, and revocations of patents, and such other matters affecting the validity or proprietorship of patents as may from time to time be prescribed. [pages 20, 120]

Is evidence.

(2) The register of patents shall be primâ facie evidence of any matters by this act directed or authorized to be inserted therein.

Copies for filing.

(3) Copies of deeds, licenses, and any other documents affecting the proprietorship in any letters patent or in any license thereunder, must be supplied to the comptroller in the prescribed manner for filing in the patent office.

Fees.

Fees payable.

24.—(1) There shall be paid in respect of the several instruments described in the second schedule to this act, the fees in that schedule mentioned, and there shall likewise be paid, in respect of other matters under this part of the act, such fees as may be from time to time, with the sanction of the treasury, prescribed by the board of trade; and such fees shall be levied and paid to the account of her majesty's exchequer in such manner as the treasury may from time to time direct.

Power to reduce fees.

(2) The board of trade may from time to time, if they think fit, with the consent of the treasury, reduce any of those fees.

Extension of Term of Patent.

25.—(1) A patentee may, after advertising in manner directed by any rules made under this section his intention to do so, present a petition to her majesty in council, praying that his patent may be extended for a further term; but such petition must be presented at least six months before the time limited for the expiration of the patent. [pages 123 et seq.]

Extension of term of patent on petition to Queen in council.

(2) Any person may enter a caveat, addressed to the registrar of the council at the council office, against the extension.

When applied for.

Entry of caveat.

(3) If her majesty shall be pleased to refer any such petition to the judicial committee of the privy council, the said committee shall proceed to consider the same, and the petitioner and any person who has entered a caveat shall be entitled to be heard by himself or by counsel on the petition.

Privy Council jurisdiction.

(4) The judicial committee shall, in considering their decision, have regard to the nature and merits of the invention in relation to the public, to the profits made by the patentee as such, and to all the circumstances of the case. [page 133]

Powers of judicial committee.

(5) If the judicial committee report that the patentee has been inadequately remunerated by his patent, it shall be lawful for her majesty in council to extend the term of the patent for a further term not exceeding seven, or in exceptional cases fourteen, years; or to order the grant of a new patent for the term therein mentioned, and containing any restrictions, conditions, and provisions that the judicial committee may think fit.

On their report extension granted on conditions.

(6) It shall be lawful for her majesty in council to make, from time to time, rules of procedure and practice for regulating proceedings on such petitions, and subject thereto such proceedings shall be regulated according to the existing procedure and practice in patent matters of the judicial committee. [page 131]

Power to make rules for such proceedings.

(7) The costs of all parties of and incident to such proceedings shall be in the discretion of the judicial committee; and the orders of the committee respecting costs shall be enforceable as if they were orders of a division of the high court of justice.

Costs.

Revocation.

26.—(1) The proceeding by scire facias to repeal a patent is hereby abolished. [pages 97, 100, 181, 223, 250]

Abolition of scire facias.

(2) Revocation of a patent may be obtained on petition to the court.

Revocation of patent.

(3) Every ground on which a patent might, at the commencement of this act, be repealed by scire facias shall be available by way of defence to an action of infringement and shall also be a ground of revocation.

How revocation obtained.

Grounds of revocation.

(4) A petition for revocation of a patent may be presented by—

Petition for revocation, who may present.

(a) The attorney-general in England or Ireland, or the lord advocate in Scotland: [pages 183, 184, 245]

(b) Any person authorized by the attorney-general in England or Ireland, or the lord advocate in Scotland:

(c) Any person alleging that the patent was obtained in fraud of his rights, or of the rights of any person under or through whom he claims:

(d) Any person alleging that he, or any person under or through whom he claims, was the true inventor of any invention included in the claim of the patentee:

(e) Any person alleging that he, or any person under or through whom he claims an interest in any trade, business, or manufacture, had publicly manufactured, used, or sold, within this realm, before the date of the patent, anything claimed by the patentee as his invention.

Plaintiff must deliver and be bound by particulars.

(5) The plaintiff must deliver with his petition particulars of the objections on which he means to rely, and no evidence shall, except by leave of the court or a judge, be admitted in proof of any objection of which particulars are not so delivered. [page 246]

Amendment of particulars.

(6) Particulars delivered may be from time to time amended by leave of the court or a judge. [page 247]

Patentee though defendant has privileges of plaintiff at trial.

(7) The defendant shall be entitled to begin, and give evidence in support of the patent, and if the plaintiff gives evidence impeaching the validity of the patent, the defendant shall be entitled to reply. [pages 224, 247]

Where patent revoked for fraud, first true inventor may obtain patent.

(8) Where a patent has been revoked on the ground of fraud, the comptroller may, on the application of the true inventor, made in accordance with the provisions of this act, grant to him a patent in lieu of and bearing the same date as the date of revocation of the patent so revoked, but the patent so granted shall cease on the expiration of the term for which the revoked patent was granted.

Crown.

Patent to bind crown.

27.—(1) A patent shall have to all intents the like effect as against her majesty the queen, her heirs and successors, as it has against a subject. [pages 111, 159]

Exceptions.

(2) But the officers or authorities administering any department of the service of the crown may, by themselves, their agents, contractors, or others, at any time after the application, use the invention for the services of the crown on terms to be before or after the use thereof agreed on, with the approval of the treasury, between those officers or authorities and the patentee, or, in default of such agreement, on such terms as may be settled by the treasury after hearing all parties interested.

Legal Proceedings.

Hearing with assessor.
By court.

28.—(1) In an action or proceeding for infringement or revocation of a patent, the court may, if it thinks fit, and shall, on the request of either of the parties to the proceeding, call in the aid of an assessor specially qualified, and try and hear the case wholly or partially with his assistance; the action shall be tried without a jury unless the court shall otherwise direct. [pages 221, 247, 248]

Court of appeal or privy council may sit with assessors.

(2) The court of appeal or the judicial committee of the privy council may, if they see fit, in any proceeding before them respectively, call in the aid of an assessor as aforesaid.

Assessors' fees.

(3) The remuneration, if any, to be paid to an assessor under this section shall be determined by the court or the court of appeal or judicial committee, as the case may be, and be paid in the same manner as the other expenses of the execution of this act.

Delivery of particulars of breaches;

29.—(1) In an action for infringement of a patent the plaintiff must deliver with his statement of claim, or by order of the court or the judge, at any subsequent time, particulars of the breaches complained of. [pages 194, 241, 248, 250]

(2) The defendant must deliver, with his statement of defence, or, by order of the court or a judge, at any subsequent time, particulars of any objections on which he relies in support thereof. [page 201 et seq.] of objections.

(3) If the defendant disputes the validity of the patent, the particulars delivered by him must state on what grounds he disputes it, and if one of those grounds is want of novelty, must state the time and place of the previous publication or user alleged by him. [page 260] Grounds must be stated.

(4) At the hearing no evidence shall, except by leave of the court or a judge, be admitted in proof of any alleged infringement or objection of which particulars are not so delivered. [page 194] Evidence must not go beyond particulars.

(5) Particulars delivered may be, from time to time, amended, by leave of the court or a judge. [page 194] Amendment.

(6) On taxation of costs, regard shall be had to the particulars delivered by the plaintiff and by the defendant; and they respectively shall not be allowed any costs in respect of any particular delivered by them, unless the same is certified by the court or a judge to have been proven, or to have been reasonable and proper, without regard to the general costs of the case. [pages 241, 242, 248] Costs.

30. In an action for infringement of a patent, the court or a judge may, on the application of either party, make such order for an injunction, inspection, or account, and impose such terms, and give such directions respecting the same and the proceedings thereon as the court or a judge may see fit. [page 216] Order for inspection, &c., in action.

31. In an action for infringement of a patent, the court or a judge may certify that the validity of the patent came in question; and if the court or a judge so certifies, then in any subsequent action for infringement, the plaintiff in that action, on obtaining a final order or judgment in his favour, shall have his full costs, charges, and expenses as between solicitor and client, unless the court or judge trying the action certifies that he ought not to have the same. [pages 239, 241, 246] Certificate that validity questioned.

32. Where any person claiming to be the patentee of an invention, by circulars, advertisements, or otherwise, threatens any other person with any legal proceedings or liability in respect of any alleged manufacture, use, sale, or purchase of the invention, any person or persons aggrieved thereby may bring an action against him, and may obtain an injunction against the continuance of such threats, and may recover such damage (if any) as may have been sustained thereby, if the alleged manufacture, use, sale, or purchase to which the threats related was not, in fact, an infringement of any legal rights of the person making such threats: Provided that this section shall not apply if the person making such threats with due diligence commences and prosecutes an action for infringement of his patent. [page 249] Remedy in case of groundless threats of legal proceedings.

Miscellaneous.

33. Every patent may be in the form in the first schedule to this act, and shall be granted for one invention only, but may contain more than one claim; but it shall not be competent for any person in an action or other proceeding, to take any objection to a patent on the ground that it comprises more than one invention. [page 142] Patent for one invention only.

- Patent on application of representative of deceased inventor. Time and contents of application.
- 34.—(1) If a person possessed of an invention dies without making application for a patent for the invention, application may be made by, and a patent for the invention granted to, his legal representative. [pages 8, 112]
- (2) Every such application must be made within six months of the decease of such person, and must contain a declaration by the legal representative that he believes such person to be the true and first inventor of the invention.
- Patent to first inventor not invalidated by application in fraud of him.
- 35. A patent granted to the true and first inventor shall not be invalidated by an application in fraud of him, or by provisional protection obtained thereon, or by any use or publication of the invention subsequent to that fraudulent application during the period of provisional protection. [page 16]
- Assignment for particular places.
- 36. A patentee may assign his patent for any place in or part of the united kingdom, or Isle of Man, as effectually as if the patent were originally granted to extend to that place, or part only. [pages 114, 137, 142, 188]
- Loss or destruction of patent.
- 37. If a patent is lost or destroyed, or its non-production is accounted for to the satisfaction of the comptroller, the comptroller may, at any time, cause a duplicate thereof to be sealed.
- Proceedings and costs before law officer.
- 38. The law officers may examine witnesses on oath, and administer oaths for that purpose under this part of this act, and may, from time to time, make, alter, and rescind rules regulating references and appeals to the law officers, and the practice and procedure before them under this part of this act; and in any proceeding before either of the law officers under this part of this act, the law officer may order costs to be paid by either party, and any such order may be made a rule of the court. [pages 91, 98, 101.]
- Exhibition at industrial or international exhibition not to prejudice patent rights.
- 39. The exhibition of an invention at an industrial or international exhibition, certified as such by the board of trade, or the publication of any description of the invention during the period of the holding of the exhibition, or the use of the invention for the purpose of the exhibition in the place where the exhibition is held, or the use of the invention during the period of the holding of the exhibition by any person elsewhere, without the privity or consent of the inventor, shall not prejudice the right of the inventor or his legal personal representative to apply for and obtain provisional protection and a patent in respect of the invention or the validity of any patent granted on the application, provided that both the following conditions are complied with, namely,—
- (a) The exhibitor must, before exhibiting the invention, give the comptroller the prescribed notice of his intention to do so; and
- (b) The application for a patent must be made before or within six months from the date of the opening of the exhibition.
- Conditions :
(a) Notice ;
(b) Patent must be applied for.
- Publication of illustrated journal, indexes, &c.
- 40.—(1) The comptroller shall cause to be issued periodically an illustrated journal of patented inventions, as well as reports of patent cases decided by courts of law, and any other information that the comptroller may deem generally useful or important.
- (2) Provision shall be made by the comptroller for keeping on sale
- Copies to be on sale.

copies of such journal, and also of all complete specifications of patents for the time being in force, with their accompanying drawings, if any.

(3) The comptroller shall continue, in such form as he may deem expedient, the indexes and abridgments of specifications hitherto published, and shall from time to time prepare and publish such other indexes, abridgments of specifications, catalogues and other works relating to inventions, as he may see fit.

Continuation of publication.

41. The control and management of the existing patent museum and its contents shall, from and after the commencement of this act, be transferred to and vested in the department of science and art, subject to such directions as her majesty in council may see fit to give.

Patent museum.

42. The department of science and art may at any time require a patentee to furnish them with a model of his invention on payment to the patentee of the cost of the manufacture of the model; the amount to be settled, in case of dispute, by the board of trade.

Power to require models on payment.

43.—(1) A patent shall not prevent the use of an invention for the purposes of the navigation of a foreign vessel within the jurisdiction of any of her majesty's courts in the united kingdom, or Isle of Man, or the use of an invention in a foreign vessel within that jurisdiction, provided it is not used therein for or in connexion with the manufacture or preparation of anything intended to be sold in or exported from the united kingdom or Isle of Man. [page 162]

Foreign vessels in British waters.

(2) But this section shall not extend to vessels of any foreign state of which the laws authorize subjects of such foreign state, having patents or like privileges for the exclusive use or exercise of inventions within its territories, to prevent or interfere with the use of such inventions in British vessels while in the ports of such foreign state, or in the waters within the jurisdiction of its courts, where such inventions are not so used for the manufacture or preparation of anything intended to be sold in or exported from the territories of such foreign state.

Exception.

44.—(1) The inventor of any improvement in instruments or munitions of war, his executors, administrators, or assigns (who are in this section comprised in the expression the inventor), may (either for or without valuable consideration) assign to her majesty's principal secretary of state for the war department (hereinafter referred to as the secretary of state), on behalf of her majesty, all the benefit of the invention and of any patent obtained or to be obtained for the same; and the secretary of state may be a party to the assignment. [page 111]

Assignment to secretary for war of certain inventions.

(2) The assignment shall effectually vest the benefit of the invention and patent in the secretary of state for the time being on behalf of her majesty, and all covenants and agreements therein contained for keeping the invention secret and otherwise shall be valid and effectual (notwithstanding any want of valuable consideration), and may be enforced accordingly by the secretary of state for the time being.

Extent of assignment.

(3) Where any such assignment has been made to the secretary of state, he may at any time before the application for a patent for the invention, or before publication of the specification or specifications, certify to the comptroller his opinion that, in the interest of the public service, the particulars of the invention and of the manner in which it is to be performed should be kept secret.

Power of secretary of state for war to keep invention secret on certifying that it is in public interest to do so.

In which case specifications and documents are sealed up.

(4) If the secretary of state so certifies, the application and specification or specifications with the drawings (if any), and any amendment of the specification or specifications, and any copies of such documents and drawings, shall, instead of being left in the ordinary manner at the patent office, be delivered to the comptroller in a packet sealed by authority of the secretary of state.

For term of patent.

