THE TRADE MARKS ACT, 1919.

INTRODUCTION.

THE Trade Marks Act, 1919, was passed on December 23rd, 1919, but the date for its coming into operation was April 1st, 1920.

The chief alteration which it makes is that it introduces a new kind of registration of trade marks. Previous Trade Marks Acts successively enlarged the classes of marks which could be registered as trade marks. The new Act leaves those classes unaltered, but the register is henceforth divided into two parts, one corresponding to and being a continuation of the old register, and the other part being a new part confined to marks which qualify for registration under the provisions of the new Act. These parts are respectively called Part A. and Part B. Moreover, the marks registered in Part B. have rights attached to them which are different from and narrower than those attached to marks registered in Part A.

Registration in Part B. of the Register.

Under the principal Act a trade mark must contain or consist of at least one of the following essential particulars:—(1) The name of a company, individual or firm represented in a special or particular manner; (2) the signature of the applicant for registration or some predecessor in his business; (3) an invented word or words; (4) a word or words having no direct reference to the character or quality of the goods, and not being according to its ordinary signification a geographical name or a surname; and (5) any other distinctive mark (Section 9). "Mark" includes a device, brand, heading, label, ticket, name, signature, word, letter, numeral, or any combination thereof (Section 3). But by Section 9 it was provided that a name, signature, or word or words, other than such as fall within the descriptions in (1), (2), (3) and (4) should not, except by order of the Board of Trade or the Court, be deemed a distinctive mark. Trade marks of a certain class used before August 13th, 1875, are under certain conditions allowed special privilege in respect of registration, and there are some special prohibitions of registration in respect of cotton marks, which however were varied by the Trade Marks Act, 1914.

The new Act does not in any way alter the classes or character of marks that can be registered under the five paragraphs of Section 9 of the principal Act. It is true that paragraph (5) is amended by Section 7 by substituting for "except by order of the Board of Trade or the court be deemed a distinctive mark" the words "be registrable under the provisions of this paragraph, except upon evidence of its distinctiveness," but that is a change of procedure and not of substance; it is further considered in the notes to Section 7.

Part B. of the register is to comprise all trade marks registered under Part I. of the Act of 1919, and all trade marks entered on or removed thereto under that Act (Section 1 (3)). Section 2 sets out the conditions under which an application may be made for registration of a "mark" in Part B. of the register. The mark must have for not less than two years been bonâ fide used in the United Kingdom upon or in connection with goods (whether for sale in the United Kingdom or export abroad) for the purpose of indicating that they are the goods of the proprietor of the mark by virtue of manufacture, selection, certification, dealing with or offering for sale. In such a case the person claiming to be proprietor of the mark may apply to have the mark entered as his registered trade mark in Part B. in respect of such goods.

The use required is use as a trade mark, for Section 3 of the principal Act defines trade mark as meaning a mark used or proposed to be used for the purpose stated in the new Section.

The registrar is to consider every such application, and he may refuse it on grounds that are specified, but in any other case he "shall" (not "may") accept the application. The grounds are four in number. If it appear to him, after such search, if any, as he may deem necessary, (1) that the application is inconsistent with the provisions of Section 11 of the principal Act, (2) or with the provisions of Section 19 of that Act, or (3) if he is not satisfied that the mark has been so used as aforesaid, or (4) if he is not satisfied that it is capable of distinguishing the goods of the applicant, he may refuse the application.

Section 11 prohibits the registration of deceptive marks or marks disentitled to protection in a court of justice or any scandalous design. Section 19 relates to marks which conflict with those already on the register.

The registrar may, however, in any of the above cases accept the application subject to conditions, amendments or modifications as to the goods or classes of goods in respect of which the mark is to be registered, or to such limitations, if any, as to mode or place of user or otherwise as he may think fit to impose.

The provisions with respect to Part B. may serve to assist registration in this country of marks which are trade marks under the International Convention, but have not hitherto been registrable here. For that Convention has of itself not the force of law, but only so far as it has been made law by legislation in this country (California Fig Syrup Co.'s Trade Mark, 40 C. D. 620, 6 R. P. C. 126, and Carter Medicine Co.'s Trade Mark, [1892] 3 Ch. 472, 9 R. P. C. 401). Thus, notwithstanding the Convention, no trade mark was under the Act of 1905 registrable in this country unless it included one at least of the essential particulars under Section 9 of that Act. Part B. is not expressly or necessarily confined to such marks.

The provisions may also serve to assist traders in the United Kingdom to obtain registration of their trade marks abroad, for in some countries registration is only possible for a foreigner if his trade mark is registered in the country of origin.

It is to be observed that nothing is said in the provisions of the Act of 1919 above referred to as to the extent in quantity or area of the user of the mark. Application may be made for registration if the mark has been used for the purpose of a trade mark for the period specified although such use of it has been slight, and, it is submitted, although it is not shown that by such user it has become distinctive of the goods of the applicant in connection with which it has been used. The registrar has not to be satisfied that it is so distinctive, but that it is capable of distinguishing the goods of the applicant. The proprietor can thus under the Act of 1919 apply for registration before the stage has been reached which would warrant an application under the principal Act, and, if the application be successful, obtain the modified rights which registration in Part B. of the register gives. For such registration, unlike registration in Part A., does not give the exclusive right to the use of the trade mark upon or in connection with the goods in respect of which it is registered (Section 39 of the Act of 1905); it is only primâ facie evidence that the registered proprietor has such exclusive right. In any action for infringement of the trade mark, if the defendant establishes to the satisfaction of the court that the user of which the plaintiff complains is not calculated to deceive or to lead to the belief that the goods the subject of such user were goods manufactured, selected, certified, dealt with or offered for sale by the proprietor of the trade mark, no relief is to be given in respect of such registration (Section 4); and the action so far as founded on such registration will accordingly fail.

It is not only as regards the effect of registration in actions for infringement, that registration in Part B. differs from registration in Part A. The provisions of the principal Act, as amended by the Act of 1919, and subject to the provisions of that Act are to apply to the B. trade marks with certain exceptions (Section 3). The most important of these exceptions are Section 9 (registrable trade marks) which is of course excluded, Section 12 (application for registration), Section 14 (9) (modification of trade mark on appeal), Section 15 (disclaimers), Section 24 (associated trade marks), Section 25 (combined trade marks), Section 27 (assignment and user of associated trade marks), Section 31 (status of unrenewed trade marks), Section 36 (trade marks registered under previous Acts), Section 39 (rights of proprietor of trade mark) except the proviso, which relates to the rights of two or more persons registered as proprietors of the same trade mark in respect of the same goods, Section 41 (registration to be conclusive after seven years) except the proviso, which preserves the rights of the first user of a trade mark, Section 42 (unregistered trade mark) prohibiting actions for infringement of such trade marks, and Section 62 (standardization, etc., marks).

The procedure on an application is considered in the notes to Section 2.

A mark may be registered in Part B. notwithstanding any registration in Part A. by the same proprietor of the same mark or any part or parts thereof (sub-section (6)).

If an application is made for registration in Part A. of the register, the registrar may, if the applicant is willing, instead of refusing the application, treat it as an application for registration in Part B (Section 5).

