

PROBLEMS AND RECOMMENDED SOLUTIONS
FEDERAL TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER ACT OF 1986
Senate Report 99-283

Problem 1: Paragraph 11(b)(1) on page 25 says that the term cooperative research and development agreement does not include a procurement contract or cooperative agreement as those terms are used in sections 6303, 6304, and 6305 of title 31 U.S.C. The text of the report, however, says on page 11 that these arrangements are expected to be forms of cooperative agreements as established by 31 U.S.C. 6305.

Recommended Solution: Revise the report text to say:

Most of the cooperative arrangements and patent assignments are not expected to be forms of cooperative agreements...

Problem 2: Both sections 11 and 12 use the term "laboratory" but it is only defined for section 11. The same definition should apply to both.

Recommended Solution: Revise paragraph 11(3)(d) to read,

As used in this section and section 12, the term---

Problem 3: While it is intended for laboratories to use funds provided by a collaborating party under subparagraph 11(a)(2)(A), the language may not be strong enough to keep laboratories from being required to turn them into the Treasury. This is because:

- o There is no provision in section 11 to do more than accept funds from collaborating parties while section 12 provides for agencies to keep, distribute, and use royalties, and eventually for the appropriation of them.
- o Section 17 on page 28 says that no payments shall be made or contracts entered into pursuant to this Act except to such extent or in such amounts as are provided in advance in appropriation acts.
- o 31 U.S.C. 1341 says that an officer or employee of the Government may not involve the Government in a contract or obligation for the payment of money before an appropriation is made unless authorized by law.
- o 31 U.S.C. 3302 says that except as provided by another law, an official or agent of the Government shall keep the money safe without using it and deposit it in the Treasury as soon as practicable without deduction for any charge or claim.

Recommended Solutions:

- a. Revise subparagraph 11 (a)(2)(A) to say:

accept, retain, and use funds, services, and property from collaborating parties and provide services and property to collaborating parties;

- b. Revise section 17 to say:

No payments shall be made or contracts shall be entered into pursuant to this Act except to such extent or in such amounts as are provided in advance in appropriation Acts or are provided to a laboratory by a collaborating party under a cooperative research and development agreement for use by the laboratory in accordance with such agreement as authorized by section 11.

The words "and shall transmit a copy thereof, when settled, to the Secretary of the Treasury" are omitted because of the restatement. § 3302. Custodians of money

(a) Except as provided by another law, an official or agent of the United States Government having custody or possession of public money shall keep the money safe without—

- (1) lending the money;
- (2) using the money;