(5) Such packet shall, until the expiration of the term or extended term during which a patent for the invention may be in force, be kept sealed by the comptroller, and shall not be opened save under the authority of an order of the secretary of state, or of the law officers.

Delivery of packet under secretary of state's authority during term.

(6) Such sealed packet shall be delivered at any time during the continuance of the patent to any person authorized by writing under the hand of the secretary of state to receive the same, and shall if returned to the comptroller be again kept sealed by him.

At expiration.

(7) On the expiration of the term or extended term of the patent, such sealed packet shall be delivered to any person authorized by writing under the hand of the secretary of state to receive it.

Foregoing subsections to apply where patent applied for but specifications not published.

(8) Where the secretary of state certifies as aforesaid, after an application for a patent has been left at the patent office, but before the publication of the specification or specifications, the application, specification or specifications, with the drawings (if any), shall be forthwith placed in a packet sealed by authority of the comptroller, and such packet shall be subject to the foregoing provisions respecting a packet sealed by authority of the secretary of state.

Where certified by secretary of state no petition for revocation.

(9) No proceeding by petition or otherwise shall lie for revocation of a patent granted for an invention in relation to which the secretary of state has certified as aforesaid.

No copy of any secret specifications to be made public.

(10) No copy of any specification or other document or drawing by this section required to be placed in a sealed packet, shall in any manner whatever be published or open to the inspection of the public, but save as in this section otherwise directed, the provisions of this part of this act shall apply in respect of any such invention and patent as aforesaid.

Power of secretary of state to waive benefit of section.

(11) The secretary of state may, at any time by writing under his hand, waive the benefit of this section with respect to any particular invention, and the specifications, documents and drawings shall be thenceforth kept and dealt with in the ordinary way.

Communication to secretary of state for war not to be deemed publication.

(12) The communication of any invention for any improvement in instruments or munitions of war to the secretary of state, or to any person or persons authorized by him to investigate the same or the merits thereof, shall not, nor shall anything done for the purposes of the investigation, be deemed use or publication of such invention so as to prejudice the grant or validity of any patent for the same.

Existing Patents.

Provisions respecting existing patents.

45.—(1) The provisions of this act relating to applications for patents and proceedings thereon shall have effect in respect only of applications made after the commencement of this act.

(2) Every patent granted before the commencement of this act, or on an application then pending, shall remain unaffected by the provisions of this act relating to patents binding the crown, and to compulsory licenses. [page 135]

(3) In all other respects (including the amount and time of payment of fees) this act shall extend to all patents granted before the commencement of this act, or on applications then pending, in substitution for such enactments as would have applied thereto if this act had not been passed. [page 135]

(4) All instruments relating to patents granted before the commencement of this act required to be left or filed in the great seal patent office shall be deemed to be so left or filed if left or filed before or after the commencement of this act in the patent office.

PART III.—DESIGNS.

Registration of Designs.

47.—(1) The comptroller may, on application by or on behalf of any person claiming to be the proprietor of any new or original design not previously published in the united kingdom, register the design under this part of this act.

Application for registration of designs.

(2) The application must be made in the form set forth in the first schedule to this act, or in such other form as may be from time to time prescribed, and must be left at, or sent by post to, the patent office in the prescribed manner.

How made.

(3) The application must contain a statement of the nature of the design, and the class or classes of goods in which the applicant desires that the design be registered.

Contents.

(4) The same design may be registered in more than one class.

Classification

(5) In case of doubt as to the class in which a design ought to be registered, the comptroller may decide the question.

Power of comptroller to classify.

(6) The comptroller may, if he thinks fit, refuse to register any design presented to him for registration, but any person aggrieved by any such refusal may appeal therefrom to the board of trade.

Power to refuse registration.

(7) The board of trade shall, if required, hear the applicant and the comptroller, and may make an order determining whether, and subject to what conditions, if any, registration is to be permitted.

Appeal to board of trade.

48.—(1) On application for registration of a design the applicant shall furnish to the comptroller the prescribed number of copies of drawings, photographs or tracings of the design sufficient, in the opinion of the comptroller, for enabling him to identify the design; or the applicant may, instead of such copies, furnish exact representations or specimens of the design.

Drawings, &c., to be furnished on application.

Power of comptroller to
suitable.

(2) The comptroller may, if he thinks fit, refuse any drawing, photograph, tracing, representation or specimen which is not, in his opinion, suitable for the official records.

Certificate of registration.
Copies.

49.—(1) The comptroller shall grant a certificate of registration to the proprietor of the design when registered.

(2) The comptroller may, in case of loss of the original certificate, or in any other case in which he deems it expedient, grant a copy or copies of the certificate.

Copyright in registered Designs.

registration.

50.—(1) When a design is registered, the registered proprietor of the design shall, subject to the provisions of this act, have copyright in the design during five years from the date of registration.

(2) Before delivery on sale of any articles to which a registered design has been applied, the proprietor must (if exact representations or specimens were not furnished on the application for registration) furnish to the comptroller the prescribed number of exact representations or specimens of the design; and if he fails to do so, the comptroller may erase his name from the register, and thereupon his copyright in the design shall cease.

51. Before delivery on sale of any articles to which a registered design has been applied, the proprietor of the design shall cause each such article to be marked with the prescribed mark, or with the prescribed word or words or figures, denoting that the design is registered; and if he fails to do so the copyright in the design shall cease, unless the proprietor shows that he took all proper steps to ensure the marking of the article.

Inspection of
designs.

52.—(1) During the existence of copyright in a design, the design shall not be open to inspection except by the proprietor, or a person authorized in writing by the proprietor, or a person authorized by the comptroller or by the court, and furnishing such information as may enable the comptroller to identify the design, nor except in the presence of the comptroller, or of an officer acting under him, nor except on payment of the prescribed fee; and the person making the inspection shall not be entitled to take any copy of the design, or of any part thereof.

ceased.

(2) When the copyright in a design has ceased, the design shall be open to inspection, and copies thereof may be taken by any person on payment of the prescribed fee.

Information as
copyright.

53. On the request of any person producing a particular design, together with its mark of registration, or producing only its mark of registration, or furnishing such information as may enable the comptroller to identify the design, and on payment of the prescribed fee, it shall be the duty of the comptroller to inform such person whether the registration still exists in respect of such design, and if so, in respect of what class or classes of goods, and stating also the date of registration, and the name and address of the registered proprietor.

sign.

54. If a registered design is used in manufacture in any foreign country, and is not used in this country within six months of its registration in this country, the copyright in the design shall cease.

Register of Designs.

55.—(1) There shall be kept at the patent office a book called the register of designs, wherein shall be entered the names and addresses of proprietors of registered designs, notifications of assignments and of transmissions of registered designs, and such other matters as may from time to time be prescribed. Register of designs.

(2) The register of designs shall be primâ facie evidence of any matters by this act directed or authorized to be entered therein.

Fees.

56. There shall be paid in respect of applications and registration and other matters under this part of this act such fees as may be from time to time, with the sanction of the treasury, prescribed by the board of trade; and such fees shall be levied and paid to the account of her majesty's exchequer in such manner as the treasury shall from time to time direct. Fees on registration, &c.

Industrial and International Exhibitions.

57. The exhibition at an industrial or international exhibition, certified as such by the board of trade, or the exhibition elsewhere during the period of the holding of the exhibition, without the privity or consent of the proprietor, of a design, or of any article to which a design is applied, or the publication, during the holding of any such exhibition, of a description of a design, shall not prevent the design from being registered, or invalidate the registration thereof, provided that both the following conditions are complied with, namely:— Exhibition at industrial or international exhibition not to prevent or invalidate registration.

- (a) The exhibitor must, before exhibiting the design or article, or publishing a description of the design, give the comptroller the prescribed notice of his intention to do so; and Conditions.
- (b) The application for registration must be made before or within six months from the date of the opening of the exhibition.

Legal Proceedings.

58. During the existence of copyright in any design—

- (a) It shall not be lawful for any person, without the licence or written consent of the registered proprietor, to apply such design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof, in the class or classes of goods in which such design is registered, for purposes of sale to any article of manufacture or to any substance artificial or natural or partly artificial and partly natural; and Penalty on piracy of registered design.
- (b) It shall not be lawful for any person to publish or expose for sale any article of manufacture or any substance to which such design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof shall have been so applied, knowing that the same has been so applied without the consent of the registered proprietor.

Any person who acts in contravention of this section shall be liable for every offence to forfeit a sum not exceeding fifty pounds to the registered proprietor of the design, who may recover such sum as a simple contract debt by action in any court of competent jurisdiction.

59. Notwithstanding the remedy given by this act for the recovery of such penalty as aforesaid, the registered proprietor of any design may (if he elects to do so) bring an action for the recovery of any damages arising from the application of any such design, or of any fraudulent or obvious Action for damages.

imitation thereof for the purpose of sale, to any article of manufacture or substance, or from the publication, sale or exposure for sale by any person of any article or substance to which such design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof shall have been so applied, such person knowing that the proprietor had not given his consent to such application.

Definitions.

Definition of
"design."

60. In and for the purposes of this act—

"Design" means any design applicable to any article of manufacture, or to any substance artificial or natural, or partly artificial and partly natural, whether the design is applicable for the pattern, or for the shape or configuration, or for the ornament thereof, or for any two or more of such purposes, and by whatever means it is applicable, whether by printing, painting, embroidering, weaving, sewing, modelling, casting, embossing, engraving, staining, or any other means whatever, manual, mechanical, or chemical, separate or combined, not being a design for a sculpture, or other thing within the protection of the Sculpture Copyright Act of the year 1814 (54 Geo. 3, c. 56).

"Copyright."

"Copyright" means the exclusive right to apply a design to any article of manufacture or to any such substance as aforesaid in the class or classes in which the design is registered.

proprietor.

61. The author of any new and original design shall be considered the proprietor thereof, unless he executed the work on behalf of another person for a good or valuable consideration, in which case such person shall be considered the proprietor, and every person acquiring for a good or valuable consideration a new and original design, or the right to apply the same to any such article or substance as aforesaid, either exclusively of any other person or otherwise, and also every person on whom the property in such design or such right to the application thereof shall devolve, shall be considered the proprietor of the design in the respect in which the same may have been so acquired, and to that extent, but not otherwise.

PART IV.—TRADE MARKS.

Registration of Trade Marks.

Application
tion.

62.—(1) The comptroller may, on application by or on behalf of any person claiming to be the proprietor of a trade mark, register the trade mark.

How made.

(2) The application must be made in the form set forth in the first schedule to this act, or in such other form as may be from time to time prescribed, and must be left at, or sent by post to, the patent office in the prescribed manner.

Contents.

(3) The application must be accompanied by the prescribed number of representations of the trade mark, and must state the particular goods or classes of goods in connexion with which the applicant desires the trade mark to be registered.

Power of
refuse.

(4) The comptroller may, if he thinks fit, refuse to register a trade mark, but any such refusal shall be subject to appeal to the board of trade, who shall, if required, hear the applicant and the comptroller, and may make an order determining whether, and subject to what conditions, if any, registration is to be permitted.

(5) The board of trade may, however, if it appears expedient, refer the appeal to the court; and in that event the court shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the appeal, and may make such order as aforesaid. Appeal to board of trade.

63. Where registration of a trade mark has not been or shall not be completed within twelve months from the date of the application, by reason of default on the part of the applicant, the application shall be deemed to be abandoned. Limit of time for proceeding with application.

64.—(1) For the purposes of this act, a trade mark must consist of or contain at least one of the following essential particulars: Conditions of registration of trade mark.

- (a) A name of an individual or firm printed, impressed, or woven in some particular and distinctive manner; or Must contain
- (b) A written signature or copy of a written signature of the individual or firm applying for registration thereof as a trade mark; or (a) name.
- (c) A distinctive device, mark, brand, heading, label, ticket, or fancy word or words not in common use. (b) signature.

(2) There may be added to any one or more of these particulars any letters, words, or figures, or combination of letters, words, or figures, or any of them. (c) device.
Combination of letters may be added.

(3) Provided that any special and distinctive word or words, letter, figure, or combination of letters or figures, or of letters and figures used as a trade mark before the 13th day of August, 1875, may be registered as a trade mark under this part of this act. Proviso protecting trade marks used before Act of 1875.

65. A trade mark must be registered for particular goods or classes of goods. Connexion of trade mark with goods.

66. When a person claiming to be the proprietor of several trade marks which, while resembling each other in the material particulars thereof, yet differ in respect of (a) the statement of the goods for which they are respectively used or proposed to be used, or (b) statements of numbers, or (c) statements of price, or (d) statements of quality, or (e) statements of names of places, seeks to register such trade marks, they may be registered as a series in one registration. A series of trade marks shall be assignable and transmissible only as a whole, but for all other purposes each of the trade marks composing a series shall be deemed and treated as registered separately. Registration of a series of marks.

67. A trade mark may be registered in any colour, and such registration shall (subject to the provisions of this act) confer on the registered owner the exclusive right to use the same in that or any other colour. Trade marks may be registered in any colour.

68. Every application for registration of a trade mark under this part of this act shall as soon as may be after its receipt be advertised by the comptroller. Advertisement of application.

69.—(1) Any person may within two months of the first advertisement of the application, give notice in duplicate at the patent office of opposition to registration of the trade mark, and the comptroller shall send one copy of such notice to the applicant. Opposition to registration. Notice of opposition.

(2) Within two months after receipt of such notice, or such further time as the comptroller may allow, the applicant may send to the comptroller a counter statement of application. Counter statement of application.

troller a counter statement in duplicate of the grounds on which he relies for his application, and if he does not do so, shall be deemed to have abandoned his application.

Notice to opposers and
costs.

(3) If the applicant sends such counter statement, the comptroller shall furnish a copy thereof to the person who gave notice of opposition, and shall require him to give security in such manner and to such amount as the comptroller may require for such costs as may be awarded in respect of such opposition; and if such security is not given within fourteen days after such requirement was made, or such further time as the comptroller may allow, the opposition shall be deemed to be withdrawn.

Notice of security for costs.

(4) If the person who gave notice of opposition duly gives such security as aforesaid, the comptroller shall inform the applicant thereof in writing, and thereupon the case shall be deemed to stand for the determination of the court.

Assignment and transmission of trade mark.

70. A trade mark, when registered, shall be assigned and transmitted only in connexion with the goodwill of the business concerned in the particular goods or classes of goods for which it has been registered, and shall be determinable with that goodwill.

Conflicting
registration.

71. Where each of several persons claims to be registered as proprietor of the same trade mark, the comptroller may refuse to register any of them until their rights have been determined according to law, and the comptroller may himself submit or require the claimants to submit their rights to the court.