Provisions for the prevention of abuses of trade marks.

It is a principle of trade-mark law that, where an article has been patented, the name by which it has been ordinarily described during the currency of the patent, cannot, when the patent has expired, be monopolised by the patentee by his claiming it as his trade mark; everyone has the right to use that name as the name of the article. This was the principle laid down in the Linoleum case,* and it has often been applied since that decision; and word marks have been removed from the register on the ground of infringing the principle. Indeed it has been extended or applied since to the name of a new article, not patented, where the name has been bestowed by the originator of the article as the name of the article itself (see for instance Williams Limited's Application, 34 R. P. C. 197 (Chocaroons)).

Some words of this nature have, however, got upon the register, and an express provision (Section 6) has been incorporated in the Act of 1919 to deal with the matter, and it applies to registration in Part A. or in Part B. of the register. It has some retrospective effect, and has effect notwithstanding Section 41 of the principal Act, which makes registration generally conclusive after the lapse of seven years. It provides that where in the case of an article or substance manufactured under any patent in force at or granted after the passing of the Act of 1919, a word trade mark registered under the principal Act or Part I. of the Act of 1919, that is in Part B., is the name or only practicable name of the article or substance so manufactured, all rights to the exclusive use of such trade mark, whether under the common law or by registration (and notwithstanding the provisions of Section 41 of the principal Act), shall cease upon the expiration or determination of the patent, and thereafter such word shall not be deemed a distinctive mark, and may be removed by the Court from the register on the application of any person aggrieved.

The words "only practicable name" cover the case of a chemical substance, which may have a highly complicated technical name not suited for the ordinary use of commerce, for which purpose it is known by another name.

The provision above referred to relates to articles or substances manufactured under patents; it is followed by one relating to chemical elements or compounds, whether patented or not. No word which is the only practicable name or description of any single chemical element or single chemical compound, as distinguished from a mixture, is to be registered as a trade mark. Moreover, any such word now or hereafter on the register may, notwithstanding Section 41 of the principal Act, be removed from the register on the application of any person aggrieved (Section 6, sub-section (2)). But the provisions of the sub-section are not to apply where the mark is used to denote only the proprietor's brand or make of such substance, as distinguished from the substance as made by others, and in association with a suitable and practicable name open to the public use. The proviso appears to contemplate the case of a word-mark which the proprietor uses for the true purpose of a trade mark, but which the public might use as or take to be the name of the substance, and therefore it is further required, in order to obtain the benefit of the proviso, that it should be used "in association with" a name open to the public to use and that name must be both suitable and practicable. It would not be sufficient to show that there is a proper chemical name for the substance, if that name is complicated or otherwise unsuited for general use.

There is a further proviso giving a respite of four years from the passing of the Act (December 23rd, 1919), for a mark registered before that date.

Under an amendment made by Section 9 of the Act, applications for the rectification of the register can now be made in the first instance to the registrar, if no action concerning the trade mark is pending. This provision is made to apply to all such applications under Section 6 of the Act of 1919 (Section 6 (4)).

Other Amendments.

The other amendments of the Act of 1905 made by the new Act are not of first importance.

The alteration of paragraph (5) of Section 9 has already been noticed. An order of the Board of Trade or the Court is no longer required for registration of a name or signature or word not falling within paragraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4); the application for any such name or signature or word will be dealt with by the registrar. Evidence of distinctiveness is necessary (Section 7).

In oppositions the option of an appeal from the registrar, with the consent of the parties, to the Board of Trade is abolished, all such appeals being in future to the Court.

It is now expressly provided that in any appeal from the registrar to the Court under the principal Act or that of 1919, the Court shall have and exercise the same discretionary powers as are conferred upon the registrar (Section 8).

An application for rectification of the register may, at the option of the applicant, and provided that no action concerning the trade mark is pending, be made in the first instance to the registrar (Section 9).

In an application for rectification, the Court or the registrar has power to direct a trade mark entered in Part A. of the register to be removed to Part B. (Section 9 (3)).

The registrar has now fuller power as to costs, and his order as to costs may be made a rule of Court (Section 10).

Registration of an assignment of a registered trade mark by the assignee was under the principal Act optional. It is now enacted that where a person becomes entitled by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law to a registered trade mark, he shall make application to the registrar to register his title, and the registrar shall, on receipt of such application, and on proof of title to his satisfaction, register him as the proprietor of the trade mark, and shall cause an entry to be made in the prescribed manner on the register of the assignment, transmission, or other instrument affecting the title.. A decision of the registrar is subject to appeal to the Court.

To enforce this provision, it is enacted that a document or instrument in respect of which no entry has been made in the register in accordance with the above-mentioned provisions, is not to be admitted in evidence in any court in proof of the title to a trade mark unless the Court otherwise directs. The prohibition does not apply in applications made to rectify the registration under Section 35 of the principal Act or in appeals under the section itself (Section 11).

Various minor amendments of the principal Act are made by Section 12 of the Act of 1919, such amendments being set out in the second schedule. They are further referred to in the notes to Section 12.

The Trade Marks Act, 1919, is printed below with notes to each section. The references to "Kerly" (or to K.) are to the fourth edition of "Kerly on Trade Marks," to which this book is intended as a supplement.

The Act of 1905 as amended by the Trade Marks Acts, 1914 and 1919, follow, the repealed parts being italicised and the new parts being printed within brackets.

The volume also contains the Trade Mark Rules, 1920, which came into force from and immediately after the 31st day of March, 1920.

CHAPTER 79.

An Act to amend the Trade Marks Act, 1905.

[23rd December, 1919.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and

Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

REGISTRATION OF CERTAIN TRADE MARKS NOT REGISTRABLE UNDER PRINCIPAL ACT.

Division of Register of Trade Marks into two parts.

1.—(1) The register of trade marks (including the Manchester Register) kept under the Trade Marks Act, 1905 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), shall be divided into two parts to be called respectively Part A. and Part B.

(2) Part A. of the register shall comprise all trade marks entered in the register of trade marks at the commencement of this Act and all trade marks which after the commencement of this Act may be registered under the provisions of the principal Act.

(3) Part B. shall comprise all trade marks registered under this Part of this Act, and all trade marks entered on or removed thereto under this Act.

The Register kept under the Trade Marks Act, 1905. See sections 4 to 7 of that Act (K., chap. iii., p. 62).

The Manchester Register relates to goods in Classes 23, 24, and 25, that is, cotton goods. See section 64 of the Act of 1905 (K., chap. vii., p. 129).

Registered under the provisions of the principal Act. The necessary qualifications are contained in section 9 of that Act (registrable trade marks), see above, p. 1.

There are, however, some modifications as regards cotton marks contained in section 64 (10) of the principal Act, which, as amended by the Trade Marks Act, 1914, and this Act, is printed below, p. 72.

All trade marks entered on or removed thereto under this Act. See section 9 (3).

Registration of Trade Marks in Part B.

