Notice

MEMORANDUM

June 24, 1938

Remitter: Du-Art Press (38188)--Class A

Title: "The Good Old Days"

Question: Copyright notice

The notice of copyright is on the second page from the one bearing the title (this being the first printed page after the page with the title) but is six pages from the general title-page appearing subsequent to the notice. Mr. Howell has ordered registration made in the following terms:

"There is a preliminary title-page and the notice appears on the page following. It certainly strikes the eye on opening the book, and in my opinion substantially complies."

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. Wise

Chairman, Revisory Board

Remitter: Carl W. Clark (37819)--Class A.

Title: "Central Schools and the Centralization of School Districts in the State of New York"

Question: Copyright notice.

The notice of copyright is on the back of the page which bears a part of the title, the complete title being found only on the cover. Therefore, Mr. Howell feels that registration should be made, and uses the following terms:

"The notice is on the back of page following title-page. Nevertheless it is where the notice is usually found in material of this character and immediately strikes the eye. Revised edition (A2)."

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. Vase

Remitter: Benjamin Franklin Bills (38253)--Class A

Title: "Manual for Executives" and "Working Sets of Organization Outlines"

Question: Copyright notice.

The notice of copyright is on the sheet (not page) following the title-page. Mr. Howell is of the opinion that the notice is misplaced, "nevertheless it immediately strikes the eye upon opening the book on a page dedicated exclusively to the notice, and, in my opinion, substantially complies."

Respectfully submitted,

Remitter: Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist
Convention (Trust)--Class AA-267627

Title: "Vacation Bible School, Beginner Book A."

Question: Notice of Copyright

The notice of copyright is on the third page from the one that would normally be considered the title-page. However, the first page upon which the title which is used by the applicant appears is the one immediately preceding the page bearing the notice. Mr. Howell, therefore, has ordered registration in the following words:

"This title appears on page 3 and also on page 4 where the notice is (as well as on each subsequent page). In my opinion it substantially complies, but write as to express provisions of Section 19."

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. Vase

Chairman, Revisory Board