Restrictions on registration.
No registration of identical marks.

72.—(1) Except where the court has decided that two or more persons are entitled to be registered as proprietors of the same trade mark, the comptroller shall not register in respect of the same goods or description of goods a trade mark identical with one already on the register with respect to such goods or description of goods.

Nor of very similar marks.

(2) The comptroller shall not register with respect to the same goods or description of goods a trade mark so nearly resembling a trade mark already on the register with respect to such goods or description of goods as to be calculated to deceive.

Further
registration.

73. It shall not be lawful to register as part of or in combination with a trade mark any words the exclusive use of which would by reason of their being calculated to deceive or otherwise, be deemed disentitled to protection in a court of justice, or any scandalous design.

Addition to trade mark
may be registered.

74.—(1) Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the comptroller entering on the register in the prescribed manner, and subject to the prescribed conditions, as an addition to any trade mark—

before 1875
Act;

(a) In the case of an application for registration of a trade mark used before the 13th day of August, 1875—

Any distinctive device, mark, brand, heading, label, ticket, letter, word, or figure, or combination of letters, words, or figures, though the same is common to the trade in the goods with respect to which the application is made;

Act:

(b) In the case of an application for registration of a trade mark not used before the 13th day of August, 1875—

Any distinctive word or combination of words, though the same is common to the trade in the goods with respect to which the application is made;

(2) The applicant for entry of any such common particular or particulars must, however, disclaim in his application any right to the exclusive use of the same, and a copy of the disclaimer shall be entered on the register. Disclaimer.

(3) Any device, mark, brand, heading, label, ticket, letter, word, figure, or combination of letters, words, or figures, which was or were before the 13th day of August, 1875, publicly used by more than three persons on the same or a similar description of goods shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed common to the trade in such goods. Marks used by more than three persons prior to 1875.

Effect of Registration.

75. Registration of a trade mark shall be deemed to be equivalent to public use of the trade mark. Registration equivalent to public use.

76. The registration of a person as proprietor of a trade mark shall be primâ facie evidence of his right to the exclusive use of the trade mark, and shall, after the expiration of five years from the date of the registration, be conclusive evidence of his right to the exclusive use of the trade mark, subject to the provisions of this act. Right of first proprietor to exclusive use of trade mark.

77. A person shall not be entitled to institute any proceeding to prevent or to recover damages for the infringement of a trade mark unless, in the case of a trade mark capable of being registered under this act, it has been registered in pursuance of this act, or of an enactment repealed by this act, or in the case of any other trade mark in use before the 13th of August, 1875, registration thereof under this part of this act, or of an enactment repealed by this act, has been refused. The comptroller may, on request, and on payment of the prescribed fee, grant a certificate that such registration has been refused. Restrictions on actions for infringement, and on defence to action in certain cases.

Register of Trade Marks.

78. There shall be kept at the patent office a book called the register of trade marks, wherein shall be entered the names and addresses of proprietors of registered trade marks, notifications of assignments and of transmissions of trade marks, and such other matters as may be from time to time prescribed. Register of trade marks.

79.—(1) At a time not being less than two months nor more than three months before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the registration of a trade mark, the comptroller shall send notice to the registered proprietor that the trade mark will be removed from the register unless the proprietor pays to the comptroller before the expiration of such fourteen years (naming the date at which the same will expire) the prescribed fee; and if such fees be not previously paid, he shall at the expiration of one month from the date of the giving of the first notice send a second notice to the same effect. Removal of trade mark after fourteen years unless fee paid.

(2) If such fee be not paid before the expiration of such fourteen years the comptroller may, after the end of three months from the expiration of such fourteen years, remove the mark from the register, and so from time to time at the expiration of every period of fourteen years. Fees.

(3) If before the expiration of the said three months the registered proprietor pays the said fee together with the additional prescribed fee, the comptroller may, without removing such trade mark from the register, Time for payment.

accept the said fee as if it had been paid before the expiration of the said fourteen years.

Power of comptroller to
mark.

(4) Where after the said three months a trade mark has been removed from the register for non-payment of the prescribed fee, the comptroller may, if satisfied that it is just so to do, restore such trade mark to the register on payment of the prescribed additional fee.

(5) Where a trade mark has been removed from the register for non-payment of the fee or otherwise, such trade mark shall nevertheless, for the purpose of any application for registration during the five years next after the date of such removal, be deemed to be a trade mark which is already registered.

Fees.

Fees for registration, &c.

80. There shall be paid in respect of applications and registration and other matters under this part of this act, such fees as may be from time to time, with the sanction of the treasury, prescribed by the board of trade; and such fees shall be levied and paid to the account of her majesty's exchequer in such manner as the treasury may from time to time direct.

Sheffield Marks.

Registration
by cutlers' company of
marks.

81. With respect to the master, wardens, searchers, assistants, and commonalty of the company of cutlers in Hallamshire, in the county of York (in this act called the cutlers' company), and the marks or devices (in this act called Sheffield marks) assigned or registered by the master, wardens, searchers, and assistants of that company, the following provisions shall have effect:

register.

Contents.

(1) The cutlers' company shall establish and keep at Sheffield a new register of trade marks (in this act called the Sheffield register):

(2) The cutlers' company shall enter in the Sheffield register, in respect of cutlery, edge tools, or raw steel and the goods mentioned in the next sub-section, all the trade marks entered before the commencement of this act in respect of cutlery, edge tools, or raw steel and such goods in the register established under the Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875, belonging to persons carrying on business in Hallamshire, or within six miles thereof, and shall also enter in such register, in respect of the same goods, all the trade marks which shall have been assigned by the cutlers' company and actually used before the commencement of this act, but which have not been entered in the register established under the Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875.

plication made

(3) An application for registration of a trade mark used on cutlery, edge tools, or on raw steel, or on goods made of steel, or of steel and iron combined, whether with or without a cutting edge, shall, if made after the commencement of this act by a person carrying on business in Hallamshire, or within six miles thereof, be made to the cutlers' company:

application.

(4) Every application so made to the cutlers' company shall be notified to the comptroller in the prescribed manner, and unless the comptroller, within the prescribed time, gives notice to the cutlers' company that he objects to the acceptance of the application, it shall be proceeded with by the cutlers' company in the prescribed manner:

- (5) If the comptroller gives notice of objection as aforesaid, the application shall not be proceeded with by the cutlers' company, but any person aggrieved may appeal to the court. Notice of objection.
- (6) Upon the registration of a trade mark in the Sheffield register, the cutlers' company shall give notice thereof to the comptroller, who shall thereupon enter the mark in the register of trade marks; and such registration shall bear date as of the day of application to the cutlers' company, and have the same effect as if the application had been made to the comptroller on that day: Notification of entry of mark.
- (7) The provisions of this act, and of any general rules made under this act, with respect to application for registration in the register of trade marks, the effect of such registration, and the assignment and transmission of rights in a registered trade mark shall apply in the case of applications and registration in the Sheffield register; and notice of every entry made in the Sheffield register must be given to the comptroller by the cutlers' company, save and except that the provisions of this sub-section shall not prejudice or affect any life, estate, and interest of a widow of the holder of any Sheffield mark which may be in force in respect of such mark at the time when it shall be placed upon the Sheffield register: Notice of entry in Sheffield register.
- (8) Where the comptroller receives from any person not carrying on business in Hallamshire or within six miles thereof an application for registration of a trade mark used on cutlery, edge tools, or on raw steel, or on goods made of steel, or of steel and iron combined, whether with or without a cutting edge, he shall in the prescribed manner notify the application and proceedings thereon to the cutlers' company: Application from outside district.
- (9) At the expiration of five years from the commencement of this act the cutlers' company shall close the cutlers' register of corporate trade marks, and thereupon all marks entered therein shall, unless entered in the Sheffield register, be deemed to have been abandoned: Close of register and expiry of trade marks therein.
- (10) A person may (notwithstanding anything in any act relating to the cutlers' company) be registered in the Sheffield register as proprietor of two or more trade marks: Registry of more than one mark.
- (11) A body of persons, corporate or not corporate, may (notwithstanding anything in any act relating to the cutlers' company) be registered in the Sheffield register as proprietor of a trade mark or trade marks: Bodies corporate or non-corporate may register.
- (12) Any person aggrieved by a decision of the cutlers' company in respect of anything done or omitted under this act may, in the prescribed manner, appeal to the comptroller, who shall have power to confirm, reverse or modify the decision, but the decision of the comptroller shall be subject to a further appeal to the court: Appeal.
- (13) So much of the Cutlers' Company's Acts as applies to the summary punishment of persons counterfeiting Sheffield corporate marks, that is to say, the fifth section of the Cutlers' Company's Act of 1814, and the provisions in relation to the recovery and application of the penalty imposed by such last-mentioned section contained in the Cutlers' Company's Act of 1791, shall apply to any mark entered in the Sheffield register. Application of Cutlers' Company's Acts.

PART V.—GENERAL.

Patent Office and Proceedings thereat.

- Patent office. 82.—(1) The treasury may provide for the purposes of this act an office with all requisite buildings and conveniences, which shall be called, and is in this act referred to as, the patent office.
- (2) Until a new patent office is provided, the offices of the commissioners of patents for inventions and for the registration of designs and trade marks existing at the commencement of this act shall be the patent office within the meaning of this act.
- Control. (3) The patent office shall be under the immediate control of an officer called the comptroller general of patents, designs, and trade marks, who shall act under the superintendence and direction of the board of trade.
- (4) Any act or thing directed to be done by or to the comptroller may, in his absence, be done by or to any officer for the time being in that behalf authorized by the board of trade.
- Officers and clerks. 83.—(1) The board of trade may at any time after the passing of this act, and from time to time, subject to the approval of the treasury, appoint the comptroller-general of patents, designs, and trade marks, and so many examiners and other officers and clerks, with such designations and duties as the board of trade think fit, and may from time to time remove any of those officers and clerks.
- Salaries. (2) The salaries of those officers and clerks shall be appointed by the board of trade, with the concurrence of the treasury, and the same and the other expenses of the execution of this act shall be paid out of money provided by parliament.
- Seal of patent office. 84. There shall be a seal for the patent office, and impressions thereof shall be judicially noticed and admitted in evidence. [page 102]
- Trust not to be entered in registers. 85. There shall not be entered in any register kept under this act, or be receivable by the comptroller, any notice of any trust expressed, implied or constructive. [pages 20, 121]
- Refusal to grant patent, &c., in certain cases. 86. The comptroller may refuse to grant a patent for an invention, or to register a design or trade mark, of which the use would, in his opinion, be contrary to law or morality. [page 105]
- Entry of assignments and transmissions in registers. 87. Where a person becomes entitled by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law to a patent, or to the copyright in a registered design, or to a registered trade mark, the comptroller shall on request, and on proof of title to his satisfaction, cause the name of such person to be entered as proprietor of the patent, copyright in the design, or trade mark, in the register of patents, designs, or trade marks, as the case may be. The person for the time being entered in the register of patents, designs, or trade marks, as proprietor of a patent, copyright in a design or trade mark as the case may be, shall, subject to any rights appearing from such register to be vested in any other person, have power absolutely to assign, grant licenses as to, or otherwise deal with, the same and to give effectual receipts for any consideration for such assignment, license, or dealing. Provided that any equities in respect of such patent, design, or trade mark may be enforced in like manner as in respect of any other personal property. [page 121]

88. Every register kept under this act shall at all convenient times be open to the inspection of the public, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed; and certified copies, sealed with the seal of the patent office, of any entry in any such register shall be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the prescribed fee. [page 121]

Inspection of and extracts from registers.

89. Printed or written copies or extracts, purporting to be certified by the comptroller and sealed with the seal of the patent office, of or from patents, specifications, disclaimers and other documents in the patent office, and of or from registers and other books kept there, shall be admitted in evidence in all courts in her majesty's dominions, and in all proceedings, without further proof or production of the originals. [pages 121, 225]

Sealed copies to be received in evidence.

90.—(1) The court may on the application of any person aggrieved by the omission without sufficient cause of the name of any person from any register kept under this act, or by any entry made without sufficient cause in any such register, make such order for making, expunging, or varying the entry, as the court thinks fit; or the court may refuse the application; and in either case may make such order with respect to the costs of the proceedings as the court thinks fit. [page 121]

Rectification of registers by court.

(2) The court may in any proceeding under this section decide any question that it may be necessary or expedient to decide for the rectification of a register, and may direct an issue to be tried for the decision of any question of fact, and may award damages to the party aggrieved.

Powers of court to decide all necessary questions.

(3) Any order of the court rectifying a register shall direct that due notice of the rectification be given to the comptroller.

Notice.

91. The comptroller may, on request in writing accompanied by the prescribed fee,— [page 121]

Power for comptroller to correct clerical errors.

- (a) Correct any clerical error in or in connection with an application for a patent, or for registration of a design or trade mark; or
- (b) Correct any clerical error in the name, style or address of the registered proprietor of a patent, design, or trade mark;
- (c) Cancel the entry or part of the entry of a trade mark on the register: Provided that the applicant accompanies his request by a statutory declaration made by himself, stating his name, address, and calling, and that he is the person whose name appears on the register as the proprietor of the said trade mark.

92.—(1) The registered proprietor of any registered trade mark may apply to the court for leave to add to or alter such mark in any particular, not being an essential particular within the meaning of this act, and the court may refuse or grant leave on such terms as it may think fit.

Alteration of registered mark.

(2) Notice of any intended application to the court under this section shall be given to the comptroller by the applicant; and the comptroller shall be entitled to be heard on the application.

Notice to be given.

(3) If the court grants leave, the comptroller shall, on proof thereof and on payment of the prescribed fee, cause the register to be altered in conformity with the order of leave.

Comptroller to alter in accordance with order.

93. If any person makes or causes to be made a false entry in any register kept under this act, or a writing falsely purporting to be a copy of an entry in any such register, or produces or tenders or causes to be produced or tendered in evidence any such writing, knowing the entry or writing to be false, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Falsification of entries in registers.

Exercise of discretionary power by comptroller.

94. Where any discretionary power is by this act given to the comptroller, he shall not exercise that power adversely to the applicant for a patent, or for amendment of a specification, or for registration of a trade mark or design, without (if so required within the prescribed time by the applicant) giving the applicant an opportunity of being heard personally or by his agent. [page 91]

Power of comptroller to take directions of law officers.

95. The comptroller may, in any case of doubt or difficulty arising in the administration of any of the provisions of this act, apply to either of the law officers for directions in the matter.

Certificate of comptroller to be evidence.