2.—(1) Where any mark has for not less than two years been bonâ fide used in the United Kingdom upon or in connection with any goods (whether for sale in the United Kingdom or exportation abroad), for the purpose of indicating that they are the goods of the proprietor of the mark by virtue of manufacture, selection, certification, dealing with or offering for sale, the person claiming to be the proprietor of the mark may apply in writing to the registrar in the prescribed manner to have the mark entered as his registered trade mark in Part B. of the register in respect of such goods.

(2) The registrar shall consider every such application for registration of a trade mark in Part B. of the register, and if it appears to him, after such search, if any, as he may deem necessary, that the application is inconsistent with the provisions of section eleven or section nineteen of the principal Act, or if he is not satisfied that the mark has been so used as aforesaid, or that it is capable of distinguishing the goods of the applicant, he may refuse the application, or may accept it subject to conditions, amendments or modifications as to the goods or classes of goods in respect of which the mark is to be registered, or to such limitations, if any, as to mode or place of user or otherwise as he may think right to impose, and in any other case he shall accept the application.

(3) Every such application shall be accompanied by a statutory declaration verifying the user, including the date of first user, and such date shall be entered on the register.

(4) Any such refusal or conditional acceptance shall be subject to appeal to the court, and, if the ground for refusal is insufficiency of evidence as to user, such refusal shall be without prejudice to any application for registration of the trade mark under the provisions of the principal Act.

(5) Every such application shall, if accepted, be advertised in accordance with the provisions of the principal Act.

(6) A mark may be registered in Part B. notwithstanding any registration in Part A. by the same proprietor of the same mark or any part or parts thereof.

This section creates a new kind of registration confined to such marks as possess the qualification by user prescribed by it. The effect of registration is different from that of registration in Part A. of the register, more limited rights being conferred (see section 4). The section has been considered above, p. 2.

Sub-section (1).

"Mark" includes a device, brand, heading, label, ticket, name, signature, word, letter, numeral, or any combination thereof (section 3 of the Trade Marks Act, 1905) (K., p. 25).

"For not less than two years." It would appear from the prescribed form of statutory declaration to be made on application that the user must have been continuous during the two years prior to application (see Form T. M. No. 3).

"Exportation abroad." Use of a mark on goods shipped in English ports for the colonies has been held to be use in England: Société Anonyme des Ferreries de l'Étoile, [1894] 1 Ch. 61; 10 R. P. C. 436.

"For the purpose of indicating," etc. These words are taken from the definition of a trade mark in section 3 of the Act of 1905.

"In the prescribed manner." See Rule 35 of the Trade Mark Rules, 1920, and Forms T.M. No. 3 and Cotton No. 2, and see K., Procedure on Application to Register, p. 84.

"In respect of such goods." The registration cannot be wider as regards the goods for which the mark is registered than the user.

Sub-section (2).

"After such search, if any, as he may deem necessary." The matter of the search to be made is left to the judgment of the registrar. (See also Rule 29.) It is always advisable before adopting a mark as a trade mark to cause a search to be made in the register. As to searches, see K., p. 66.

"Inconsistent with the provisions of section 11 or section 19 of the principal Act." Section 11 of the Act of 1905 provides as follows: "It shall not be lawful to register as a trade mark or part of a trade mark any matter the use of which would, by reason of its being calculated to deceive or otherwise, be disentitled to protection in a Court of justice, or would be contrary to law or morality, or any scandalous design." (K., p. 297.) "Disentitled" does not mean "not entitled"; the fact that a mark does not comply with the requisites of section 9 of the principal Act does not bring it within section 11 (Imperial Tobacco Co. of Great Britain and Ireland, Lim. v. De Pasquali & Co., [1918] 2 Ch. 207; 35 R. P. C. 185). Section 19 of the Act of 1905 is as follows: "Except by order of the Court or in the case of trade marks in use before the thirteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, no trade mark shall be registered in respect of any goods or description of goods which is identical with one belonging to a different proprietor which is already on the register with respect to such goods or description of goods, or so nearly resembling such a trade mark as to be calculated to deceive." (See K., Identical or Resembling Marks, p. 247.)

"If he is not satisfied," etc. A form of statutory declaration to be made by the applicant is prescribed by Rule 35 and Form T.M. No. 3, but the registrar may require further evidence if he is not satisfied with that declaration. (See Rule 35 and sub-section (4).)

“Conditions, amendments or modifications.” Compare section 12, sub-section (2), of the Act of 1905. (See K., p. 82.)

“Or to such Limitations,” etc. These words accord with the language of section 12, sub-sections (2) and (4) of the Act of 1905, as amended by the second schedule to this Act. It had been held under that Act that a limitation as to the place of user was not authorised: Crispin's Application, 34 R. P. C. 249.

“Shall accept the application.” Subject to the four grounds of refusal specified in sub-section (2), and to the power of requiring conditions, etc., the registrar has no discretion conferred on him, but is bound to register. On applications to register in Part A. he has a discretion; it is a judicial discretion and is subject to appeal: Garrett's Application, [1916] 1 Ch. 436; 33 R. P. C. 117 (K., The Registrar's Discretion, p. 76).

Sub-section (3).

“Statutory declaration.” The prescribed form of application, T.M. No. 3, or Cotton No. 2, includes a form of statutory declaration.

Sub-section (4).

“Appeal to the Court.” An appeal is made by motion, and the notice of motion must be given within one month from the date of the registrar's decision or within such further time as he shall allow (Rule 122). And see K., Appeal from the Registrar, p. 100.

“Without prejudice to any application for registration of the trade mark under the provisions of the principal Act.” It may be that the mark falls within one of the paragraphs of section 9 of the principal Act and is registrable in Part A. of the register apart from any user of it (K., chap. viii., p. 135).

Sub-section (5).

As to advertisement under the principal Act, see section 13, which, as amended by the Act of 1919, is printed below, and Rules 41 to 44; and as to Cotton Marks, section 64 (4).

Advertisement is, of course, for the purpose of giving any person the opportunity of opposing the application. The provisions of section 14 of the principal Act, except sub-section (9) as to modification of a mark on appeal, apply to applications for registration in Part B.; see section 3 of the Act of 1919, printed below.

Sub-section (6).

It is hardly likely that a person registered in Part A. as proprietor of a trade mark will desire to register it in Part B. for the same goods, although he may wish to do so for other goods. However, the sub-section does not appear to be limited to registration in respect of other goods.

*Application of Certain Provisions of Principal Act to Part B.
Trade Marks.*

3.—The provisions of the principal Act, as amended by this Act, with the exception of those set out in the First Schedule to this Act, shall, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, apply in respect of trade marks to which this Part of this Act applies as if they were herein re-enacted and in terms made applicable to this Part of this Act.

“As amended by this Act.” The principal Act is printed below, p. 32, as amended.

The First Schedule to the Act of 1919 is as follows:—

PROVISIONS OF PRINCIPAL ACT NOT APPLIED.

No. of Section.	Subject-matter.
1	Short title.
2	Commencement of Act.
6	Incorporation of existing register.
9	Registrable trade marks.
12	Application for registration.
14 (D)	Modification of trade mark on appeals.
15	Disclaimers.
24	Associated trade marks.
25	Combined trade marks.
27	Assignment and user of associated trade marks.
31	Status of unrenewed trade marks.
36	Trade marks registered under previous Acts.
39 (except proviso)	Rights of proprietor of trade mark.
41 down to the words “against the provisions “of section eleven of “this Act.”	Registration to be conclusive after seven years.
42	Unregistered trade mark.
62	Standardization, &c., trade marks.
73	Repeal and saving for rules, &c.

The proviso to section 39, which is not excluded, relates to the rights inter se of two or more registered proprietors of the same (or substantially the same) trade mark registered in respect of the same goods. The rest of section 39 is excluded, the effect of registration in Part B. of the register being regulated by section 4 of the Act of 1919.

The first part of section 41, which is excluded, is that which provides that in legal proceedings relating to a registered trade mark the original registration shall after the expiration of seven years from the date of such original registration be taken to be valid in all respects with certain exceptions. A trade mark registered in Part B. of the register will therefore be open at any time to attack on the ground of the invalidity of the original registration.

The proviso to section 41 preserved the right of the first user of a trade mark to continue to use, and his right to register, his mark, notwithstanding the subsequent registration of a similar mark by another person. As amended, it is as follows:—"Provided that nothing in this Act shall entitle the proprietor of a registered trade mark to interfere with or restrain the user by any person of a similar trade mark upon or in connection with goods upon or in connection with which such person has, by himself or his predecessors in business, continuously used such trade mark from a date anterior to the user [or registration, whichever is the earlier,] of the first-mentioned trade mark by the proprietor thereof or his predecessors in business, or to object (on such user being proved) to such person being put upon the register for such similar trade mark in respect of such goods under the provisions of section twenty one of this Act."

By the exclusion of section 42, the proprietor of a trade mark registered in Part B. may, it would seem, sue for infringement of it as an unregistered trade mark either alternatively to or apart from his rights under section 4 of the Act of 1919.

Effect of Registration in Part B.

4. The registration of a person as the proprietor of a trade mark in Part B. of the register shall be prima facie evidence that that person has the exclusive right to the use of that trade mark, but, in any action for infringement of a trade mark entered in Part B. of the register, no injunction, interdict or other relief shall be granted to the owner of the trade mark in respect of such registration, if the defendant establishes to the satisfaction of the Court that the user of which the plaintiff complains is not calculated to deceive or to lead to the belief that the goods the subject of such user were goods manufactured, selected, certified, dealt with or offered for sale by the proprietor of the trade mark.

The general effect of this section has been considered above, p. 5.

The effect of registration (in Part A.), K., chap. xii., p. 359.

"Or other relief." For the relief granted in an action of infringement, see K., p. 488.

"Calculated to deceive or lead to the belief," etc. This is the test of infringement, see K., p. 431, but under the principal Act the registered proprietor of a trade mark has the exclusive right to the use of it upon or in connection with the goods in respect of which it is registered. Where, therefore, the defendant has used the plaintiff's trade mark on or in connection with such goods, the plaintiff need not show that that use is calculated to deceive.

In the case of a mark registered in Part B., registration is only prima facie evidence that the proprietor has the exclusive right to the use of the mark, and thus it is open to the defendant in an action for infringement to establish that his user is not calculated to deceive or lead to the belief that his goods are those of the plaintiff.

"Manufactured, selected," etc. These words follow the language of section 2.

Power to Treat Applications for Registration in Part A. as Applications for Registration in Part B.

5. If any person applies for the registration of a trade mark under the principal Act in Part A. of the register, the registrar may, if the applicant is willing, instead of refusing the application, treat it as an application for registration in Part B. of the register under this Part of the Act and deal with the application accordingly.

PART II.

PROVISIONS FOR THE PREVENTION OF ABUSES OF TRADE MARKS.

Removal from Register of Word Trade Marks used as Names of Articles.

6.—(1) Where in the case of an article or substance manufactured under any patent in force at or granted after the passing of this Act, a word trade mark registered under the principal Act or Part I. of this Act is the name or only practicable name of the article or substance so manufactured, all rights to the exclusive use of such trade mark, whether under the common law or by registration (and notwithstanding the provisions of section forty-one of the principal Act), shall cease upon the expiration or determination of the patent, and thereafter such word shall not be deemed a distinctive mark, and may be removed by the Court from the register on the application of any person aggrieved.

(2) No word which is the only practicable name or description of any single chemical element or single chemical compound, as distinguished from a mixture, shall be registered as a trade mark, and any such word now or hereafter on the register may, notwithstanding section forty-one of the principal Act, be removed by the Court from the register on the application of any person aggrieved:

Provided that—

(a) the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply where the mark is used to denote only the proprietor's brand or make of such substance, as distinguished from the substance as made by others, and in association with a suitable and practicable name open to the public use; and

(b) in the case of marks registered before the passing of this Act, no application under this section for the removal of the mark from the register shall be entertained until after the expiration of four years from the passing of this Act.

(3) The power to remove a trade mark from the register conferred by this section shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers of the Court in respect of the removal of trade marks from the register.

(4) The provisions contained in Part III. of this Act authorising applications for the rectification of the register to be made in the first instance to the registrar instead of to the Court shall apply to applications under this section.

These provisions are entirely new. They apply to registrations in Part B. of the register as well as to those in Part A. They are considered above, p. 6.

Sub-section (1).

This sub-section gives statutory effect to the rule laid down in Linoleum Co., Lim. v. Nairn, 7 C. D. 834, and other cases (K., p. 45).

“A word trade mark.” No doubt this expression would be held to cover a trade mark the essential particular of which is a word although coupled with merely common matter.

“Name or only practicable name.” An article or substance (e.g., a chemical substance) may have a technical name which is not “practicable” for the purposes of sale or ordinary use by the public; the sub-section therefore is extended to cover the case of the registered word being the only practicable name.

"Under the common law." So that an action for "passing off" could not be maintained if based entirely upon the use by the defendant of such a name.

"Section forty-one of the principal Act." Subject to certain exceptions, the original registration of a trade mark, which has been registered for upwards of seven years, cannot be impugned (K., p. 368). Sub-section (1), however, excludes the operation of that section in the case of names falling within the sub-section.

"Expiration or determination of the patent." A patent may be determined by revocation or by failure to pay renewal fees.

"May be removed by the Court from the register." See section 35 of the principal Act and K., chap. xi., p. 309.

"Person aggrieved." See K., p. 313.

Sub-section (2).

The provision is independent of the existence or non-existence of a patent.

"Only practicable name or description." See above, sub-section (1). The language is, however, here changed to name or description.

"Provided that," etc. There are two conditions in the first part of the proviso, namely, first, that the mark is used to denote only the proprietor's brand or make of the substance, as distinguished from the substance used by others, and secondly, that it is used in association with a suitable and practicable name open to the public use.

The second part of the proviso gives a respite of four years in the case of a mark on the register before the passing of the Act.

Sub-section (3).

See sections 35 and 37 of the principal Act, and K., Rectification of the Register, chap. xi., p. 311.

Sub-section (4).

See section 9 below.

PART III.

GENERAL AMENDMENTS OF PRINCIPAL ACT.

Amendment of the Law as to Registrable Trade Marks.