96. A certificate purporting to be under the hand of the comptroller as to any entry, matter, or thing which he is authorized by this act, or any general rules made thereunder, to make or do, shall be prima facie evidence of the entry having been made, and of the contents thereof, and of the matter or thing having been done or left undone. [page 225]

Applications and notices by post.

97. (1) Any application, notice, or other document authorized or required to be left, made, or given at the patent office, or to the comptroller, or to any other person under this act, may be sent by a prepaid letter through the post; and if so sent shall be deemed to have been left, made, or given respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

Proof.

(2) In proving such service or sending, it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter was properly addressed and put into the post.

Provision as to days for leaving documents at office.

98. Whenever the last day fixed by this act, or by any rule for the time being in force, for leaving any document or paying any fee at the patent office shall fall on Christmas Day, Good Friday, or on a Saturday or Sunday, or any day observed as a holiday at the Bank of England, or any day observed as a day of public fast or thanksgiving, herein referred to as excluded days, it shall be lawful to leave such document, or to pay such fee, on the day next following such excluded day, or days if two or more of them occur consecutively.

Declaration by infant, lunatic, &c.

99. If any person is, by reason of infancy, lunacy, or other inability, incapable of making any declaration or doing anything required or permitted by this act or by any rules made under the authority of this act, then the guardian or committee (if any) of such incapable person, or if there be none, any person appointed by any court or judge possessing jurisdiction in respect of the property of incapable persons, upon the petition of any person on behalf of such incapable person, or of any other person interested in the making such declaration or doing such thing, may make such declaration or a declaration as nearly corresponding thereto as circumstances permit, and do such thing in the name and on behalf of such incapable person, and all acts done by such substitute shall for the purposes of this act be as effectual as if done by the person for whom he is substituted. [page 6]

Transmission of certified printed copies of specifications, &c.

100. Copies of all specifications, drawings, and amendments left at the patent office after the commencement of this act, printed for and sealed with the seal of the patent office, shall be transmitted to the Edinburgh museum of science and art, and to the enrolments office of the chancery division in Ireland, and to the rolls office in the Isle of Man, within twenty-one days after the same shall respectively have been accepted or allowed at the patent office; and certified copies of or extracts from any such documents shall be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the prescribed fee; and any such copy or extract shall be admitted in evidence in all courts in Scotland and Ireland and in the Isle of Man without further proof or production of the originals.

101.—(1) The board of trade may from time to time make such general rules and do such things as they think expedient, subject to the provisions of this act— [page 119]

Power for board of trade to make general rules for classifying goods and regulating business of patent office.

- (a) For regulating the practice of registration under this act:
- (b) For classifying goods for the purposes of designs and trade marks:
- (c) For making or requiring duplicates of specifications, amendments, drawings, and other documents:
- (d) For securing and regulating the publishing and selling of copies, at such prices and in such manner as the board of trade think fit, of specifications, drawings, amendments, and other documents:
- (e) For securing and regulating the making, printing, publishing, and selling of indexes to, and abridgments of, specifications and other documents in the patent office; and providing for the inspection of indexes and abridgments and other documents:
- (f) For regulating (with the approval of the treasury) the presentation of copies of patent office publications to patentees and to public authorities, bodies, and institutions at home and abroad:
- (g) Generally for regulating the business of the patent office, and all things by this act placed under the direction or control of the comptroller, or of the board of trade.

(2) Any of the forms in the first schedule to this act may be altered or amended by rules made by the board as aforesaid.

Alteration of forms.

(3) General rules may be made under this section at any time after the passing of this act, but not so as to take effect before the commencement of this act, and shall (subject as hereinafter mentioned) be of the same effect as if they were contained in this act, and shall be judicially noticed.

General rules;

(4) Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before both houses of parliament, if parliament be in session at the time of making thereof, or, if not, then as soon as practicable after the beginning of the then next session of parliament, and they shall also be advertised twice in the official journal to be issued by the comptroller.

to be laid before parliament and advertised.

(5) If either house of parliament, within the next forty days after any rules have been so laid before such house, resolve that such rules or any of them ought to be annulled, the same shall after the date of such resolution be of no effect, without prejudice to the validity of anything done in the meantime under such rules or rule or to the making of any new rules or rule.

102. The comptroller shall, before the first day of June in every year, cause a report respecting the execution by or under him of this act to be laid before both houses of parliament, and therein shall include for the year to which each report relates all general rules made in that year under or for the purposes of this act, and an account of all fees, salaries, and allowances; and other money received and paid under this act.

Annual reports of comptroller.

International and Colonial Arrangements.

International arrangements for protection of inventions, designs, and trade marks.

103.—(1) If her majesty is pleased to make any arrangement with the government or governments of any foreign state or states for mutual protection of inventions, designs, and trade marks, or any of them, then any person who has applied for protection for any invention, design, or trade mark in any such state shall be entitled to a patent for his invention or to registration of his design or trade mark (as the case may be) under this act, in priority to other applicants; and such patent or registration shall have the same date as the date of the protection obtained in such foreign state. [pages 185, 186]

Time.

Provided that his application is made, in the case of a patent within seven months, and in the case of a design or trade mark within four months, from his applying for protection in the foreign state with which the arrangement is in force.

No protection prior to specification or registration.

Provided that nothing in this section contained shall entitle the patentee or proprietor of the design or trade mark to recover damages for infringements happening prior to the date of the actual acceptance of his complete specification, or the actual registration of his design or trade mark in this country, as the case may be.

Publication at or use in exhibition not to invalidate patent or trade mark.

(2) The publication in the united kingdom or the Isle of Man, during the respective periods aforesaid, of any description of the invention, or the use therein during such periods of the invention, or the exhibition or use therein during such periods of the design, or the publication therein during such periods of a description or representation of the design, or the use therein during such periods of the trade mark, shall not invalidate the patent which may be granted for the invention, or the registration of the design or trade mark:

Application under this section to be made in same manner as ordinary application.

(3) The application for the grant of a patent, or the registration of a design, or the registration of a trade mark under this section, must be made in the same manner as an ordinary application under this act: Provided that, in the case of trade marks, any trade mark the registration of which has been duly applied for in the country of origin may be registered under this act:

Application of this section.

(4) The provisions of this section shall apply only in the case of those foreign states with respect to which her majesty shall from time to time by order in council declare them to be applicable, and so long only in the case of each state as the order in council shall continue in force with respect to that state.

Provision for colonies and India.

104.—(1) Where it is made to appear to her majesty that the legislature of any British possession has made satisfactory provision for the protection of inventions, designs, and trade marks, patented or registered in this country, it shall be lawful for her majesty, from time to time, by order in council, to apply the provisions of the last preceding section, with such variations or additions, if any, as to her majesty in council may seem fit, to such British possession. [pages 185, 186]

Effect of order in council.

(2) An order in council under this act shall, from a date to be mentioned for the purpose in the order, take effect as if its provisions had been contained in this act; but it shall be lawful for her majesty in council to revoke any order in council made under this act.

Offences.

105.—(1) Any person who represents that any article sold by him is a patented article, when no patent has been granted for the same, or describes any design or trade mark applied to any article sold by him as registered which is not so, shall be liable for every offence on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds. Penalty on falsely representing articles to be patented.

(2) A person shall be deemed, for the purposes of this enactment, to represent that an article is patented or a design or a trade mark is registered, if he sells the article with the word "patent," "patented," "registered," or any word or words expressing or implying that a patent or registration has been obtained for the article stamped, engraved, or impressed on, or otherwise applied to the article. Definition of false representation under this section.

106. Any person who, without the authority of her majesty, or any of the royal family, or of any government department, assumes or uses in connection with any trade, business, calling, or profession, the royal arms, or arms so nearly resembling the same as to be calculated to deceive, in such a manner as to be calculated to lead other persons to believe that he is carrying on his trade, business, calling, or profession by or under such authority as aforesaid, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds. Penalty on unauthorized assumption of royal arms.

Scotland; Ireland; &c.

107. In any action for infringement of a patent in Scotland the provisions of this act, with respect to calling in the aid of an assessor, shall apply, and the action shall be tried without a jury, unless the court shall otherwise direct, but otherwise nothing shall affect the jurisdiction and forms of process of the courts in Scotland in such an action or in any action or proceeding respecting a patent hitherto competent to those courts. Saving for courts in Scotland.

For the purposes of this section "court of appeal" shall mean any court to which such action is appealed. Definition of "court of appeal."

108. In Scotland any offence under this act declared to be punishable on summary conviction may be prosecuted in the sheriff court. Summary proceedings in Scotland.

109.—(1) Proceedings in Scotland for revocation of a patent shall be in the form of an action of reduction at the instance of the lord advocate, or at the instance of a party having interest with his concurrence, which concurrence may be given on just cause shown only. [page 183] Proceedings for revocation of patent in Scotland.

(2) Service of all writs and summonses in that action shall be made according to the forms and practice existing at the commencement of this act. Service in Scotland.

110. All parties shall, notwithstanding anything in this act, have in Ireland their remedies under or in respect of a patent as if the same had been granted to extend to Ireland only. [page 184] Reservation of remedies in Ireland.

111.—(1) The provisions of this act conferring a special jurisdiction on the court as defined by this act, shall not, except so far as the jurisdiction extends, affect the jurisdiction of any court in Scotland or Ireland in any proceedings relating to patents or to designs or to trade marks; and with reference to any such proceedings in Scotland, the term "the court" shall mean any lord ordinary of the court of session, and the General saving for jurisdiction of courts.

term "court of appeal" shall mean either division of the said court; and with reference to any such proceedings in Ireland, the terms "the court" and "the court of appeal" respectively mean the high court of justice in Ireland and her majesty's court of appeal in Ireland.

Rectification of register.

(2) If any rectification of a register under this act is required in pursuance of any proceeding in a court in Scotland or Ireland, a copy of the order, decree, or other authority for the rectification, shall be served on the comptroller, and he shall rectify the register accordingly.

Isle of Man.
Jurisdiction of courts.

112. This act shall extend to the Isle of Man, and—

(1) Nothing in this act shall affect the jurisdiction of the courts in the Isle of Man, in proceedings for infringement or in any action or proceeding respecting a patent, design, or trade mark competent to those courts:

Punishments.

(2) The punishment for a misdemeanor under this act in the Isle of Man shall be imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour, and with or without a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, at the discretion of the court;

Offences and penalties treated as in England under this act.

(3) Any offence under this act committed in the Isle of Man which would in England be punishable on summary conviction may be prosecuted, and any fine in respect thereof recovered at the instance of any person aggrieved, in the manner in which offences punishable on summary conviction may for the time being be prosecuted.

Repeal; Transitional Provisions; Savings.

Repeal and saving for past operation of repealed enactments, &c.

Exceptions.

113. The enactments described in the third schedule to this act are hereby repealed. But this repeal of enactments shall not—

(a) Affect the past operation of any of those enactments, or any patent or copyright or right to use a trade mark granted or acquired, or application pending, or appointment made, or compensation granted, or order or direction made or given, or right, privilege, obligation, or liability acquired, accrued, or incurred, or anything duly done or suffered under or by any of those enactments before or at the commencement of this act; or

(b) Interfere with the institution or prosecution of any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, in respect thereof, and any such proceeding may be carried on as if this act had not been passed; or

(c) Take away or abridge any protection or benefit in relation to any such action or proceeding.

Former registers to be deemed continued.

114.—(1) The registers of patents and of proprietors kept under any enactment repealed by this act shall respectively be deemed parts of the same book as the register of patents kept under this act.

(2) The registers of designs and of trade marks kept under any enactment repealed by this act shall respectively be deemed parts of the same book as the register of designs and the register of trade marks kept under this act.

Saving for existing rules.

115. All general rules made by the lord chancellor or by any other authority under any enactment repealed by this act, and in force at the commencement of this act, may at any time after the passing of this act be repealed, altered, or amended by the board of trade, as if they had been made by the board under this act, but so that no such repeal, alteration, or amendment shall take effect before the commencement of this act; and, subject as aforesaid, such general rules shall, so far as they are consistent with and are not superseded by this act, continue in force as if they had been made by the board of trade under this act.

116. Nothing in this act shall take away, abridge, or prejudicially affect the prerogative of the crown in relation to the granting of any letters patent, or to the withholding of a grant thereof. Saving for prerogative.

General Definitions.

117.—(1) In and for the purposes of this act, unless the context otherwise requires,— General definitions.

FORM OF PATENT.

VICTORIA, by the grace of God, of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, queen, defender of the faith: To all to whom these presents shall come greeting: The address.

[pages 102, 103]

Whereas John Smith, of 29, Perry Street, Birmingham, in the county of Warwick, engineer, hath by his solemn declaration represented unto us that he is in possession of an invention for "Improvements in Sewing Machines," that he is the true and first inventor thereof, and that the same is not in use by any other person to the best of his knowledge and belief: First recital.

And whereas the said inventor hath humbly prayed that we would be graciously pleased to grant unto him (hereinafter together with his executors, administrators, and assigns, or any of them, referred to as the said patentee) our royal letters patent for the sole use and advantage of his said invention: Second recital.

And whereas the said inventor hath by and in his complete specification particularly described the nature of his invention: Third recital.

And whereas we being willing to encourage all inventions which may be for the public good, are graciously pleased to condescend to his request: Fourth recital.

Know ye, therefore, that we, of our especial grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, do by these presents, for us, our heirs and successors, give and grant unto the said patentee our especial license, full power, sole privilege, and authority, that the said patentee by himself, his agents or licensees, and no others, may at all times hereafter during the term of years herein mentioned, make, use, exercise, and vend the said invention within our united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and Isle of Man, in such manner as to him or them may seem meet, and that the said patentee shall have and enjoy the whole profit and advantage from time to time accruing by reason of the said invention, during the term of fourteen years from the date hereunder written of these presents: And to the end that the said patentee may have and enjoy the sole use and exercise, and the full benefit of the said invention, we do by these presents, for us, our heirs and successors, strictly command all our subjects whatsoever within our united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Isle of Man, that they do not at any time during the continuance of the said term of fourteen years, either directly or indirectly make use of or put in practice the said invention, or any part of the same, nor in anywise imitate the same, nor make or cause to be made any addition thereto or subtraction therefrom, whereby to pretend themselves the inventors thereof, without the consent, license, or agreement of the said patentee in writing under his hand and seal, on pain of incurring such penalties as may be justly inflicted on such offenders for their contempt of this our royal command, and of being answerable to the patentee according to law for his damages thereby occasioned: The prohibition.

Provided that these our letters patent are on this condition, that, if at any time during the said term it be made to appear to us, our heirs or successors, or any six or more of our privy council, that this our grant is contrary to law, or prejudicial or inconvenient to our subjects in general, or that the said invention is not a new invention as to the public use and exercise thereof within our united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and Isle of Man, or that the said patentee is not the first and true inventor thereof within this realm as aforesaid, these our letters patent shall forthwith determine, and be void to all intents and purposes, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained: The conditions.