7.—In paragraph (5) of section nine of the principal Act (which defines the particulars which registrable trade marks must contain or consist of) for the words "except by order of the Board of Trade or the court be deemed a distinctive mark," there shall be substituted the words "be registrable under the provisions of this paragraph, except upon evidence of its distinctiveness."

Paragraph (5) as amended is as follows:—

"(5) any other distinctive mark, but a name, signature, or word or words, other than such as fall within the descriptions in the above paragraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4), shall not be registrable under the provisions of this paragraph, except upon evidence of its distinctiveness." The effect of the amendment is to abolish the procedure by special application (K., p. 88), so that the ordinary procedure will apply (K., p. 84); but the application must be supported by evidence of the distinctiveness of the mark. An application under paragraph (5) of section nine of the principal Act may be advertised by the registrar on receipt of such application and before acceptance (section 13 of the principal Act as amended, and Rule 41).

Since the last edition of Kerly on Trade Marks was published in 1913, orders under paragraph (5) of section 9 in favour of applicants have been made by the Court in the following cases given in order of date:—

CADBURY, for cocoa, chocolate, etc.: Cadbury Bros. Lim.'s Application, [1915] 1 Ch. 331; 32 R. P. C. 9.

MURRATI, for cigarettes: B. Muratti Sons & Company Lim.'s Application, 32 R. P. C. 77 [1915].

BERNA, for motor cars: Berna Commercial Motors Lim.'s Application, [1915] 1 Ch. 414; 32 R. P. C. 113.

SHEFFIELD-SIMPLEX, for motor road vehicles: Sheffield-Simplex Motor Works Lim.'s Application, 32 R. P. C. 145 [1915].

DAIMLER, for motor vehicles: Daimler Company Lim.'s Application, 33 R. P. C. 337 [1916].

MOORE & MOORE, LONDON, for pianofortes: Moore's Application, 34 R. P. C. 154 [1917].

LODGE, for sparking plugs: Lodge Sparking Plug Company Lim.'s Application, 35 R. P. C. 222 [1918].

WINGET, machinery for mixing and mould concrete, etc.: Winget Lim.'s Application, 36 R. P. C. 75 [1919].

AVERY, for weighing machines: W. & T. Avery Lim.'s Application, 36 R. P. C. 89 [1919].

BURFORD, for commercial motor vehicles: H. G. Burford & Company Lim.'s Application, [1919] 2 Ch. 28; 36 R. P. C. 139.

ENO, for a medicinal preparation and a non-intoxicating beverage: J. C. Eno Lim.'s Application, 37 R. P. C. 1 [1920].

THORNYCROFT, for commercial motor vehicles: John Thornycroft & Company Lim.'s Application, 37 R. P. C. 25 [1920].

In the following cases orders have been refused:—

SLAZENGER, for games: Slazengers Lim.'s Application, 31 R. P. C. 501 [1914].

CRAWFORD, for biscuits, etc.: William Crawford & Sons Lim.'s Application, [1917] 1 Ch. 550; 34 R. P. C. 94.

In W. N. Sharpe, Lim. v. Solomon Bros. Lim., 32 R. P. C. 15 [1915], the word CLASSIC was held incapable of being treated as "adapted to distinguish."

In Burford's Application (supra), the factors which ought to be regarded upon an application to register a surname as a trade mark were very fully considered by the Court of Appeal.

Appeals.

8.—(1) All appeals from the decisions of the registrar under section fourteen of the principal Act shall be made to the Court, and an appeal shall not lie from any such decision to the Board of Trade, and accordingly that section shall have effect, subject to the modifications set forth in the Second Schedule to this Act:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall affect any appeal which may be pending at the commencement of this Act.

(2) In any appeal from the decision of the registrar to the Court under the principal Act or this Act the Court shall have and exercise the same discretionary powers as under the principal Act or this Act are conferred upon the registrar.

Sub-section (1).

Section 14 of the principal Act relates to opposition to registration (K., p. 93).

An appeal lay to the Court, "or, with the consent of the parties, to the Board of Trade." The words quoted are repealed, and the Court is now the only tribunal of appeal in oppositions, except where an appeal was pending at the commencement of the Act.

Sub-section (2).

On an application to register a trade mark, under the principal Act, the registrar has a discretion to refuse to register (Garrett's Application, [1916] 1 Ch. 436; 33 R. P. C. 117), but it is a judicial discretion, and on appeal the discretion is in the Court. The Court will not overrule it, however, unless it is satisfied that it has been wrongly exercised (S. C. and Yalding Manufacturing Company's Application, 33 R. P. C.

285; British Thomson-Houston's Application, 34 R. P. C. 169; National Cash Register Company's Application, 273 and 354, and K., p. 76). The section now expressly declares that on appeal from a decision of the registrar, the Court shall have and exercise the same discretionary powers as are conferred on the registrar. It is submitted that where the decision of the registrar is based on an exercise of his discretion, the Court may and will still have regard to the fact of the registrar having exercised his discretion, but it must now exercise its own discretion on all the facts.

Rectification of Register.

9.—(1) Any application for the rectification of the register or the removal of any trade mark from the register in respect of any goods which, under section thirty-five or section thirty-seven of the principal Act or under Part II. of this Act, is to be made to the Court, may, at the option of the applicant, be made in the first instance to the registrar:

Provided that no such application shall be made otherwise than to the Court where an action concerning the trade mark in question is pending.

(2) The registrar may, at any stage of the proceedings, refer any such application to the Court or he may, after hearing the parties, determine the question between them, subject to appeal to the Court.

(3) In any proceedings for the rectification of the register under this Act or under section thirty-five of the principal Act as amended by this section, the Court or the registrar shall, in addition to the powers conferred by that section as so amended, have powers to direct a trade mark entered in Part A. of the register to be removed to Part B. of the register.

Before the passing of this Act, all hostile applications for rectification of the register were made to the Court. Section 35 of the principal Act relates generally to rectification; section 37 relates to rectification on the special ground of non-user. The registrar had, however, power to make certain corrections, alterations, and additions at the request of the registered proprietor under sections 32 and 34, as well as to register a new proprietor becoming entitled to a registered trade mark by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law. (K., Rectification of the Register, chap. xi., p. 309.)

Under section 9 of the new Act, an application for rectification may be made in the first instance to the registrar, except where an action concerning the trade mark is pending, e.g., an action for infringement or an action as to the sale or ownership of the trade mark. Where the application is likely to go before the Court in any event, there would appear to be no object to be gained by applying to the registrar in the first instance, except where the application is connected with some matter, for instance, an opposition, already before the registrar.

Sub-section (2).

Under this sub-section the registrar may refer the matter to the Court, and if he determines the question between the parties, either party may appeal to the Court.

The procedure on an application to the registrar is laid down in Rules 90, 91, and 92 of the Trade Mark Rules, 1920.

Sub-section (3).

Power is given by this sub-section to the Court or the registrar to direct a trade mark registered in Part A. to be removed to Part B. of the register. The proprietor would presumably, however, be allowed to have the mark removed altogether from the register, if he preferred that course.

Compare the power conferred on the registrar by section 5 to treat an application for registration in Part A. as an application for registration in Part B. of the register.

Costs.