Provided also, that if the said patentee shall not pay all fees by law required to be paid in respect of the grant of these letters patent, or in respect of any matter relating thereto at the time or times, and in manner for the time being by law provided; and also if the said patentee shall not supply or cause to be supplied, for our service all such articles of the said invention as may be required by the officers or commissioners administering any department of our service in such manner, at such times, and at and upon such reasonable prices and terms as shall be settled in manner for the time being by law provided, then, and in any of the said cases, these our letters patent, and all privileges and advantages whatsoever hereby granted shall determine and become void notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained: The construction.

Provided also, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the granting of licences in such manner and for such considerations as they may by law be granted: And lastly, we do by these presents for us, our heirs and successors, grant unto the said patentee that these our letters patent shall be construed in the most beneficial sense for the advantage of the said patentee. In witness whereof we have caused these our letters to be made patent this 18 and to be sealed as of the

By virtue of the provisions of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, the Board of Trade do hereby make the following Rules :—

SHORT TITLE.

Short title. 1. These Rules may be cited as the Patents Rules, 1883.

COMMENCEMENT.

Commencement. 2. These Rules shall come into operation from and immediately after the 31st day of December, 1883.

INTERPRETATION.

Interpretation. 3. In the construction of these Rules, any words herein used defined by the said Act shall have the meanings thereby assigned to them respectively.

FEES.

Fees. 4. The fees to be paid under the above-mentioned Act, in addition to the fees mentioned in the Second Schedule thereto, so far as it relates to patents, shall be those specified in the list of fees in the First Schedule to these Rules.

FORMS.

Forms.
Alterations. 5. The Forms A., B. and C. in the First Schedule to the said Act shall be altered or amended by the substitution therefor respectively of the Forms A., A1., B. and C. in the Second Schedule hereto.

Application. 6. (1.) An application for a patent shall be made either in the Form A. or the Form A1. set forth in the Second Schedule hereto, as the case may be.

Specification. (2.) The Form B. in such Schedule of provisional specification and the Form C. of complete specification shall respectively be used.

Other forms. (3.) The remaining forms set forth in such Schedule may, as far as they are applicable, be used in any proceedings under these Rules.

GENERAL.

Hours of business. 7. The Patent Office shall be open to the public every week-day during the hours of ten and four, except on the days and times following :—

Christmas Day.

Good Friday.

The day observed as Her Majesty's birthday.

The days observed as days of public fast or thanksgiving, or as holidays at the Bank of England.

8. An application for a patent must be signed by the applicant, but all other communications between the applicant and the comptroller and all attendances by the applicant upon the comptroller may be made by or through an agent duly authorised to the satisfaction of the comptroller, and if he so require resident in the United Kingdom. Agency.

9. The application shall be accompanied by a statement of an address to which all notices, requisitions, and communications of every kind may be made by the comptroller or by the Board of Trade, and such statement shall thereafter be binding upon the applicant unless and until a substituted statement of address shall be furnished by him to the comptroller. He may in any particular case require that the address mentioned in this Rule be in the United Kingdom. Statement of address.

10. All documents and copies of documents sent to or left at the Patent Office or otherwise furnished to the comptroller or to the Board of Trade shall be written or printed in large and legible characters in the English language upon strong wide ruled paper (on one side only), of a size of 13 inches by 8 inches, leaving a margin of two inches on the left-hand part thereof, and the signature of the applicants or agents thereto must be written in a large and legible hand. Duplicate documents shall at any time be left, if required by the comptroller. Size, &c. of documents.

11. Before exercising any discretionary power given to the comptroller by the said Act adversely to the applicant for a patent or for amendment of a specification, the comptroller shall give ten days' notice, or such longer notice as he may think fit, to the applicant of the time when he may be heard personally or by his agent before the comptroller. Exercise of discretionary power by comptroller. Notice of hearing.

12. Within five days from the date when such notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, or such longer time as the comptroller may appoint in such notice, the applicant shall notify to the comptroller whether or not he intends to be heard upon the matter. Notice by applicant.

13. Whether the applicant desires to be heard or not, the comptroller may at any time require him to submit a statement in writing within a time to be notified by the comptroller, or to attend before him and make oral explanations with respect to such matters as the comptroller may require. Comptroller may require statement, &c.

14. The decision or determination of the comptroller in the exercise of any such discretionary power as aforesaid shall be notified by him to the applicant, and any other person affected thereby. Decision to be notified to parties.

15. The term "applicant" in Rules 11, 12, and 13 shall include an applicant whose specification bears a title the same as or similar to that of the specification of a prior applicant, and has been reported on by the examiner. Definition of "applicant."

16. Such prior and second applicant respectively may attend the hearing of the question whether the invention comprised in both applications is the same, but neither party shall be at liberty to inspect the specification of the other. Prior and second applicant may attend hearing.

Industrial or international exhibitions.

17. Any person desirous of exhibiting an invention at an industrial or international exhibition, or of publishing any description of the invention during the period of the holding of the exhibition, or of using the invention for the purpose of the exhibition in the place where the exhibition is held, shall, after having obtained from the Board of Trade a certificate that the exhibition is an industrial or international one, give to the comptroller seven days' notice of his intention to exhibit, publish, or use the invention, as the case may be.

For the purpose of identifying the invention in the event of an application for a patent being subsequently made the applicant shall furnish to the comptroller a brief description of his invention accompanied, if necessary, by drawings, and such other information as the comptroller may in each case require.

Power of amendment, &c.

18. Any document for the amending of which no special provision is made by the said Act may be amended, and any irregularity in procedure, which in the opinion of the comptroller may be obviated without detriment to the interests of any person, may be corrected, if and on such terms as the comptroller may think fit.

Documents by post.

19. Any application, notice, or other document authorised or required to be left, made, or given at the Patent Office or to the comptroller or to any other person under these Rules may be sent by a prepaid letter through the post, and if so sent shall be deemed to have been left, made, or given respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

In proving such service or sending it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter was properly addressed and put into the post.

Affidavits.

20. Affidavits may, except where otherwise prescribed by these Rules, be used as evidence in any proceedings thereunder when sworn to in any of the following ways, viz. :—

- (1.) In the United Kingdom before any person authorised to administer oaths in the Supreme Court of Judicature or before a justice of the peace for the county or place where it is sworn or made.
- (2.) In any place in the British dominions out of the United Kingdom before any court, judge, or justice of the peace or any person authorised to administer oaths there in any court.
- (3.) In any place out of the British dominions before a British minister, or person exercising the functions of a British minister, or a British consul, vice-consul, or other person exercising the functions of a British consul, or a notary public, or before a judge or magistrate.

Statutory declarations.

21. Where any statutory declaration prescribed by these Rules, or used in any proceedings thereunder, is made out of the United Kingdom, the words, "and by virtue of the Statutory Declarations Act, 1835," must be omitted, and the declaration shall (unless the context otherwise requires) be made in the manner prescribed in Rule 20, sub-section (3).

APPLICATION WITH PROVISIONAL OR COMPLETE SPECIFICATION.

22. Applications for a patent sent by prepaid letter through the post shall, as far as may be practicable, be opened and numbered in the order in which the letters containing the same have been respectively delivered in the ordinary course of post. Order of recording applications.

Applications left at the Patent Office otherwise than through the post shall be in like manner numbered in the order of their receipt at the Patent Office.

23. Where a person making application for a patent includes therein by mistake, inadvertence, or otherwise, more than one invention, he may, after the refusal of the comptroller to accept such application, amend the same so as to apply to one invention only, and may make application for separate patents for each such invention accordingly. Application for separate patents by way of amendment.

Every such application shall bear the date of the first application, and shall, together therewith, be proceeded with in the manner prescribed by the said Act and by these Rules as if every such application had been originally made on that date for one invention only.

24. An application for a patent by the legal representative of a person who has died possessed of an invention shall be accompanied by an official copy of or extract from his will or the letters of administration granted of his estate and effects in proof of the applicant's title as such legal representative. Application by representative of deceased inventor.

25. On the acceptance of an application with a provisional or complete specification the comptroller shall give notice thereof to the applicant, and shall advertise such acceptance in the official journal of the Patent Office. Notice and advertisement of acceptance.

26. Upon the publication of such advertisement of acceptance in the case of an application with a complete specification, the application and specification or specifications with the drawings (if any) may be inspected at the Patent Office upon payment of the prescribed fee. Inspection on acceptance of complete specification.

APPLICATION ON COMMUNICATION FROM ABROAD.

27. An application for a patent for an invention communicated from abroad shall be made in the Form A 1 set forth in the Second Schedule hereto. Communication from abroad.

SIZES AND METHODS OF PREPARING DRAWINGS ACCOMPANYING PROVISIONAL OR COMPLETE SPECIFICATIONS.

28. The drawings accompanying provisional or complete specifications shall be made upon half-sheets or sheets of imperial drawing paper, to be within a border line of 19 inches by 12 inches, or 27 inches by 19 inches, with a margin of $\frac{1}{2}$ an inch all round. Size of drawings.

29. A copy of the drawings will be required upon rolled imperial drawing paper or upon thin Bristol board of the same dimensions as the original drawing or drawings. All the lines must be absolutely black, Indian ink of the best quality to be used, and the same strength or colour of the ink maintained throughout the drawing. Copies of drawings.

Any shading must be in lines clearly and distinctly drawn and as open as is consistent with the required effect. Section lines should not be too closely drawn. No colour must be used for any purpose upon the copy of the drawings. All letters and figures of reference must be bold and distinct. The border line should be one fine line only. The drawings must not be folded, but must be delivered at the Patent Office either in a perfectly flat state or rolled upon a roller so as to be free from creases or breaks.*

30. Where a complete specification is left at the Patent Office after a provisional specification has been accepted the complete specification and drawing or drawings accompanying the same, as well as the copy thereof, must be prepared in accordance with Rules 10, 28, and 29.

ILLUSTRATED JOURNAL.

Additional drawing to be furnished.

31. Every applicant for the grant of a patent shall, in addition to the drawings to be furnished with his complete specification, furnish the comptroller with a drawing illustrative of the feature or features of novelty constituting his invention. Such drawing must be prepared in the manner prescribed for the copy of the original drawing or drawings accompanying the specification, but must not cover a space exceeding 16 square inches. The drawing must be accompanied by a concise explanatory statement on foolscap paper and legibly written or printed.

OPPOSITION TO GRANTS OF PATENTS.

Notice of opposition.

32. A notice of opposition to the grant of a patent shall state the ground or grounds on which the person giving such notice (hereinafter called the opponent) intends to oppose the grant, and shall be signed by him. Such notice shall state his address for service in the United Kingdom.

Copy for applicant.

33. On receipt of such notice a copy thereof shall be furnished by the comptroller to the applicant.

Particulars of prior patent.

34. Where the ground or one of the grounds of opposition is that the invention has been patented in this country on an application of prior date, the title, number, and date of the patent granted in such prior application shall be specified in the notice.

Opponent's evidence.

35. Within 14 days after the expiration of two months from the date of the advertisement of the acceptance of a complete specification, the opponent shall leave at the Patent Office statutory declarations in support of his opposition, and deliver to the applicant a list thereof.

Applicant's evidence.

36. Within 14 days from the delivery of such list the applicant shall leave at the Patent Office statutory declarations in answer, and deliver to the opponent a list thereof, and within seven days from such delivery the opponent shall leave at the Patent Office his statutory declarations in reply, and deliver to the applicant a list thereof.

Evidence in reply.

* As the drawings accompanying the provisional and complete specification respectively are copied at the Patent Office for publication by the process of photo-lithography, this rule must be strictly observed in order that correct copies may be made.

Such last-mentioned declarations shall be confined to matters strictly in reply.

Copies of the declarations mentioned in this and the last preceding Rule may be obtained either from the Patent Office or from the opposite party.

37. No further evidence shall be left on either side except by leave of the comptroller upon the written consent of the parties duly notified to him, or by special leave of the comptroller on application made to him for that purpose.

Closing of evidence.

38. Either party making such application shall give notice thereof to the opposite party, who shall be entitled to oppose the application.

39. On the completion of the evidence the comptroller shall appoint a time for the hearing of the case, and shall give to the parties seven days' notice at the least of such appointment.

Notice of hearing.

40. On the hearing of the case no opposition shall be allowed in respect of any ground not stated in the notice of opposition, and where the ground or one of the grounds is that the invention has been patented in this country on an application of prior date, the opposition shall not be allowed upon such ground unless the title, number, and date of the patent granted on such prior application shall have been duly specified in the notice of opposition.

Disallowance of opposition in certain cases.

41. The decision of the comptroller in the case shall be notified by him to the parties.

Decision to be notified to parties.

CERTIFICATES OF PAYMENT OR RENEWAL.

42. If a patentee intends at the expiration of the fourth or eighth year from the date of his patent to make the prescribed payment for keeping the same in force, he shall seven days at least before such expiration give notice to the comptroller of such intention, and shall, before the expiration of such fourth or eighth year, as the case may be, leave at the Patent Office a form of certificate of payment, duly stamped, subject as hereinafter provided, with the prescribed fee of 50% or 100%, as the case may be.

Payment of fees of 50% and 100% for continuance of patent.

43. In the case of patents granted before the commencement of the said Act, the above Rule shall be read as if the words "seventh year" were therein written instead of the words "eighth year."

As to patent granted before commencement of Act.

44. If the patentee intends to pay annual fees in lieu of the above-mentioned fees of 50% and 100%, he shall seven days at least before the expiration of the fourth and each succeeding year during the term of the patent, until and inclusive of the 13th year thereof, give notice to the comptroller of such intention, and shall, before the expiration of such respective periods as aforesaid, leave at the Patent Office a form of certificate of payment, duly stamped, with the fee prescribed to be paid at such periods respectively.

Payment of annual fees in lieu of 50% and 100%.

45. On due compliance with these Rules, and as soon as may be after such respective periods as aforesaid, or any enlargement thereof respectively duly granted, the comptroller shall give to the patentee a certificate that the prescribed payment has been duly made.

Certificate of payment.

ENLARGEMENT OF TIME.

Enlargement
payments.

46. An application for an enlargement of the time for making a prescribed payment shall state in detail the circumstances in which the patentee by accident, mistake, or inadvertence has failed to make such payment, and the comptroller may require the patentee to substantiate by such proof as he may think necessary the allegations contained in the application for enlargement.

In other cases.