10. In all proceedings before the registrar under the principal Act or this Act the registrar shall have power to award to any party such costs as he may consider reasonable, and to direct how and by what parties they are to be paid, and any such order may be made a rule of Court.

The registrar had power to award costs in opposition cases (section 14, sub-section (10)). This section gives power generally to the registrar to award costs in proceedings before him, and the sub-section mentioned is repealed.

The provision that such an order may be made a rule of Court is new (compare section 39 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907).

Registration of Assignments.

11.—For section thirty-three of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted:—

33.—(1) Where a person becomes entitled by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law to a registered trade mark, he shall make application to the registrar to register his title, and the registrar shall, on receipt of such application and on proof of title to his satisfaction, register him as the proprietor of the trade mark, and shall cause an entry to be made in the proscribed manner on the register of the assignment, transmission, or other instrument affecting the title. Any decision of the registrar under this section shall be subject to appeal to the Court.

“(2) Except in cases of appeals under this section and applications made under section thirty-five of this Act, a document or instrument in respect of which no entry has been made in the register in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) aforesaid shall not be admitted in evidence in any Court in proof of the title to a trade mark unless the Court otherwise directs.”

This section differs from the section for which it is substituted chiefly by providing that a person becoming entitled to a registered trade mark shall apply to register his title. Sub-section (2) is introduced as a means of enforcing this provision. Furthermore, the fee on an application to register a subsequent proprietor in cases of assignment or transmission of a registered trade mark, if made after the expiration of six months from the date of acquisition of proprietorship and the coming into force of the Trade Mark Rules, 1920, is £10 (see First Schedule to those Rules, Nos. 6 and 6a).

Under the old section, an appeal might be, with the consent of the parties, to the Board of Trade.

The Rules relating to assignments are Rules 70 to 76 inclusive, and see Forms T.M. Nos. 15, 16, and 17.

Generally as to assignment and devolution of trade marks, see K., chap. xiii., p. 384.

Notice of trusts is not to be entered on the register, section 5 of the principal Act (K., p. 64).

Equities in respect of a trade mark may be enforced in like manner as in respect of any other personal property, section 38, sub-section (2) of the principal Act.

Sub-section (2).

Section 35 of the principal Act is the general provision relating to rectification of the register.

Minor Amendments of Principal Act.

12. The amendments specified in the second column of the Second Schedule to this Act, which relate to minor details, shall be made in the provisions of the principal Act specified in the first column of that schedule.

The Second Schedule will be found set out below, p. 29.

The principal amendments are as follows:—

- (1) A new section wider than the old one is substituted for section 43, relating to the admission of evidence as to usages of the trade, etc. ;
- (2) an addition is made to section 22, relating to assignments of the right to use a registered trade mark in any British possession or protectorate or foreign country ;
- (3) an amendment of the proviso to section 41, which preserved the right of a prior user, making it necessary that the use must be anterior to user or registration, whichever is the earlier, of the registered trade mark ;
- (4) a reframing of section 62 as to standardisation marks,* which appears to enlarge the scope of its provisions to a considerable extent ;
- (5) a repeal of such parts of section 64 as prohibited, or limited the effect of, registration of words for cotton marks ;
- (6) provisions in several sections allowing limitations to be imposed on registration and other concessions as to mode or place of user of a registered trade mark ;
- (7) and some other consequential or verbal amendments.

The principal Act as amended is printed below, p. 32, etc.

Short Title, Construction and Commencement.

13.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Trade Marks Act, 1919, and the Trade Marks Act, 1905 and 1914, and so much of the Patents and Designs Acts, 1907 to 1919, as relates to trade marks, and this Act may be cited together as the Trade Marks Acts, 1905 to 1919.

(2) This Act shall be construed as one with the principal Act and shall come into operation on the first day of April nineteen hundred and twenty.

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Trade Marks.

[11th August, 1905.]

C. 325 [1916].

20. Where each of several persons claims to be proprietor of the same trade mark, or of nearly identical trade marks in respect of the same goods or description of goods, and to be registered as such proprietor, the Registrar may refuse to register any of them until their rights have been determined by the Court, or have been settled by agreement in a manner approved by him or (on appeal) by the Board of Trade.

21. In case of honest concurrent user or of other special circumstances which, in the opinion of the Court, [or registrar] make it proper so to do, the Court [or registrar] may permit the registration of the same trade mark, or of nearly identical trade marks, for the same goods or description of goods by more than one proprietor subject to such conditions and limitations, if any, as to mode or place of user or otherwise, as it may think it right to impose [as the Court or the registrar, as the case may be, may think it right to interpose].

Assignment.

22. A trade mark when registered shall be assigned and transmitted only in connection with the goodwill of the business concerned in the goods for which it has been registered and shall be determinable with that goodwill. But nothing in this section contained shall be deemed to affect the right of the proprietor of a registered trade mark to assign the right to use the same in any British possession or protectorate or foreign country in connection with any goods for which it is registered together with the goodwill of the business therein in such goods [and the assignment of such right to use the same shall constitute the assignee a proprietor of a separate trade mark for the purpose of section twenty-one of this Act, subject to such conditions and limitations as may be imposed under that section.]

Assignment and devolution, K., chap. xiii., p. 384.

Registration of assignments, &c., section 33. See notes to that section. Rules 70 to 76.

A trade mark must be registered in respect of particular goods or classes of goods, section 8; and the exclusive right to the use of it conferred by registration is confined to the goods in respect of which it is registered, section 39, K., p. 365.

The registered proprietor has power to assign a trade mark and give receipts for any consideration, section 38, K., p. 394.

Goodwill, K., pp. 401 and 409.

As to the proviso, see K., p. 392.

23. In any case where from any cause, whether by reason of dissolution of partnership or otherwise, a person ceases to carry on business, and the goodwill of such person does not pass to one successor but is divided, the Registrar may (subject to the provisions of this Act as to associated trade marks), on the application of the parties interested, permit an apportionment of the registered trade marks of the person among the persons in fact continuing the business, subject to such conditions and modifications, if any, [and to such limitations, if any, as to mode or place of user] as he may think necessary in the public interest. Any decision of the Registrar under this section shall be subject to appeal to the Board of Trade.

Associated Trade Marks.

24. If application be made for the registration of a trade mark [identical with or] so closely resembling a trade mark of the applicant already on the register for the same goods or description of goods as to be calculated to deceive or cause confusion if used by a person other than the applicant, the tribunal hearing the application may require as a condition of registration that such trade marks shall be entered on the register as associated trade marks.

Associated trade marks, K., p. 116. They comprise (1) a set of marks associated under this section; (2) series of trade marks, section 26; and (3) a set of trade marks constituted by the registration of a trade mark and of one or more parts of it, section 25.

The section has nothing to do with the registration of identical marks belonging to the same proprietor, per Kekewich, J., in Birmingham Small Arms Application, [1907] 2 Ch. 396; 24 R. P. C. 563. Cf.

sections 19 and 20, as to marks belonging to different proprietors. This section was inserted to meet the difficulty caused by the decision in Players & Sons' Application, [1901] 1 Ch. 382; 18 R. P. C. 65.

The fact of the association is to be noted on the register against each mark, Rule 59.

Associated trade marks are only assignable or transmissible as a whole, section 27.

25. If the proprietor of a trade mark claims to be entitled to the exclusive use of any portion of such trade mark separately, he may apply to register the same as separate trade marks. Each such separate trade mark must satisfy all the conditions and shall have all the incidents of an independent trade mark, except that when registered it and the trade mark of which it forms a part shall be deemed to be associated trade marks and shall be entered on the register as such, but the user of the whole trade mark shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be also a user of such registered trade marks belonging to the same proprietor as it contains.

See notes to section 24.

A trade mark, e.g., a label, often contains distinctive parts, which under this section may be registered subject to the condition of association. A part separately registered cannot be required to be disclaimed under section 15.

The proviso was inserted in view of section 37, enabling a trade mark to be removed from the register on the ground of non-user, see K., p. 326.

26. When a person claiming to be the proprietor of several trade marks for the same description of goods which, while resembling each other in the material particulars thereof, yet differ in respect of—

- (a) statements of the goods for which they are respectively used or proposed to be used; or
- (b) statements of number, price, quality, or names of places; or
- (c) other matter of a non-distinctive character which does not substantially affect the identity of the trade mark; or
- (d) colour;

soeks to register such trade marks, they may be registered as a series in one registration. All the trade marks in a series of trade marks so registered shall be deemed to be, and shall be registered as, associated trade marks.

Series of trade marks, K., p. 118.

Application for a series of trade marks, Rule 27.

Fee, 1a. List of Fees.

Advertisement of a series, Rule 43.

See also notes to section 24, as to associated trade marks generally.

27. Associated trade marks shall be assignable or transmissible only as a whole and not separately, but they shall for all other purposes be deemed to have been registered as separate trade marks. Provided that where under the provisions of this Act user of a registered trade mark is required to be proved for any purpose, the tribunal may if and so far as it shall think right accept user of an associated registered trade mark, or of the trade mark with additions or alterations not substantially affecting its identity, as an equivalent of such user.

As to the proviso, see section 37, non-user of trade mark.

"Not substantially affecting the identity," cf. section 9, old marks, sections 14 (9), 26, and 34.

Renewal of Registration.

28. The registration of a trade mark shall be for a period of fourteen years, but may be renewed from time to time in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Renewal of registration, K., p. 415. Rules 62 to 69.

And see notes to sections 29 and 30.

29. The Registrar shall on application made by the registered proprietor of a trade mark in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed period, renew the registration of such trade mark for a period of fourteen years from the expiration of the original registration or of the last renewal of registration, as the case may be, which date is herein termed "the expiration of the last registration."

"Prescribed period," not less than two months nor more than three months before expiration, Rule 62.

Renewal is to be advertised in the Journal, Rule 69.

30. At the prescribed time before the expiration of the last registration of a trade mark, the Registrar shall send notice in the prescribed manner to the registered proprietor at his registered address of the date at which the existing registration will expire and the conditions as to payment of fees and otherwise upon which a renewal of such registration may be obtained, and if at the expiration of the time prescribed in that behalf such conditions have not been duly complied with, the Registrar may remove such trade mark from the register, subject to such conditions (if any) as to its restoration to the register as may be prescribed.

Removal of mark from the register, K., p. 414.

Renewal of registration, K., p. 415.

The rules provide for two notices by the registrar and an advertisement in the Journal before removal, Rules 62 to 66. See also the summary of prescribed procedure, K., p. 374. The forms are O. No. 3 and O. No. 4 in the 2nd Schedule to the Rules.

What conditions may be required, K., p. 374.

The cause of removal is to be entered on the register, Rule 68.

31. Where a trade mark has been removed from the register for non-payment of the fee for renewal, such trade mark shall nevertheless, for the purpose of any application for registration during one year next after the date of such removal, be deemed to be a trade mark which is already registered, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Registrar that there had been no bonâ fide trade user of such trade mark during the two years immediately preceding such removal.

Under this section a trade mark, though removed from the register, may be a ground of refusal of registration for an identical or similar mark, see sections 19 and 20, and K., p. 418.

"No bonâ fide trade user, &c." Cf. section 37

Correction and Rectification of the Register.

32. The Registrar may, on request made in the prescribed manner by the registered proprietor or by some person entitled by law to act in his name,—

- (1) Correct any error in the name or address of the registered proprietor of a trade mark; or
- (2) Enter any change in the name or address of the person who is registered as proprietor of a trade mark; or
- (3) Cancel the entry of a trade mark on the register; or
- (4) Strike out any goods or classes of goods from those for which a trade mark is registered; or
- (5) Enter a disclaimer or memorandum relating to a trade mark which does not in any way extend the rights given by the existing registration of such trade mark.

Any decision of the Registrar under this section shall be subject to appeal to the Board of Trade.

33. Subject to the provisions of this Act where a person becomes entitled to a registered trade mark by assignment, transmission or other operation of law, the Registrar shall, on request made in the prescribed manner, and on proof of title to his satisfaction, cause the name and address of such person to be entered on the register as proprietor of the trade mark. Any decision of the Registrar under this section shall be sub- ject to appeal to the Court or, with the consent of the parties, to the Board of Trade.

[(1) Where a person becomes entitled by assignment, transmission, or other operation of law to a registered trade mark, he shall make application to the registrar to register his title, and the registrar shall, on receipt of such application and on proof of title to his satisfaction, register him as the proprietor of the trade mark, and shall cause an entry to be made in the prescribed manner on the register of the assignment, transmission, or other instrument affecting the title. Any decision of the registrar under this section shall be subject to appeal to the Court.

(2) Except in cases of appeals under this section and applications made under section thirty-five of this Act, a document or instrument in respect of which no entry has been made in the register in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) aforesaid shall not be admitted in evidence in any Court in proof of the title to a trade mark unless the Court otherwise directs.]

35. Subject to the provisions of this Act—

(1) The Court may on the application in the prescribed manner of any person aggrieved by the non-insertion in or omission from the register of any entry, or by any entry made in the register without sufficient cause, or by any entry wrongly remaining on the register, or by any error or defect in any entry in the register, make such order for making, expunging, or varying such entry, as it may think fit:

(2) The Court may in any proceeding under this section decide any question that it may be necessary or expedient to decide in connection with the rectification of the register:

(3) In case of fraud in the registration or transmission of a registered trade mark, the Registrar may himself apply to the Court under the provisions of this section:

No trade mark which is upon the register at the commencement of this Act and which under this Act is a registrable trade mark shall be removed from the register on the ground that it was not registrable under the Acts in force at the date of its registration. But nothing in this section contained shall subject any person to any liability in respect of any act or thing done before the commencement of this Act to which he would not have been subject under the Acts then in force.