47. The time prescribed by these Rules for doing any act, or taking any proceedings thereunder, may be enlarged by the comptroller if he think fit, and upon such notice to other parties, and proceedings thereon, and upon such terms, as he may direct.

AMENDMENT OF SPECIFICATION.

Request for
amend.

48. A request for leave to amend a specification shall be signed by the applicant or patentee and accompanied by a copy of the original specification and drawings, showing in red ink the proposed amendment, and shall be advertised by publication of the request and the nature of the proposed amendment in the official journal of the Patent Office, and in such other manner (if any) as the comptroller may in each case direct.

Advertisement.

Notice of opposition.

49. A notice of opposition to the amendment shall state the ground or grounds on which the person giving such notice (hereinafter called the opponent) intends to oppose the amendment, and shall be signed by him. Such notice shall state his address for service in the United Kingdom.

Copy for the applicant.

50. On receipt of such notice a copy thereof shall be furnished by the comptroller to the applicant or patentee, as the case may be (hereinafter called the applicant).

Opponent's evidence.

51. Within 14 days after the expiration of one month from the first advertisement of the application for leave to amend, the opponent shall leave at the Patent Office statutory declarations in support of his opposition and deliver to the applicant a list thereof.

ceedings.

52. Upon such declarations being left, and such list being delivered, the provisions of Rules 36, 37, 38, and 39 shall apply to the case, and the further proceedings therein shall be regulated in accordance with such provisions as if they were here repeated.

Decision to be
parties.

53. The decision of the comptroller in the case shall be notified by him to the parties.

Requirements thereon.

54. Where leave to amend is given the applicant shall, if the comptroller so require, and within a time to be limited by him, leave at the Patent Office a new specification and drawings as amended, to be prepared in accordance with Rules 10, 28, and 29.

Leave by order of Court.

55. Where a request for leave to amend is made by or in pursuance of an order of the Court or a judge, an official or verified copy of the order shall be left with the request at the Patent Office.

Advertisement of amendment.

56. Every amendment of a specification shall be forthwith advertised by the comptroller in the official journal of the Patent Office, and in such other manner (if any) as the comptroller may direct.

COMPULSORY LICENSES.

57. A petition to the Board of Trade for an order upon a patentee to grant a license shall show clearly the nature of the petitioner's interest, and the ground or grounds upon which he claims to be entitled to relief, and shall state in detail the circumstances of the case, the terms upon which he asks that an order may be made, and the purport of such order.

Petition for compulsory grant of licenses.

59. Upon perusing the petition and evidence, unless the Board of Trade shall be of opinion that the order should be at once refused, they may require the petitioner to attend before the comptroller, or other person or persons appointed by them, to receive his or their directions as to further proceedings upon the petition.

Directions as to further proceedings unless petition refused.

60. If and when a prima facie case for relief has been made out to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade, the petitioner shall upon their requisition, and on or before a day to be named by them, deliver to the patentee copies of the petition and of the affidavits or statutory declarations and other documentary evidence (if any) tendered in support thereof.

Procedure.

Petitioner's evidence.

61. Within 14 days after the day of such delivery the patentee shall leave at the Patent Office his affidavits or statutory declarations in opposition to the petition, and deliver copies thereof to the petitioner.

Patentee's evidence.

62. The petitioner within 14 days from such delivery shall leave at the Patent Office his affidavits, or statutory declarations in reply, and deliver copies thereof to the petitioner; such last-mentioned affidavits or declarations shall be confined to matters strictly in reply.

Evidence in reply.

63. Subject to any further directions which the Board of Trade may give, the parties shall then be heard at such time, before such person or persons, in such manner, and in accordance with such procedure as the Board of Trade may, in the circumstances of the case, direct, but so that full opportunity shall be given to the patentee to show cause against the petition.

Further proceedings.

REGISTER OF PATENTS.

64. Upon the sealing of a patent the comptroller shall cause to be entered in the register of patents the name, address, and description of the patentee as the grantee thereof, and the title of the invention.

Entry of grant.

65. Where a person becomes entitled to a patent or to any share or interest therein, by assignment either throughout the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man, or for any place or places therein, or by transmission or other operation of law, a request for the entry of his name in the register as such complete or partial proprietor of the patent, or of such share or interest therein, as the case may be, shall be addressed to the comptroller, and left at the Patent Office.

Signature of request.

66. Such request shall in the case of individuals be made and signed by the person requiring to be registered as proprietor, or by his agent duly authorized, to the satisfaction of the comptroller, and in the case of a body corporate by their agent authorized in like manner.

Particulars to be stated in request.

67. Every such request shall state the name, address, and description of the person claiming to be entitled to the patent, or to any share or interest therein, as the case may be (hereinafter called the claimant), and the particulars of the assignment, transmission, or other operation of law, by virtue of which he requires to be entered in the register as proprietor, so as to show the manner in which, and the person or persons to whom, the patent, or such share or interest therein as aforesaid, has been assigned or transmitted.

Production of documents of title and other proof.

68. Every assignment and every other document containing, giving effect to, or being evidence of, the transmission of a patent or affecting the proprietorship thereof as claimed by such request, except such documents as are matters of record, shall be produced to the comptroller, together with the request above prescribed, and such other proof of title as he may require for his satisfaction.

As to a document which is a matter of record, an official or certified copy thereof shall in like manner be produced to the comptroller.

Copies for Patent Office.

69. There shall also be left with the request an examined copy of the assignment or other document above required to be produced.

As to a document which is a matter of record, an official or certified copy shall be left with the request in lieu of an examined copy.

If by corporate.

70. A body corporate may be registered as proprietor by its corporate name.

Entry of orders of the Privy Council or of the Court.

71. Where an order has been made by her Majesty in Council for the extension of a patent for a further term or for the grant of a new patent, or where an order has been made by the Court for the revocation of a patent or the rectification of the register under section 90 of the said Act, or otherwise affecting the validity or proprietorship of the patent, the person in whose favour such order has been made shall forthwith leave at the Patent Office an office copy of such order. The register shall thereupon be rectified or the purport of such order shall otherwise be duly entered in the register, as the case may be.

Entry of payment of fees on issue of certificate.

72. Upon the issue of a certificate of payment under Rule 45, the comptroller shall cause to be entered in the Register of Patents a record of the amount and date of payment of the fee on such certificate.

73. If a patentee fails to make any prescribed payment within the prescribed time or any enlargement thereof duly granted, such failure shall be duly entered in the register. Entry of failure to pay fees.

74. An examined copy of every license granted under a patent shall be left at the Patent Office by the licensee, with a request that a notification thereof may be entered in the register. The licensee shall cause the accuracy of such copy to be certified as the comptroller may direct, and the original license shall at the same time be produced and left at the Patent Office if required for further verification. Entry of licenses.

75. The register of patents shall be open to the inspection of the public on every week day between the hours of ten and four, except on the days and at the times following:— Hours of inspection of register.

- (a) Christmas Day, Good Friday, the day observed as Her Majesty's birthday, days observed as days of public fast or thanksgiving, and days observed as holidays at the Bank of England; or
- (b) Days which may from time to time be notified by a placard posted in a conspicuous place at the Patent Office;
- (c) Times when the register is required for any purpose of official use.

76. Certified copies of any entry in the register, or certified copies of, or extracts from, patents, specifications, disclaimers, affidavits, statutory declarations, and other public documents in the Patent Office, or of or from registers and other books kept there, may be furnished by the comptroller on payment of the prescribed fee. Certified copies of documents.

POWER TO DISPENSE WITH EVIDENCE, &c.

77. Where, under these Rules, any person is required to do any act or thing, or to sign any document, or to make any declaration on behalf of himself or of any body corporate, or any document or evidence is required to be produced to or left with the comptroller, or at the Patent Office, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the comptroller that from any reasonable cause such person is unable to do such act or thing, or to sign such document, or make such declaration, or that such document or evidence cannot be produced or left as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the comptroller, with the sanction of the Board of Trade, and upon the production of such other evidence, and subject to such terms as they may think fit, to dispense with any such act or thing, document, declaration, or evidence.

REPEAL.

78. All General Rules made by the Lord Chancellor, or by any other authority, under the Patent Law Amendment Acts, and in force on the 31st day of December 1883, shall be and they are hereby repealed as from that date, without prejudice, nevertheless, to any application then pending. Repeal.

Dated the 21st day of December 1883.

(Signed) J. CHAMBERLAIN,
President of the Board of Trade.

RULES REGULATING THE PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE ON APPEALS TO THE LAW OFFICERS.

I. When any person intends to appeal to the law officer from a decision of the comptroller in any case in which such appeal is given by the Act, he shall within 14 days from the date of the decision appealed against file in the Patent Office a notice of such his intention.

II. Such notice shall state the nature of the decision appealed against, and whether the appeal is from the whole, or part only, and if so, what part of such decision.

III. A copy of such notice of intention to appeal shall be sent by the party so intending to appeal to the law officers' clerk at room 549, Royal Courts of Justice, London; and when there has been an opposition before the comptroller, to the opponent or opponents; and when the comptroller has refused to seal a patent on the ground that a previous application for a patent for the same invention is pending, to the prior applicant.

IV. Upon notice of appeal being filed, the comptroller shall forthwith transmit to the law officers' clerk all the papers relating to the matter of the application in respect of which such appeal is made.

V. No appeal shall be entertained of which notice is not given within 14 days from the date of the decision appealed against, or such further time as the comptroller may allow, except by special leave upon application to the law officer.

VI. Seven days' notice, at least, of the time and place appointed for the hearing of any appeal, shall be given by the law officers' clerk, unless special leave be given by the law officer that any shorter notice be given.

VII. Such notice shall in all cases be given to the comptroller and the appellant; and, when there has been an opposition before the comptroller, to the opponent or opponents; and, when the comptroller has refused to seal a patent on the ground that an application for a patent for the same invention is pending, to the prior applicant.

VIII. The evidence used on appeal to the law officer shall be the same as that used at the hearing before the comptroller; and no further evidence shall be given, save as to matters which have occurred or come to the knowledge of either party, after the date of the decision appealed against, except with the leave of the law officer upon application for that purpose.

IX. The law officer shall, at the request of either party, order the attendance at the hearing on appeal, for the purpose of being cross-examined, of any person, who has made a declaration, in the matter to which the appeal relates, unless in the opinion of the law officer, there is good ground for not making such order.

X. Any person requiring the attendance of a witness for cross-examination shall tender to the witness whose attendance is required a reasonable sum for conduct money.

XI. Where the law officer orders that costs shall be paid by any party to another, he may fix the amount of such costs, and if he shall not think fit to fix the amount thereof, he shall direct by whom and in what manner the amount of such costs shall be ascertained.

XII. If any costs so ordered to be paid be not paid within fourteen days after the amount thereof has been so fixed or ascertained, or such shorter period as shall be directed by the law officer, the party to whom such costs are to be paid may apply to the law officer for an order for payment under the provisions of section 38 of the Act.

XIII. All documentary evidence required, or allowed by the law officer to be filed, shall be subject to the same regulations, in all respects, as apply to the procedure before the comptroller, and shall be filed in the Patent Office, unless the law officer shall order to the contrary.

XIV. Any notice or other document required to be given to the law officers' clerk, under these Rules, may be sent by a prepaid letter through the post.

TRADE MARKS RULES.

By virtue of the provisions of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, the Board of Trade do hereby make the following Rules:—

PRELIMINARY.

1. These Rules may be cited as the Trade Marks Rules, 1883, and shall come into operation from and immediately after the 31st day of December, 1883.

INTERPRETATION.

2. In the construction of these Rules any words herein used defined by the said Act shall have the meanings thereby assigned to them respectively. Interpretation.

FEES.

3. The fees to be paid in pursuance of the said Act, so far as it relates to trade marks, shall be the fees specified in the first schedule hereto. Fees.

FORMS.

4. The Form F. in the first schedule to the said Act shall be altered or amended by the substitution therefor of the Form F. in the second schedule to these Rules. Forms.

5.—(1) An application for registration of a trade mark shall be made in the Form F. in the second schedule to these Rules; (2) The remaining forms in such schedule may be used in all cases to which they are applicable.

CLASSIFICATION OF GOODS.

6. For the purposes of trade marks registration and of these Rules, goods are classified in the manner appearing in the third schedule hereto. Classification of goods.

If any doubt arises as to what class any particular description of goods belongs to, the doubt shall be determined by the comptroller.

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION.

7. An application for registration of a trade mark, if made by any firm or partnership, may be signed by some one or more members of such firm or partnership, as the case may be. Application by firm.

If the application be made by a body corporate, it may be signed by the secretary or other principal officer of such body corporate.

8. An application for registration and all other communications between the applicant and the comptroller may be made by or through an agent duly authorised to the satisfaction of the comptroller. Agency.

Acknowledgment of application.

9. On receipt of the application, the comptroller shall furnish the applicant with an acknowledgment thereof.

Contents of form of application.

10. Where application is made to register a trade mark which was used by the applicant or his predecessors in business before the 13th of August, 1875, the application shall contain a statement of the time during which and of the person by whom it has been so used in respect of the goods mentioned in the application.

Size, &c. of documents.

11. Subject to any other directions that may be given by the comptroller, all applications, notices, counter-statements, representations of marks, papers having representations affixed, or other documents required by the said Act or by these Rules to be left with or sent to the comptroller or to the Cutlers' Company, shall be upon foolscap paper of a size of 13 inches by 8 inches, and shall have on the left-hand part thereof a margin of not less than one inch and a-half.

Qualification of metal goods.

12. In the case of an application for the registration of a trade mark used on any metal goods, other than cutlery, edge tools, and raw steel, the applicant shall state in the specification of goods in the form of application of what metal or metals the goods in respect to which he applies are made.

Representations of trade mark.

13. Subject to any other directions that may be given by the comptroller, three representations of each trade mark, except in the case of marks applied for in classes 23 to 35 inclusive, must be supplied upon paper of the size aforesaid, and must be of a durable nature. One of such representations must be made upon or affixed to the form of application, the others upon separate half-sheets. In the case of trade marks exceeding the limits of the foolscap paper of the size aforesaid, such marks may be pasted and folded upon the sheets of foolscap.

In the case of marks applied for in classes 23 to 35 inclusive, the applicant shall supply four representations of each mark for each class.

Where a drawing or other representation or specimen cannot be given in manner aforesaid, a specimen or copy of the trade mark may be sent either of full size or on a reduced scale, and in such form as the comptroller may think most convenient.

The comptroller may, if dissatisfied with the representation of a trade mark, require a fresh representation, either before he proceeds with the application or before he registers the trade mark.