37. A registered trade mark may, on the application to the Court of any person aggrieved, be taken off the register in respect of any of the goods for which it is registered, on the ground that it was registered by the proprietor or a predecessor in title without any bonâ fide intention to use the same in connection with such goods, and there has in fact been no bonâ fide user of the same in connection therewith, or on the ground that there has been no bonâ fide user of such trade mark in connection with such goods during the five years immediately preceding the application, unless in either case such non-user is shown to be due to special circumstances in the trade, and

39. Subject to the provisions of section forty-one of this Act and to any limitations and conditions entered upon the register, the registration of a person as proprietor of a trade mark shall, if valid, give to such person the exclusive right to the use of such trade mark upon or in connection with the goods in respect of which it is registered: Provided always that where two or more persons are registered proprietors of the same (or substantially the same) trade mark in respect of the same goods no rights of exclusive user of such trade mark shall (except so far as their respective rights shall have been defined by the Court) be acquired by any one of such persons as against any other by the registration thereof, but each of such persons shall otherwise have the same rights as if he were the sole registered proprietor thereof.

40. In all legal proceedings relating to a registered trade mark (including applications under section thirty-five of this Act) the fact that a person is registered as proprietor of such trade mark shall be prima facie evidence of the validity of the original registration of such trade mark and of all subsequent assignments and transmissions of the same.

Provided that nothing in this Act shall entitle the proprietor of a registered trade mark to interfere with or restrain the user by any person of a similar trade mark upon or in connection with goods upon or in connection with which such person has, by himself or his predecessors in business, continuously used such trade mark from a date anterior to the user [or registration, whichever is the earlier] of the first-mentioned trade mark by the proprietor thereof or his predecessors in business, or to object (on such user being proved) to such person being put upon the register for such similar trade mark in respect of such goods under the provisions of section twenty-one of this Act.

Legal Proceedings.

46. In any legal proceeding in which the validity of the registration of a registered trade mark comes into question and is decided in favour of the proprietor of such trade mark, the Court may certify the same, and if it so certifies then in any subsequent legal proceeding in which such validity comes into question the proprietor of the said trade mark on obtaining a final order or judgment in his favour shall have his full costs, charges, and expenses as between solicitor and client, unless in such subsequent proceeding the Court certifies that he ought not to have the same.

47. In any legal proceeding in which the relief sought includes alteration or rectification of the register, the Registrar shall have the right to appear and be heard, and shall appear if so directed by the Court. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, the Registrar in lieu of appearing and being heard may submit to the Court a statement in writing signed by him, giving particulars of the proceedings before him in relation to the matter in issue or of the grounds of any decision given by him affecting the same or of the practice of the office in like cases, or of such other matters relevant to the issues, and within his knowledge as such Registrar, as he shall think fit, and such statement shall be deemed to form part of the evidence in the proceeding.

trary, but, in any case in which it shall think it right so to do, the tribunal may (with the consent of the parties) take evidence vivâ voce in lieu of or in addition to evidence by declaration. Any such statutory declaration may in the case of appeal be used before the Court in lieu of evidence by affidavit, but if so used shall have all the incidents and consequences of evidence by affidavit.

In case any part of the evidence is taken vivâ voce the Board of Trade or the Registrar shall in respect of requiring the attendance of witnesses and taking evidence on oath be in the same position in all respects as an Official Referee of the Supreme Court.

PART II.

Powers and Duties of Registrar of Trade Marks.

53. Where any discretionary or other power is given to the Registrar by this Act or rules made thereunder he shall not exercise that power adversely to the applicant for registration or the registered proprietor of the trade mark in question without (if duly required so to do within the prescribed time) giving such applicant or registered proprietor an opportunity of being heard.

“Prescribed time,” one month from the date when the matter has arisen, Rules 78 to 81.

54. Except where expressly given by the provisions of this Act or rules made thereunder there shall be no appeal from a decision of the Registrar otherwise than to the Board of Trade, but the Court, in dealing with any question of the rectification of the register (including all applications under the provisions of section thirty-five of this Act), shall have power to review any decision of the Registrar relating to the entry in question or the correction sought to be made.

As to appeal to the Court direct, see sections 12, 14, 33, 63 (9) (Sheffield Marks), and 64 (5) (Cotton Marks).

The Board of Trade may refer an appeal to the Court, section 59.

Rectification of the Register, section 35, K., p. 309; and in appeals direct from the registrar under section 33, K., p. 398; and in referred appeals under section 32 (K., p. 351) or section 34 (K., p. 353).

By Rule 63 of 1906 an appeal was given where registration was refused on the direction of the Board of Trade after acceptance. In consequence, it is presumed, of the amendment of section 16, the rule is not repeated in the Rules of 1920.

55. Where by this Act any act has to be done by or to any person in connection with a trade mark or proposed trade mark or any procedure relating thereto, such act may under and in accordance with rules made under this Act or in particular cases by special leave of the Board of Trade be done by or to an agent of such party duly authorised in the prescribed manner.

56. The Registrar may, in any case of doubt or difficulty arising in the administration of any of the provisions of this Act, apply to His Majesty's Attorney-General or Solicitor-General for England for directions in the matter.

K., pp. 63, 83.

57. The Comptroller General of Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks shall in his yearly report on the execution by or under him of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, and Acts amending the same, include a report respecting the execution by or under him of this Act as though it formed a part of or was included in such Acts.

The Comptroller, K., p. 63.

The official reports of Patents, Designs and Trade Marks Cases are published under section 46 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907.

Powers and Duties of the Board of Trade.

58. All things required or authorised under this Act to be done by to or before the Board of Trade may be done by to or before the President or a secretary or an assistant secretary of the Board or any person authorised in that behalf by the President of the Board.

59. Where under this Act an appeal is made to the Board of Trade, the Board of Trade may, if they think fit, refer any such appeal to the Court in lieu of hearing and deciding it themselves, but, unless the Board so refer the appeal, it shall be heard and decided by the Board, and the decision of the Board shall be final.

Rights of appeal to the Board of Trade are given by sections 12, 20, 23, 32, 33, and 34. In some of these cases, there is an alternative appeal to the Court.

60. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act the Board of Trade may from time to time make such rules, prescribe such forms, and generally do such things as they think expedient—

- (a) For regulating the practice under this Act;
- (b) For classifying goods for the purposes of registration of trade marks:
- (c) For making or requiring duplicates of trade marks and other documents:

(d) For securing and regulating the publishing and selling or distributing in such manner as the Board of Trade think fit, of copies of trade marks and other documents:

(e) Generally, for regulating the business of the office in relation to trade marks and all things by this Act placed under the direction or control of the Registrar, or of the Board of Trade.

(2) Rules made under this section shall, whilst in force, be of the same effect as if they were contained in this Act.

(3) Before making any rules under this section the Board of Trade shall publish notice of their intention to make the rules and of the place where copies of the draft rules may be obtained in such manner as the Board consider most expedient, so as to enable persons affected to make representations to the Board before the rules are finally settled.

(4) Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be forthwith advertised twice in the Trade Marks Journal, and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament, if Parliament be in session at the time of making thereof, or, if not, then as soon as practicable after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament.

(5) If either House of Parliament within the next forty days after any rules have been so laid before such House, resolve that such rules or any of them ought to be annulled, the same shall after the date of such resolution be of no effect, without prejudice to the validity of anything done in the meantime under such rules or rule or to the making of any new rules or rule.

The Rules of 1920, which came into force after March 31st, 1920, are printed below with Table of Fees and Forms. Classification of goods, 3rd Schedule to the Rules.