The comptroller may also, in exceptional cases, deposit in the Patent Office a specimen or copy of any trade mark which cannot conveniently be shown by a representation, and may refer thereto in the register in such manner as he may think fit.

Representations of a series of trade marks.

14. When an application relates to a series of trade marks differing from one another in respect of the particulars mentioned in section 66 of the said Act, a representation of each trade mark of the series shall be made or affixed upon the form of application and also upon each of the separate half-sheets of paper aforesaid.

Translation of foreign characters.

15. Wherever a mark consists of or includes words printed in other than Roman character, there shall be given at the foot or on the back of each representation a translation of such words, signed by the applicant or his agent.

16. Any application, statement, notice, or other document authorised or required to be left, made, or given at the Patent Office, or to the comptroller, or to any other person under these Rules, may be sent by a prepaid letter through the post, and if so sent shall be deemed to have been left, made, or given respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post. Mode of sending notices, &c.

In proving such service or sending, it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter was properly addressed and put into the post.

EXERCISE OF DISCRETIONARY POWERS.

17. Before exercising any discretionary power given to the comptroller by the said Act adversely to the applicant for registration of a trade mark, the comptroller shall give him ten days' notice of the time when he may be heard personally or by his agent before the comptroller. Hearing by comptroller.

18. Within five days from the date when such notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, the applicant shall notify to the comptroller whether or not he intends to be heard upon the matter. Notice of wish to be heard before comptroller.

19. The decision of the comptroller in the exercise of any such discretionary power as aforesaid shall be notified to the applicant. Notification of decision.

APPEAL TO THE BOARD OF TRADE.

20. Where the comptroller refuses to register a trade mark, and the applicant intends to appeal to the Board of Trade from such refusal, he shall, within one month from the date of the decision appealed against, leave at the Patent Office, Trade Marks Branch, a notice of such his intention. Appeal to Board of Trade.

21. Such notice shall be accompanied by a statement of the grounds of appeal, and of the applicant's case in support thereof. Statement of grounds of appeal.

22. The applicant shall forthwith on leaving such notice send a copy thereof to the secretary of the Board of Trade, No. 7, Whitehall Gardens, London. Copy of notice to Board of Trade.

23. The Board of Trade may thereupon give such directions (if any) as they may think fit with respect to evidence, or otherwise, for the purpose of the hearing of the appeal by the Board of Trade, or for the purpose of their referring the appeal to the Court to hear and determine the same. Directions by Board.

24. Where the Board of Trade intend to hear the appeal, seven days' notice, or such shorter notice as the Board of Trade may in any particular case direct, of the time and place appointed for the hearing, shall be given to the comptroller and the applicant. Notice of time of hearing.

ADVERTISEMENT OF APPLICATION.

25. Every application shall be advertised by the comptroller in the official paper, during such times, and in such manner as the comptroller may direct. Advertisement of application.

If no representation of the trade mark be inserted in the official paper in connexion with the advertisement of an application, the comptroller shall refer in such advertisement to the place or places where a specimen or representation of the trade mark is deposited for exhibition.

Definition of official paper.

26. The official paper for the purposes of these Rules shall be some paper published under the direction of the Board of Trade, or such other paper as such Board may from time to time direct.

Means of advertising trade mark to be supplied to official paper.

27. For the purposes of such advertisement the applicant may be required to furnish a wood block or electrotype (or more than one, if necessary) of the trade mark, of such dimensions as may from time to time be directed by the comptroller, or with such other information or means of advertising the trade mark as may be required by the comptroller; and the comptroller, if dissatisfied with the block or electrotype furnished by the applicant or his agent, may require a fresh block or electrotype before proceeding with the advertisement.

Advertisement of series.

28. When an application relates to a series of trade marks differing from one another in respect of the particulars mentioned in section 66 of the said Act, the applicant may be required to furnish a wood block or electrotype (or more than one, if necessary) of any or of each of the trade marks constituting the series; and the comptroller may, if he thinks fit, insert with the advertisement of the application a statement of the manner in respect of which the several trade marks differ from one another.

OPPOSITION TO REGISTRATION.

Manner of bringing case before Court.

29.—(1.) Where a case stands for the determination of the Court, under the provisions of section 69 of the said Act, the comptroller shall require the applicant within one month, or such further time as the comptroller may allow, to issue a summons in the chambers of a judge of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice for an order that notwithstanding the opposition of which notice has been given the registration of the trade mark be proceeded with by the comptroller, or to take such other proceedings as may be proper and necessary for the determination of the case by the Court.

(2.) The applicant shall thereupon issue such summons, or take such other proceedings as aforesaid, within the period of one month above named, or such further time as the comptroller may allow, and shall also within the like period give notice thereof to the comptroller.

(3.) If the applicant shall fail to issue such summons, or to take such other proceedings, of which failure the non-receipt by the comptroller of the said notice shall be sufficient proof, the applicant shall be deemed to have abandoned his application.

Mode of giving notice that the matter has been brought before the Court.

(4.) Such notice to the comptroller shall be given by delivering at or sending to the Patent Office a copy of the summons or other initiatory proceeding bearing an endorsement of service signed by the applicant or his solicitor, or an endorsement of acceptance of service signed by the opponent or his solicitor.

REGISTER OF TRADE MARKS.

30. As soon as may be after the expiration of two months from the date of the first advertisement of the application, the comptroller shall, subject to any such summons or other proceeding as aforesaid and the determination of the Court thereon, if he is satisfied that the applicant is entitled to registration, and on payment of the prescribed fee, enter the name, address, and description of the applicant in the Register of Trade Marks as the registered proprietor of the trade mark in respect of the particular goods or classes of goods described in his application. Time of registration of trade marks.
31. In case of the death of any applicant for a trade mark after the date of his application, and before the trade mark applied for has been entered on the register, the comptroller, after the expiration of the prescribed period of advertisement, may, on being satisfied of the applicant's death, enter on the register, in place of the name of such deceased applicant, the name, address, and description of the person owning the goodwill of the business, if such ownership be proved to the satisfaction of the comptroller. Where applicant dies before registration, the trade mark may be registered for successor to goodwill of business.
32. Upon registering any trade mark the comptroller shall enter in the register the date on which the application for registration was received by the comptroller (which day shall be deemed to be the date of the registration) and such other particulars as he may think necessary. Entries to be made in register.
33. The comptroller shall send notice to the applicant of the registration of his trade mark, together with a reference to the advertisement of such trade mark in the official paper. Notice of registration.
34. Where a person becomes entitled to a registered trade mark by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law, a request for the entry of his name in the register as proprietor of the trade mark shall be addressed to the comptroller, and left at the Patent Office. Request by subsequent proprietor.
35. Such request shall in the case of an individual be made and signed by the person requiring to be registered as proprietor, and in the case of a firm or partnership by some one or more members of such firm or partnership, or in either case by his or their agent respectively duly authorised to the satisfaction of the comptroller, and in the case of a body corporate by their agent, authorised in like manner. Signature of request.
36. Every such request shall state the name, address, and description of the person claiming to be entitled to the trade mark (hereinafter called the claimant), and the particulars of the assignment, transmission, or other operation of law, by virtue of which he requires to be entered in the register as proprietor, so as to show the manner in which, and the person or persons to whom, the trade mark has been assigned or transmitted, and so as to show further that it has been so assigned or transmitted in connexion with the goodwill of the business concerned in the particular goods or classes of goods for which the trade mark has been registered. Contents of request.

therein, and declaring that the particulars above described comprise every material fact and document affecting the proprietorship of the trade mark as claimed by such request.

- Further proof of title if required. 38. The claimant shall furnish to the comptroller such other proof of title and of the existence and ownership of such goodwill as aforesaid as he may require for his satisfaction.
- Body corporate. 39. A body corporate may be registered as proprietor by its corporate name.
- Definition of applicant. 40. The term "applicant" in Rules 17, 18, and 19 shall include each of several persons claiming to be registered as proprietor of the same trade mark.
- Comptroller may require statement from rival claimants. 41. Whether all of such persons so claiming require to be heard before the comptroller or not, he may, before exercising the discretion vested in him by section 71 of the said Act, require such persons, or any or either of them, to submit a statement in writing within a time to be notified by him, or to attend before him and make oral explanations with respect to such matters as the comptroller may require.
- Submission to Court of conflicting claims. 42. Where each of several persons claims to be registered as proprietor of the same trade mark, and the comptroller refuses to register any of them until their rights have been determined according to law, the manner in which the rights of such claimants may be submitted to the Court by the comptroller or if the comptroller so require, by the claimants, shall, unless the Court otherwise order, be by a special case; and such special case shall be filed and proceeded with in like manner as any other special case submitted to the Court, or in such other manner as the Court may direct.
- Settlement of special case. 43. Where the special case is to be submitted to the parties, it may be agreed to by them, or if they differ, may be settled by the comptroller on payment of the prescribed fees.
44. Where an order has been made by the Court in either of the following cases, viz. :—
- (a) Allowing an appeal under section 62 of the said Act;
 - (b) Disallowing an opposition to registration under section 69;
- or,
- (c) Under the provisions of sections 72, 90, or 92 of the said Act,
- the person in whose favour such order has been made, or such one of them, if more than one, as the comptroller may direct, shall forthwith leave at the Patent Office an office copy of such order. The register shall thereupon be rectified or altered, or the purport of such order shall otherwise be duly entered in the register, as the case may be.
- Removal of mark from register. 45. Where a trade mark has been removed from the register for non-payment of the prescribed fee or otherwise, under the provisions of section 79 of the said Act, the comptroller shall cause to be entered in the register a record of such removal, and the cause thereof.

46. If the registered proprietor of a trade mark send to the comptroller, together with the prescribed fee, notice of an alteration in his address, the comptroller shall alter the register accordingly.

Alteration of address in register.

47. Whenever an order is made by the Court for making, expunging, or varying an entry from or in the register, the comptroller shall, if he thinks that such rectification or variation should be made public, and at the expense of the person applying for the same, publish, by advertisement or otherwise, and in such manner as he thinks just, the circumstances attending the rectification or variation in the register.

Publication of rectification or variation of register.

48. Whenever the registered proprietor of any trade mark intends to apply for the leave of the Court to add to or to alter such trade mark, under section 92 of the said Act, the notice to be given to the comptroller shall be given fourteen days at least before such application. If leave be granted on such application, the applicant shall forthwith supply to the comptroller such a number of representations of the trade mark, as altered, as he may deem sufficient.

Notice to comptroller of order of Court for alteration of trade mark under sect. 92 of Act.

INSPECTION OF REGISTER.

49. The register of trade marks shall be open to the inspection of the public, on payment of the prescribed fee, on every week day between the hours of ten and four, except on the days and at the times following:—

Hours of inspection.

- (a) Christmas Day, Good Friday, the day observed as Her Majesty's birthday, days observed as days of public fast or thanksgiving, and days observed as holidays at the Bank of England; or
- (b) Days which may from time to time be notified by a placard posted in a conspicuous place at the Patent Office;
- (c) Times when the register is required for any purpose of official use.

POWER TO DISPENSE WITH EVIDENCE.

50. Where under these Rules any person is required to do any act or thing, or to sign any document, or to make any declaration on behalf of himself or of any body corporate, or any document or evidence is required to be produced to or left with the comptroller, or at the Patent Office, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the comptroller that from any reasonable cause such person is unable to do such act or thing, or to sign such document, or make such declaration, or that such document or evidence cannot be produced or left as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the comptroller, with the sanction of the Board of Trade, and upon the production of such other evidence, and subject to such terms as they may think fit, to dispense with any such act or thing, document, declaration, or evidence.

Dispensing with evidence.

AMENDMENTS.

51. Any document or drawing or other representation of a trade mark for the amending of which no special provision is made by the said Act, may be amended, and any irregularity in procedure which in the opinion of the comptroller may be obviated without detriment to the interests of any person, may be corrected, if the comptroller think fit, and on such terms as he may direct.

ENLARGEMENT OF TIME.

Comptroller may enlarge time.

52. The time prescribed by these Rules for doing any act, or taking any proceeding thereunder, may be enlarged by the comptroller, if he think fit, and upon such notice to other parties, and proceedings thereon, and upon such terms, as he may direct.

CUTLERS' COMPANY.

Sheffield applications in duplicate.

53. All applications to the Cutlers' Company for registration of a trade mark, under section 81 of the said Act, shall be in duplicate, accompanied by the prescribed fees and representations.

Notice to comptroller.

54. The Cutlers' Company shall, within seven days of the receipt by them of an application to register a trade mark, send the comptroller one copy of such application, by way of notice thereof, together with two representations of the mark for each class for which the applicant seeks registration.

Time within which comptroller may object to application made at Sheffield.

55.—(1.) The time within which the comptroller shall give notice to the Cutlers' Company of any objection he may have to the acceptance of an application for registration made to the said company shall be one month from the date of the receipt by the comptroller of the notice from the said company of the making of the application.

Advertisement of application made at Sheffield.

(2.) If no such objection is made by the comptroller, the Cutlers' Company shall require the applicant to send the comptroller a wood block or electrotype as the comptroller may direct, and the comptroller shall if satisfied with such wood block or electrotype, advertise the application in the same manner as an application made to him at the Patent Office.

Manner of notifying to Cutlers' Company application received by comptroller.

(3.) The manner in which the comptroller shall notify to the Cutlers' Company an application and proceedings thereon made as mentioned in subsection 8 of section 81 of the said Act shall be by sending to the Cutlers' Company a copy of the official paper containing the application of which notice is required to be given, with a note distinguishing such application.

Similarity of proceedings at London and at Sheffield.

56. The provisions of these Rules as to forms, representations, the proceedings on opposition to registration, registration, and all subsequent proceedings shall, as far as the circumstances allow, apply to all applications to register made to the Cutlers' Company, and to all proceedings consequent thereon.

CERTIFICATES.

Certificate by comptroller.

57. The comptroller, when required for the purpose of any legal proceeding or other special purpose to give a certificate as to any entry, matter, or thing which he is authorised by the said Act or any of these Rules to make or do, may, on receipt of a request in writing, and on payment of the prescribed fee, give such certificate, and shall specify on the face of it the legal proceeding or other purpose for which such certificate is granted.

DECLARATIONS.

58. The statutory declarations required by the said Act and these Rules, or used in any proceedings thereunder, shall be made and subscribed as follows:—

Manner in which, and persons before whom, declaration is to be taken.

- (a) In the United Kingdom, before any justice of the peace, or any commissioner or other officer authorised by law in any part of the United Kingdom to administer an oath for the purpose of any legal proceeding;
- (b) In any other part of Her Majesty's dominions, before any Court, judge, justice of the peace, or any officer authorised by law to administer an oath there for the purpose of a legal proceeding; and
- (c) If made out of Her Majesty's dominions, before a British minister, or person exercising the functions of a British minister, or a consul, vice-consul, or other person exercising the functions of a British consul, or a notary public, or before a judge or magistrate.

59. Any document purporting to have affixed, impressed, or subscribed thereto or thereon the seal or signature of any person hereby authorised to take such declaration in testimony of such declaration having been made and subscribed before him, may be admitted by the comptroller without proof of the genuineness of any such seal or signature, or of the official character of such person or his authority to take such declaration.

Notice of seal of officer taking declaration to prove itself.

REPEAL.

60. All general rules as to the registration of trade marks heretofore made by the Lord Chancellor under the Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875, and in force on the 31st day of December, 1883, shall be, and they are hereby repealed, as from that date, without prejudice, nevertheless, to any proceeding which may have been taken under such Rules.

Previous rules repealed.

J. CHAMBERLAIN,
President of the Board of Trade.

DESIGNS RULES.

By virtue of the provisions of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, the Board of Trade do hereby make the following Rules:—

COMMENCEMENT.

1. These Rules may be cited as the Designs Rules, 1883, and shall come into operation from and immediately after the 31st day of December, 1883.

INTERPRETATION.

Interpretation.

2. In the construction of these Rules any words herein used defined by the said Act shall have the meanings thereby assigned to them respectively.

FEES.

Fees.

3. The fees to be paid under the said Act, so far as it relates to applications for and registration of designs, shall be the fees specified in the first schedule hereto.

FORMS.

Forms.

4. An application for the registration of a design shall be made in the Form E., in the second schedule hereto. The remaining forms in such schedule may be used in all cases to which they are applicable.

CLASSIFICATION OF GOODS.

Classification
of goods.

5. For the purposes of the registration of designs and of these Rules, goods are classified in the manner appearing in the third schedule hereto.

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION.

Agents.

6. All communications between an applicant for the registration of a design and the comptroller or the Board of Trade, as the case may be, may be made by or through an agent duly authorized to the satisfaction of the comptroller.

Address of comptroller.

7. An application for the registration of a design shall, with the prescribed fee, be left at the Patent Office, Designs Branch, or be sent prepaid by post, addressed to the comptroller at the Patent Office, Designs Branch, 25, Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane, London.

Size of papers.

8. An application for the registration of a design, and all drawings, sketches, photographs, or tracings of a design, and all other documents sent to or left at the Patent Office, Designs Branch, or otherwise furnished to the comptroller or to the Board of Trade, shall be written, printed, copied, or drawn upon strong wide-ruled fools-cap paper (on one side only), of the size of 13 inches by 8 inches, leaving a margin of not less than one inch and a-half on the left-hand part thereof, and the signature of the applicants or agents thereto must be written in a large and legible hand.

The comptroller may in any particular case vary the requirements of this Rule as he may think fit.

9. An application for the registration of a design shall be accompanied by a sketch or drawing, or by three exactly similar drawings, photographs, or tracings of the design, or by three specimens of the design, and shall, in describing the nature of the design, state whether it is applicable for the pattern or for the shape or configuration of the design, and the means by which it is applicable.

Sketches and drawings.
Nature of design.

When sketches, drawings, or tracings are furnished, they must be fixed.

When the articles to which designs are applied are not of a kind which can be pasted into books, drawings, photographs, or tracings of such designs shall be furnished.

10. On receipt of an application for registration the comptroller shall send to the applicant an acknowledgment thereof.

Acknowledgment to applicant.

11. If the comptroller determines to register a design, he shall as soon as may be send to the applicant a certificate of such registration in the prescribed form, sealed with the seal of the Patent Office.

Notice of registration.

12. Any application, notice, or other document authorised or required to be left, made, or given at the Patent Office, or to the comptroller, or to any other person under these Rules, may be sent by a prepaid letter through the post, and if so sent shall be deemed to have been left, made, or given respectively at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

Applications may be sent by post.

In proving such service or sending it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter was properly addressed and put into the post.

13. Before exercising any discretionary power given to the comptroller by the said Act adversely to an applicant for registration of a design the comptroller shall give him ten days notice of the time when he may be heard personally or by his agent before the comptroller.

Hearing by comptroller.

14. Within five days from the date when such notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, the applicant shall notify to the comptroller whether or not he intends to be heard upon the matter.

Hearing by comptroller.

15. The decision or determination of the comptroller in the exercise of any such discretionary power as aforesaid shall be notified to the applicant.

Notification of comptroller's decision.

APPEAL TO THE BOARD OF TRADE.

16. Where the comptroller refuses to register a design, and the applicant intends to appeal to the Board of Trade from such refusal, he shall, within one month from the date of the decision appealed against, leave at the Patent Office, Designs Branch, a notice of such his intention.

Notice of appeal to Board of Trade.

Statement on appeal.

17. Such notice shall be accompanied by a statement of the grounds of appeal, and of the applicant's case in support thereof.

Notice to secretary of Board of Trade.

18. The applicant shall forthwith on leaving such notice send a copy thereof to the secretary of the Board of Trade, No. 7, Whitehall Gardens, London.

Directions by Board of Trade.

19. The Board of Trade may thereupon give such directions (if any) as they may think fit for the purpose of the hearing of the appeal for the Board of Trade.

Notice of time of hearing.

20. Seven days notice, or such shorter notice as the Board of Trade may in any particular case direct, of the time and place appointed for the hearing of the appeal shall be given to the comptroller and the applicant.

REGISTER OF DESIGNS.

Registering design.

21. Upon the sealing of a certificate of registration the comptroller shall cause to be entered in the register of designs the name, address, and description of the registered proprietor, and the date upon which the application for registration was received by the comptroller, which day shall be deemed to be the date of the registration.

Subsequent proprietors.

22. Where a person becomes entitled to the copyright in a registered design, or to any share or interest therein, by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law, or where a person acquires any right to apply the design either exclusively or otherwise, a request for the entry of his name in the register as such proprietor of the design, or as having acquired such right, as the case may be, (hereinafter called the claimant,) shall be addressed to the comptroller, and left at the Patent Office, Designs Branch.

Signature to request.

23. Every such request shall, in the case of an individual, be made and signed by the person requiring to be registered as proprietor; and in the case of a firm or partnership, by some one or more members of such firm or partnership, or, in either case, by his or their agent respectively duly authorised to the satisfaction of the comptroller, and, in the case of a body corporate, by their agent authorised in like manner.

Particulars in request.

24. Every such request shall state the name, address, and description of the claimant, and the particulars of the assignment, transmission, or other operation of law by virtue of which the request is made, so as to show the manner in which and the person or persons to whom the design has been assigned or transmitted, or the person or persons who has or have acquired such right as aforesaid, as the case may be.

Statutory declaration with request.

25. Every such request shall be accompanied by a statutory declaration to be thereunder written verifying the several statements therein, and declaring that the particulars above described comprise every material fact and document affecting the proprietorship of the design or the right to apply the same, as the case may be, as claimed by such request.

Proof of title if required.

26. The claimant shall furnish to the comptroller such other proof of title as he may require for his satisfaction.

27. A body corporate may be registered as proprietor by its corporate name. Corporate name.

28. Where an order has been made by the Court, under section 90 of the said Act, the person in whose favour such order has been made shall forthwith leave at the Patent Office an office copy of such order. The register shall thereupon be rectified, or the purport of such order shall otherwise be duly entered in the register, as the case may be. Notice of order of Court.

POWER TO DISPENSE WITH EVIDENCE.

29. Where under these Rules any person is required to do any act or thing, or to sign any document, or make any declaration on behalf of himself or of any body corporate, or any document or evidence is required to be produced to or left with the comptroller or at the Patent Office, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the comptroller that from any reasonable cause such person is unable to do such act or thing, or to sign such document, or make such declaration, or that such document or evidence cannot be produced or left as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the comptroller, with the sanction of the Board of Trade, and upon the production of such other evidence and subject to such terms as they may think fit, to dispense with any such act or thing, document, declaration, or evidence. Comptroller's discretion as to evidence.

AMENDMENTS.

30. Any document, drawings, sketches, or tracings for the amending of which no special provision is made by the said Act, may be amended, and any irregularity in procedure which, in the opinion of the comptroller, may be obviated without detriment to the interests of any person may be corrected, if the comptroller think fit, and upon such terms as he may direct. Amendments.

ENLARGEMENT OF TIME.

31. The time prescribed by these Rules for doing any act or taking any proceeding thereunder may be enlarged by the comptroller, if he think fit, and upon such terms as he may direct. Enlargement of time.

MARKING GOODS.

32. Before the delivery on sale of any article to which a registered design has been applied, the proprietor of such design shall, if such article is included in any of the classes one to twelve in the third schedule hereto, cause each such article to be marked with the abbreviation "RD" and the number appearing on the certificate of registration, and shall, if such article is included in the classes thirteen or fourteen in the third schedule hereto, cause each such article to be marked with the abbreviation "REGD". Registration mark.

INSPECTION.

33. On such days and during such hours as the comptroller shall from time to time determine and notify by a placard posted at the Patent Office any person paying the prescribed fee may, on production of the number of any design of which the copyright has ceased, inspect such design, and any person paying the prescribed fee may take a copy or copies of such design. Office hours.

CERTIFICATE BY COMPTROLLER.

Certificate in
ceeding.

34. Where a certificate is required for the purpose of any legal proceeding or other special purpose as to any entry, matter, or thing which the comptroller is authorised by the said Act or these Rules to make or do, the comptroller may, on a request in writing and on payment of the prescribed fee, give such certificate, which shall also specify on the face of it the purpose for which it has been requested as aforesaid.

Search.

SEARCHES ON PRODUCTION OF SKETCH OF DESIGN.

35. The comptroller may, on receipt of the prescribed fee, make searches among the designs registered at the Patent Office after the commencement of the Act, and inform any person requesting him so to do whether a particular design produced by such person, and to be applied to goods in any particular class, is or is not identical with or an obvious imitation of any design applied to such goods and registered since the commencement of the Act.

INDUSTRIAL AND INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITIONS.

Notice of exhibition.

36. Any person desirous of exhibiting a design, or any article to which a design has been applied, at an industrial or international exhibition, or of publishing a description of a design during the period of the holding of the exhibition, shall, after having obtained from the Board of Trade a certificate that the exhibition is an industrial or international one, give to the comptroller seven days notice in writing of his intention to exhibit the design or article, or to publish a description of the design, as the case may be.

For the purpose of identifying the design in the event of an application to register the same being subsequently made, the applicant shall furnish to the comptroller a brief description of the nature of the design, accompanied by a sketch or drawing thereof, and such other information as the comptroller may in each case require.

REPEAL.

previous Rules.

37. All general rules and regulations made by any authority under the Acts relating to the Copyright of Designs, and in force on the 31st December, 1883, shall be, and they are hereby repealed as from that date without prejudice nevertheless to any application then pending.

J. CHAMBERLAIN,
President of the Board of Trade.

RULES to be observed in Proceedings before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council

Under the Act of the 5th and 6th Will. IV., intituled "An Act to amend the Law touching LETTERS PATENT FOR INVENTIONS" (cap. 83).

RULE I.

A party intending to apply by petition, under sect. 2 of the said act, shall give public notice by advertising in the London Gazette three times, and in three London papers, and three times in some country paper published in the town where or near to which he carries on any manufacture of anything made according to his specification, or near to or in which he resides, in case he carries on no such manufacture, or published in the county where he carries on such manufacture, or where he lives, in case there shall not be any paper published in such town, that he intends to petition his Majesty under the said section, and shall in such advertisements state the object of such petition, and give notice of the day on which he intends to apply for a time to be fixed for hearing the matter of his petition (which day shall not be less than four weeks from the date of the publication of the last of the advertisements to be inserted in the London Gazette), and that on or before such day, notice must be given of any opposition intended to be made to the petition; and any person intending to oppose the said application, shall lodge notice to that effect at the Council Office, on or before such day so named in the said advertisements, and having lodged such notice shall be entitled to have from the petitioner four weeks' notice of the time appointed for the hearing.

RULE II.

A party intending to apply by petition, under sect. 4 of the said act, shall in the advertisements directed to be published by the said section, give notice of the day on which he intends to apply for a time to be fixed for hearing the matter of his petition (which day shall not be less than four weeks from the date of the publication of the last of the advertisements to be inserted in the London Gazette), and that on or before such day caveats must be entered; and any person intending to enter a caveat shall enter the same at the Council Office, on or before such day so named in the said advertisements; and having entered such caveat, shall be entitled to have from the petitioner four weeks' notice of the time appointed for the hearing.

RULE III.

Petitions under sects. 2 and 4 of the said act must be presented within one week from the insertion of the last of the advertisements required to be published in the London Gazette.

RULE IV.

All petitions must be accompanied with affidavits of advertisements having been inserted according to the provisions of sect. 4 of the said act, and the 1st and 2nd of these rules, and the matters in such affidavits may be disputed by the parties opposing upon the hearing of the petitions.

RULE V.

All persons entering caveats under sect. 4 of the said act, and all parties to any former suit or action touching letters patent, in respect of which petitions shall have been presented under sect. 2 of the said act, and all persons lodging notices of opposition under the 1st of these rules, shall respectively be entitled to be served with copies of petitions presented under the said sections, and no application to fix a time for hearing shall be made without affidavit of such service.

RULE VI.

All parties served with petitions shall lodge at the Council Office, within a fortnight after such service, notice of the grounds of their objections to the granting of the prayers of such petitions.

RULE VII.

Parties may have copies of all papers lodged in respect of any application under the said act, at their own expense.

RULE VIII.

The registrar of the Privy Council, or other officer to whom it may be referred to tax the costs incurred in the matter of any petition presented under the said act, shall allow or disallow in his discretion all payments made to persons of science or skill examined as witnesses to matters of opinion chiefly.

RULE IX.

A party applying for an extension of a patent, under sect. 4 of the said act, must lodge at the Council Office six printed copies of the specification, and also four copies of the balance sheet of expenditure and receipts relating to the patent in question, which accounts are to be proved on oath before the lords of the committee at the hearing. In the event of the applicant's specification not having been printed, and if the expense of making six copies of any drawing therein contained or referred to would be considerable, the lodging of two copies only of such specification and drawing will be deemed sufficient.

All copies mentioned in this rule must be lodged not less than one week before the day fixed for hearing the application.

The Judicial Committee will hear the Attorney-General, or other counsel, on behalf of the Crown, against granting any application made under either the 2nd or 4th section of the said act, in case it shall be thought fit to oppose the same on such behalf.
